You may file for record in the office of the county recorder any sort of a document, just so it is written in the alphabet used in the English language. There was filed for record this morning a power of attorney in the French language and must of necessity be copied as written. The power of attorney is from Eugene Dupont of Belgium and is given to Arthur Goffin. On Dec. 8, 1913, Julian Dupont died at Gervais. He owned a blacksmith shop and several lots in the town of St. Louis. As the Germans were in control of Belgium, it has not been possible until recently to communicate with the brother, Eugene Dupont, the only surviving heir. The power of attorney gives Arthur Goffin authority to convey the property inherited.

The law of inheritance in Oregon will give an 80 acre farm appraised at $6400 to the father of Mrs. Iona Pearl Sheldon. He lives in Portland. The land is in township 7 south of range 2 west, just east of Salem. Where there are no children, the Oregon law gives the estate to the surviving spouse. Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon died within 13 days of each other. Walter Clifton Sheldon died Jan. 16, 1919, and the entire farm and all his property were inherited by Mrs. Sheldon. Then she died Jan. 29, 1919, and according to the law of inheritance, the farm will be inherited by her father, the next of kin. The total amount of the Sheldon holdings were appraised by Hall Sheldon, Paul Jerman and Henry Ritehey at $7945. Included in the estate is a one third interest in a lot in Salem at Chemekeeta and Water streets, appraised at $200.

Dr. Frank Brown of this city was elected second vice president at the Oregon Sunday school convention held in Corvallis Saturday. Other officials elected were Perry Chandler of Canyon City president, Dr. Earl Else of Portland first vice president, Rev. W. W. McHenry of Portland recording secretary and R. N. Pork of Portland treasurer. For having best Sunday school associations first honors were awarded to Marion county along with Multnomah, Hood River, Wasco and Washington.

An evening with Dickens, Bely and other poets is planned for Wednesday 7:45 at Jason Lee Memorial church. The Ladies Aid society has made careful preparations for the success of the evening. The program will be varied and suited to bring pleasure to everybody. Light refreshments will be served by the ladies of the church, and an all round good time is assured. Make your plans to be present.

At the annual county spelling match held Saturday at the high school auditorium pupils from five grades in the county schools were given words, 50 of them, with which to show their training in spelling. The fourth grade pupils were asked to spell such words as, decimal, separate, prairie, betwixt and between. The fifth grade was given some of the following words: manroin, quotient, ochre, isthmus, fiftieth and necessary. For the sixth grade words such as were thought to be proper test: divisible, apparatus, accede, colander, blamable and apparel. The seventh grade was supposed to go a little deeper into spelling and were given some such words as Filipino, orthoepy, chrysalis, acquiesce, Gothemann, herenthesia and Jehovah. The eighth grade which is the highest in the average school were given some of the following to figure out: Eustachian, Omniscience, cyanoure, resuscitate, carbonaceous, espionage, diuresis, colloquial, efficacious and hallelujah.

A citizen who wanders around town occasionally and taken note of surroundings remarked the other day: "If one cannot go to the Rhine to see a ruined castle, why not stroll along north Front street. There may be seen the high crumbling walls of what was formerly known as the Scotch mills erected along in the early '80s which for years furnished flour for this part of the valley. Shortly before it was burned in 1904 it was partially used as a warehouse by Eugene Basse for his flax. At the time the mill was
