The order of the Eastern Star will hold an informal reception for the visitors here next week in attendance may be here next week in attendance on the assembly of Reocals. It will be held at the Masonic Temple on the afternoon of the twentieth of May.

Miss Elma Weller presented her junior piano pupils in a charmingly arranged studio recital this afternoon. The numbers by Teddy Schmidt were featured. He is a very young boy and demonstrated remarkable musical ability, his tutelage covering only a period of four months.

Miss Weller will present her advanced pupils in recital in June.

Speaking before the Portland Federation of Women's clubs, Saturday, Governor Ben Olcott said:

"The one suggestion I wish to leave with you is that through your clubs, and the influence which radiates from them, you can do much to hold the old ship of state steady while passing through these crises. Public sentiment is a powerful factor in state and national and world affairs of today. You are molders of public sentiment. Through your clubs use your influence to mold the right kind of public sentiment, sentiment founded upon patriotism and love of country."

"If anyone has a grievance, if he is dissatisfied with the trend of public affairs in this nation, he has a way open for finding a correction. It is through public opinion and the ballot box. Let him, by peaceful and sane methods offer something better and put it before the people. If they agree with him, they will adopt it; if they do not, they will reject it. In either event, he should be satisfied as he has had his chance."

"The organizations represented here have the power to foster and spread ideas which will help defeat blind radicalism and will put in its place open-mindedness and sane judgment. Drive from the minds of the restless the thought that it is necessary to resort to force to obtain justice, fair dealing and equal rights in this land of the free."

"There are many angles to the reconstruction problem. Reconstruction, in its broadest sense, means more than merely finding employment for the soldiers and sailors who are returning home and for those already at home who may be displaced. It means finding an answer for the many questions which have arisen as a result of the world war. It means finding a solution for the many problems which now confront every nation."

"But aside from the question of employment, the problem of dealing with the feeling of unrest which now encircles the globe is one that deserves the thought and study of every patriotic citizen. This feeling is not confined to Europe, although over there it is most pronounced. It is cropping out in various forms all over the world."

"No disturbance can take place in the industrial and social fabric of our country without directly affecting the home life. For that reason this problem is of particular concern to every woman who is interested in the home, or who is interested in business, and in a broader sense it is of concern to every woman who is interested in the welfare of her country."

Mrs. Walter A. Denton presented her younger pupils in a piano recital last Monday night at her studio. The program was an interesting one and rendered in a most delightful manner before the parents and friends who were most enthusiastic at the progress of the young performers since their last appearance. These children are clever entertainers and each did their part well. Among those who were exceptionally clever were Maxine Glover, who showed musical talent and self control, her technique and expression is remarkable for one so young. Ethelwyne Kelly was as usual, charming and artistic in the Butterfly Dance and Music Box; she is a young artist both as a musician and reader. Donald Allison and Elbert Lachelle rendered their numbers with excellence and finish, and their work was greatly appreciated. Francis Martin showed marked progress.

The program was brought to a close by John Minto rendering "Taps" in a finished manner, which was followed by Arthur Fisher, a most winsome boy of six years, playing the Star Spangled Banner in an inspiring manner.

Mrs. Denton will present other pupils in closing recitals during the early part of June. The program follows:

- Marjory Hewett, Blanche Hackett, Lillian Layman, Ernestine Mooman, George Abbott and Kenneth Hewett gave a little program for their mothers on Saturday, May tenth, at the studio of their teacher, Mrs. Bertha
