The public is invited to the armory next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock to witness a mustering out of the four Oregon guard companies of the city. Military men say there is nothing especially formal about a mustering out. The soldiers just turn in their uniforms and equipment and receive their discharges. However, should any one happen to have a desire to see a real mustering out, it is a public affair and all are welcome. To add to the interest of the occasion, it might be said that Private Governor Ben Olcott is among those who have been ordered to turn in with the rest of the boys and Corporal Justice George H. Burnett will also be there to return to the state his soldier's uniform and equipment.

The Civic department of the Commercial club of which R. O. Snelling is director, will meet this evening to discuss among other things, the coming big Fourth of July celebration for Salem. It is pretty well understood that all towns and cities of the county will be issued a formal invitation through their officials to be represented by a float or the Fourth of July parade. These floats will probably be suggestive of what the town or city feels is its main interest. Fourth of July celebrations cost money and one of the first things the Civic department will do will be to appoint a ways and means committee. It is felt that cooperating with the War Mothers in their homecoming, Salem and Marion county will see the biggest and best Fourth ever celebrated in the valley.

'The Funeral Beautiful.' Webb & Clough Co.

It may be of interest to the Elks in the city to know that Vivian, the founder of the lodge was at one time in Salem with his company of actors. Justice George H. Burnett remembers him very well. It was along in the latter part of the '70s when the troupe stopped off over night here. As an advertisement a picture of Vivian was pasted on some bill boards and walls in Salem. Years later, when touring down hill boards of the Breyman building, this picture of Vivian was found. It was taken to the Elks lodge in the city, properly framed and now is one of the most prized possessions of the lodge.

Special meeting of Salem lodge No. 4 A. F. & A. M. this evening. Work in the E. A. degree. Visiting brethren welcome.

Dr. R. I. Springer was married yesterday to Miss Nettie Gibson by the Rev. T. S. Anderson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. They left this morning for a week's honeymoon at Victoria, B. C. Upon his return, Dr. Springer will open his dental office in the Moore building on Court Street. Dr. Springer is a graduate of the Salem high school and later was graduated from the Pacific Dental college at Portland. He will open his office with all new and most modern equipment.

Walter L. Toose stated at the Elks banquet last evening that the Salem lodge would attend the state convention at Klamath Falls, next August and that the number would be anywhere between 200 and 300. Salem wants the state convention for 1920 and it is thought advisable for the lodge to be well represented at the state convention this year at Klamath Falls.

SORE THROAT, CHEST COLDS GO OVER NIGHT ONE SMALL BOX PROVES IT. Begg's Mustarine Contains True Mustard. Does not irritate Nose and Eyes. Don't fool with remedies that act slowly. Get rid of the inflammation and congestion as quick as you can. Safety first. Begg's Mustarine will do it and do it so speedily and quickly that you will wonder why you bothered with liniments, poultices, plasters and hot water bottles so long. Begg's Mustarine is the original improvement on the old fashioned, dirty, blistering mustard plaster, and one small box is equal to fifty mustard plasters. Just rub it on the skin—that's all you have to do. It cannot blister, but in a few minutes will bring the relief you prayed for. It is called the quickest pain killer on earth, because there is nothing like it to ease the pain of rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, strains and sprains. Try it to reduce swellings, for stiff neck, headache, crache and toothache. The quick results will surprise you—but be sure its Begg's Mustarine—made of real mustard, always in the yellow box.

Last evening a brief program was given by members of the class of dramatic interpretation of Willamette university, at the Old People's home, and which was much appreciated by the little audience. Among other numbers Loren Basler gave several fine readings which he had picked up on his nine trips across the Atlantic with the U. S. S. Leviathan. Orville Crowder Miller sang the touching little song "Mother 'o Mine" with very good effect, and also gave a reading. Others who appeared on the program were Gene Sevey, Blanche Drake, Helen Moore and Horace Bahskopf. These members have been for some time under the direction of Prof. Della Crowder Miller in the department of public speaking, and she is to be congratulated upon the evidence of talent and training shown.

A group of distinguished railroad administration officials passed through the city this afternoon on their way to Portland where they have a hearing today with the Public service commission. Among them is Director General Walker D. Hines, Regional Director Aishton of Chicago, and a number of Oregon Electric and S. P. & S. officials.

Big grange dance at Macleay Saturday night. Good music, good punch, good time.

The Valley Motor company reports the recent sale of a three and a half ton G. M. C. truck, fitted with cab and hydraulic hoist, to Lieut. Lester A. Klein, who recently returned from France. This truck is a duplicate of the truck operated by Marion county, and will be used for highway work.

Balloon dance Thurs. night at Independence. Don't miss the fun.

