Dealers Face Knotty Problem In Adjusting Revenue Tax To Prices

The confectionery stores in Salem and vendors of compounded or mixed drinks found themselves in a rather unsatisfactory position today when they began to realize that the tax on luxuries went into effect today.

For instance, there is the famous ice cream cone. Dealers will either have to sell at four cents and collect the one cent revenue from the youngster, or sell at the usual fifty and call for a penny on the side.

Then there is the usual ten-cent drinks such as soda water, and others which are mixed over the counter. The customer who just drops in will be obliged to pay the usual dime and then fish out a penny, as the law plainly reads that the purchase must pay the luxury tax. The local men are doing some tall figuring today whether to charge 9 cents for the drink and collect the one cent internal revenue when the dime is paid. There are three or four drinks that come under this schedule, all mixed or compounded.

Then there is the 15-cent drink. Confectionery men are in session this afternoon and this evening to decide whether to charge 13 cents for the drink and collect the two cents revenue when the 15 cents is paid, or whether to force the customer to go into a sidepocket and dig up two coppers. For the revenue is 10 per cent and if there is a fraction of a cent, it goes on to another extra cent.

For the 20-cent drink, there is the problem of charging 18 cents and collecting the revenue with the 20, or to charge 22 cents and make the sale even two-bits, including revenue.

All soft drinks are taxed the ten per cent, but if one should buy two drinks at 15 cents each, instead of paying two cents on each, it is legal and lawful and correct to pay the ten per cent on the total or, from 30 cents, hand out three cents in revenue.

It is the penny and the penny change that the local men are fighting shy of. Not that they do not want the extra penny, but they know the average public would appreciate some way of not totting around so much loose copper change. They feel that the public spends its money easier, when it is made easier to spend.

Now in any of the Salem confectionery or other stores serving mixed or compounded drinks, there is a 10 per cent tax on such things as are served from the fountain, including coco cola, lemonade, root beer, milk shakes, ice cream. The internal revenue laws say "mixed or compounded."

But if the Salemite wants just a drink of coffee, hot tea, iced buttermilk, ginger ale, Phez or Laju, and these are not mixed or carbonated with anything else, they are not taxable. One may take bromo seltzer, seltzer powders, castor oil or such and pay the government 10 per cent. These are not mixed drinks.

However, for the benefit of the drinking public and those who like to drop in for the compounded mixtures, the confectionery men intend to make it as easy as possible to spend money in Salem and hope at the meeting this afternoon and evening to find a way out whereby it will not be necessary for any to carry around a pocketful of pennies.

Heavy Cattle Receipts Drive Market Down

North Portland, Or., May 1.—Nothing can be said of the cattle market at this time. Cattle are on an average of 50c to $1.00 lower than a week ago. The most apparent weakness is in prime cattle. Some of the best cattle that have been in the yards are being held over, with a low outlook. Medium steers are in a better position than choice steers but are at least 50c lower. No improvement need be expected for several weeks.

Cows and heifers are off from 50c to $1.00.
Hogs.
Hogs are very strong, tops at $20.75, with bulk around that figure. Receipts are light and demand excellent.

TRANS-OCEAN FLYERS STILL AWAIT FAVORABLE WEATHER
St. John, N. F., May 1.—(United Press)—Improvement in weather conditions was reported today in wireless messages from merchant ships in the Atlantic. Some of the best cattle that have been in the yards are being held over, with a low outlook. Medium steers are in a better position than choice steers but are at least 50c lower. No improvement need be expected for several weeks.

35's with an approximate decrease of a quarter cent for each 5 points in quality, on Italians and a top price of 14 cents with the same decrease on Petites. The pool represents approximately 800,000 lbs. of Italians and 600,000 lbs. of Petites.
Those taking part in the merger and the amount contracted for by each are as follows: John Arner, 50,000 lbs; F. Fort, 10,000 lbs; J. L. Shambrook, 200,000 lbs; Bush Clark, 123,000 lbs; Clay Uno and Wolensberg Bros, 200,000 lbs; Sam Ball and Hyman Wolfberg, 120,000 lbs; J. H. Booth, 200,000 lbs; Sam Moore and Rodney Knott, 100,000 lbs; Stearns Bros, 320,000 lbs, and Ralph Knight 110,000 lbs.

Saving children's lives in Salem

Do you know that one out of every three children in this city is suffering from some remediable defect? That child may be yours!

Do you know that four million children in this country are in need of immediate attention? Do you realize what this means in personal grief today—in national disaster tomorrow?

War—Bolshevism—plague—none are as terrible as this parasite which is eating our homes from within. We must save our children!

Dr. L. Emmett Holt in the first magazine article he has ever written sounds a real warning. The great authority on child welfare tells what to do—but leaves it to every American mother and father to carry out the logical remedies.

In the same issue, 4 pages on interior decorating and 15 pages devoted to Good Housekeeping Institute; 14 pages of the latest fashions—67 charming illustrations.

Then there's a wealth of fine fiction. "The House of Baltazar," a new novel by William J. Locke, rounded out with brilliant contributions by Philip Gibbs, Dorothy Dix, Rose O'Neill, Ida M. Evans, Kathleen Norris, James Oliver Curwood, W. L. George and many more. 200 pages.

And remember—every advertisement in Good Housekeeping is guaranteed—every food product advertised is tested by our Bureau of Foods, Sanitation and Health—every household appliance is tested by Good Housekeeping Institute.
