JERSEY CATTLE CLUB TO VISIT SALEM SOON

Eighty Members Of Organization To Be Here Next Wednesday.

Next Wednesday evening, May 21, about 80 members of the Oregon Jersey Cattle club will visit Salem, arriving in the city at 7 o'clock in the evening and passing the night here.

After dinner at the Marion they will spend the evening in riding about the city and will later be formally received at the Commercial club where luncheon will be served. The next day the club will drive to Monmouth.

Members of the Oregon Jersey Cattle club are holding a jubilee, celebrating the record that has been made by Jersey cattle bred in the Willamette valley. For he it known, Marion county stands at the head of the list not only in Oregon but in the entire world when it comes to champion Jersey cows.

The latest event in this line is the phenomenal record made by Vivo in France, the champion cow of the world, and by "Old Man's Darling II," both owned by Pickard Bros. of Marion.

Those participating in the jubilee will meet in Portland next Monday evening at the Imperial hotel. Tuesday a trip will be made over the Columbia highway. In the afternoon a visit will be made to Scappoose to visit the farm of Harry West.

Wednesday morning the party in about 40 machines will start for Oswego to visit the Iron Mine farm. The next stop will be at Cary's Jersey stock farm near Carlton in Yamhill county. The party will then go to the farm of Fray Lynn near Perrydale. Then to the farm of McArthur & Stauff, near Rickreall. They will also visit the farm of William Morrow near Rickreall, arriving in Salem about 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Thursday morning the jubilee party will drive to the farms of J. B. Stump & Son and also Lughary & Hawitt, near Monmouth. Later the head of the A. C. will be visited. In Albany the party will be guests of Robert L. Burkhead, secretary of the club.

Other farms to be visited include the following: Henry Stewart, near Albany; J. M. Dickson & Son, near Shedd; Pickard Bros., near Marion; and Frank Doerflinger, near Silverton.

A negro with sort of a mean look on his face, and dressed in the uniform of a soldier with an overseas hat, appeared at the Red Cross office this morning and demanded money. He was told that the Red Cross assisted soldiers in finding work, but that it did not give money. Later when standing on a street corner, he said a lot of unpatriotic things about the United States in general and the Red Cross. His unpatriotic remarks were reported to the police. An officer found him and took him to the station. He was there given a lot of good advice and later Charlie Maxwell expounded the gospel of good behavior, telling the soldier just about where to head in on unpatriotic talk.

E. L. STIFF & SON

There was a lively ball game last night between Mathews "Bears" of Willamette and the Salem high school team, in which the former won out with a score of 6 to 4. Salem took the lead in the fourth inning with the score standing 4 to 3, but with Findley and McKittrick on third and second, Doney laid down a perfect bunt, scoring both men. Then Doney scored on a hit by Dimmick, making the score 6 to 4. Olsen and Basler made up the battery for Willamette in the fore part of the game, but later were replaced by Dimmick and Power. Fisher pitched a nice game for the high school. Two games are scheduled for the "Bears" with the Multnomah club team, one to be played on May 30th on the local field, and the other on June 2d in Portland. Another game will be played with the high school on Sweetland field tomorrow afternoon.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON STUDENT BODY ELECTS Eugene, Or., May 16.--Stanford Anderson, a junior from Portland, was chosen president of the University of Oregon student body for next year in the annual election held yesterday afternoon. His only opponent was Herman Lind, who drew a vote of 127 out of 600 votes. The new president is a football letter man, a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity and Alpha Kappa Phi, the national commerce fraternity. He entered school at mid-year on being discharged from the army. Lindsay McArthur of Baker was elected vice president; Ern Stodrey of Lebanon was the girl elected to the secretaryship. Leith Abbott of Ashland was elected editor of the Emerald.