President H. S. Gile, of the North-west Products company, accompanied Fred Lockley to Portland this morning and attended the big banquet meeting of Ad. club. This banquet is a boost for the preeminence of "Made-in-Oregon" goods, practically everything on the tables being produced in Oregon, and the drinks will be almost exclusively the products of the West.

F. E. Deckebach left this morning for Portland to attend a meeting of the Dairy Council of Oregon, at which the principal business will be the matter of publicity for Oregon's dairy products. He states that the council has a financial membership of 120 which guarantees all necessary funds, and they will now devote themselves to lining up the rank and file of dairy and creamery men.

At a meeting of the High school student body yesterday afternoon Donald Ryan was elected by the class as their choice for speaker in the commencement day program while Maud McCoy was chosen as the student showing the highest honors in studies during the last two years. No provision has yet been made as to the baccalaureate sermon or for the annual address.

All trunks may look alike to the average person but they do not so appear to the officials who are on the look out for bootleggers. Yesterday Chief Varney and Officers Victor and Morelock inspected a trunk at the S. P. depot which had been checked in from the north. The inspecting was good as they found seven pints of Crab Orchard Kentucky whiskey and one quart bottle of the same. The bottles were carefully wrapped in a lot of old clothes and papers. It also appeared that each bottle had been opened and a little poured in at the top to prevent any suspicious gurgling as a baggage man with keen ears might be handling the trunk. Should the party who checked the trunk conclude that bootlegging is unwholesome and not present his check, and should no clue be found at

F. M. Baker was arrested in the city yesterday by Sheriff Needham on a warrant issued at Gervais, charged with robbing a hotel at that place of several small articles of jewelry, including a ladies bracelet and wrist watch. It seems that with a companion, he was heading his way south on the Southern Pacific and had been thrown off the train by a brakeman at Gervais. After the alleged robbery, he started for Salem, arriving about 11 o'clock yesterday morning. An hour or so afterward, he was arrested. He will be taken to Gervais for trial. Baker and his companion were in soldier's uniform.

The city doesn't owe the Salem Water Light & Power company a dollar. This morning checks were made out to the water company aggregating the sum of $25,606.80 and the slate is wiped clean, covering a period between October 1, 1914, and April 1, 1919. Ever since the public service commission decided that the city should pay $2.50 a month for its hydrant water service, in October of 1914, the city authorities have been presenting the water company a sum each month equal to the old rate of $1.82 a month. This the water company steadfastly refused to accept. Now the payments will be made monthly at the $2.50 rate.

Judge Bushey and the county commissioners are not against good roads, notwithstanding the report that there was a rumor that Judge Bushey was fighting the issue of the proposed bonds for building good roads, were merely himself says that it is silly for any man to fight good roads in this age, but the big question is that of where the proposed 150 miles should be located. The judge says he is in favor of good roads and the bonds but that he is also in favor of an equitable distribution of mileage. There is now on display in the county court's office, a map of the county showing exactly where the proposed roads are to be laid out and this map is open to the public.

This morning checks were made out to the water company aggregating the sum of $25,606.80 and the slate is wiped clean, covering a period between October 1, 1914, and April 1, 1919. Ever since the public service commission decided that the city should pay $2.50 a month for its hydrant water service, in October of 1914, the city authorities have been presenting the water company a sum each month equal to the old rate of $1.82 a month. This the water company steadfastly refused to accept. Now the payments will be made monthly at the $2.50 rate.

Judge Bushey and the county commissioners are not against good roads, notwithstanding the report that there was a rumor that Judge Bushey was fighting the issue of the proposed bonds for building good roads, were merely himself says that it is silly for any man to fight good roads in this age, but the big question is that of where the proposed 150 miles should be located. The judge says he is in favor of good roads and the bonds but that he is also in favor of an equitable distribution of mileage. There is now on display in the county court's office, a map of the county showing exactly where the proposed roads are to be laid out and this map is open to the public.

Evangelical meetings at the Jason Lee Memorial church will be held every evening of this week beginning at 8 o'clock. The Rev. F. M. Baker was arrested in the city yesterday by Sheriff Needham on a warrant issued at Gervais, charged with robbing a hotel at that place of several small articles of jewelry, including a ladies bracelet and wrist watch. It seems that with a companion, he was heading his way south on the Southern Pacific and had been thrown off the train by a brakeman at Gervais. After the alleged robbery, he started for Salem, arriving about 11 o'clock yesterday morning. An hour or so afterward, he was arrested. He will be taken to Gervais for trial. Baker and his companion were in soldier's uniform.

The city doesn't owe the Salem Water Light & Power company a dollar.
