Norma Talmadge To Play Chinese Role In New Film

Salem admirers of Norma Talmadge will soon have an opportunity to see her in a role as startlingly novel as it is dramatic. She is the daughter of a mandarin in the great Chinese play—"The Forbidden City." This is the first time the star has ever appeared in a Chinese play, but it may truthfully be said that she never had a more effective vehicle for her talent. This film, directed by Sidney Franklin, has been built up with the aid of Chinese experts and Chinese paraphernalia with the utmost fidelity to details of Oriental life. It is a faithful reproduction of topsyturvy land, where books are read backward, where men wear skirts and women trousers; where women smoke and men use fans; where the compass points south; where a man sees his wife for the first time after he gets home from the wedding. No expose or trouble has been spared to reproduce the interiors of Chinese temples, royal palaces, harems, Peking street scenes etc. Aside from the thrill of the play, the film is worth while for its perfect visualization of old China and its customs. "The Forbidden City" comes to the Oregon Sunday for three days. The leading stars with Miss Talmadge are Thosa Meighan and Reid Hamilton, and a side feature is a group of the prettiest Chinese maidens to be found in New York.

"While scenes failed to get into the auditorium to hear McCormack sing," says the Portland Oregonian. "George Rodgers of Astoria was not to be left on the cold outside by the mere fact that the house was sold out."

"I telephoned to McSweeney, McCormack's manager," explained the Astorian and ex-Salomite, "and told him I had traveled 100 miles to hear John and that I was building ships to help the government win the war. McSweeney replied that McCormack himself had got down on his knees and begged for a couple of tickets to give to friends a few hours before, but that if I would go around to the stage door he'd see that I got in. You've got to have nerve to get anywhere in this world," smiled Mr. Rodgers. Going to the stage door was no novelty to the shipbuilder, for once upon a time, when he was a boy in Portland, he joined a minstrel troupe and traveled over the country with it."

PIONEER STATUE IS UNVEILED AT EUGENE

Hundreds Attend Dedicatory Exercises At University Of Oregon.

University of Oregon, Eugene, May 23.—Scores of old pioneers of the Willamette valley and hundreds of Eugene and Lane county folk were present at the impressive ceremonies held on the University of Oregon campus yesterday afternoon at the unveiling of the memorial statue, "The Pioneer," a gift to the university by Joseph N. Teal of Portland.

"This statue is erected and dedicated to the memory of all Oregon pioneers; it is in no sense personal or individual, and it is my earnest wish and hope that this fact may ever be kept in mind," said Mr. Teal. "The pioneer represents all that is noblest and best in our history. The men and women who saved the west for this country were animated by the highest motives."

R. A. Booth, former state senator from Lane county and an old Oregon pioneer, delivered the address of the afternoon.

"It is enough for the duties of this hour for us to know that we are children of those great men who were essentially and fundamentally the first Americans, as we interpret the word today," he said.

The statue was unveiled by T. G. Hendricks of Eugene, an old pioneer of the state and former member of the board of regents of the university. He was assisted by his granddaughter, Miss Martha Goodrich.

A. Plimister Proctor, the noted American sculptor, who made the statue, was a speaker of the afternoon and told many interesting incidents connected with the making of the huge bronze figure. Other speakers were A. C. Dixon, vice president of the board of regents, who gave a speech of acceptance; Herald White, president of the associated students; Frederick Holman, president of the state historical association; George H. Himes, secretary of the association, and Miss Charlotte Banfield, who read a poem, "The Pioneers," written by Dean Eric W. Allen.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the tea yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

Middle Aged Women

Women should take warning from such symptoms as heat flashes, shortness of breath, excessive nervousness, irritability, and the blues—which indicate the approach of the inevitable "Change" that comes to all women nearing middle age. We have published volumes of proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest aid women can have during this trying period.

Read About These Two Women:

Premont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run-down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. Goddard, 202 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life, in addition to its annoying symptoms I had an attack of grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women passing through the Change of Life, so I told my doctor I would try it. I soon began to gain in strength and the annoying symptoms disappeared and your Vegetable Compound has made me a well, strong woman so I do all my own housework. I cannot recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly to women passing through the Change of Life."—Mrs. FRANK HANSON, 1316 South Orchard Street, Urbana, Ill.

Getting Off Light

"There is no reason why Germany, under the new conditions, should not build up for herself a prosperity in Europe. Her territories have suffered not more than those of any other continental state during the war. Indeed, so far as pillage or devastation is concerned, they have not suffered at all. The share which Germany is being called upon to bear of the enormous calamity that has befallen the world has been apportioned by the victorious powers, not to her deserts, but solely to her ability to bear it. It is right that Germany, which is responsible for this calamity, should make good the losses to the utmost of her capacity. Her hardships will arise not from the conditions of peace, but from the acts of those who provoked and prolonged the war. Those who were responsible for the war cannot escape its just consequences."

WIDOW CRIES FOR JOY

"I couldn't eat anything but raw eggs and sweet milk and was so weak I could hardly walk across the room. I would have been in my grave today if I hadn't taken Myr's Wonderful Remedy when I did. When I think how I have suffered with my stomach and how good I feel now I cry for joy." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Eight bells in the mid-watch— COFFEE

for the wheel & lookouts

Cold blasts and icy seas swept over the destroyer's deck. With numbed hands, strained eyes and tensed nerves the lookout held his post until—eight bells—end of the midnight watch—then hot coffee in the galley!

JUST mention coffee to the men in the service and watch them smile. These brave fellows have endured long hours of hard labor with little rest. They have forced nature to the breaking point.

Coffee helped them. It cheered them and comforted them. Very often it actually sustained them. Its warmth rested and steadied them, and so gave them new courage for the great tasks ahead.

You men and women in every-day life, waging the battle of business, striving to maintain place and power and health—you have great tasks, too. And you find coffee a real help in the day's work.

And the joy of it—the charm of it—the delight of it. It greets you at breakfast—it cheers you at luncheon—it revives you at dinner. And very often regales you at the late supper. Truly—what would your life be without coffee?
