Big Hippodrome Show To Be Here Next Sunday

Like everything else that is the best there can always be one just a little bit better, therefore Mr. Bligh of the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Steinberg.
The parent-teacher meeting will meet today, it being a hard time affair, so no one will wear any valuables or will be fined if they do. Bligh theater, has selected a program of vaudeville from the Hippodrome circuit, that he says is just a little better than any that has ever been in Salem and that is going some, as the acts that have been showing at the Bligh theater, especially on the Sunday shows are mighty hard to beat.
For the coming Sunday show there is "Jimmy Gallon" and his Lunatic Sticks, his performance is entirely in pantomime, laughter prevailing from beginning to end, he is truly an eccentric genius, one who would commonly be called "a nut."

Gwen Jacque and Billy Clark are a happy combination of a good looking girl with wonderful red hair, a sweet winsome personality and cleverly dressed to the minute, and a fat jovial fellow, a sunburst of joy dispensing sunshine and laughter, songs and smiles in their peculiar way.
Johnson-Dean Revue is the greatest colored act in vaudeville and a headliner of more than ordinary value. It is a novelty singing, plantation dancing and cake walk production with a cast of six people, three males and three females.

This act comes intact from the east, where it has been featured on the largest circuits, which is sufficient guarantee of its entertaining qualities.
"Corinne Griffith" in the Blue Ribbon Vitagraph feature "The Girl of Today", one of Robert W. Chamber's delightful stories, will be the feature picture for the day.
