"For this purpose, the high contracting parties; duly named, who having communicated their full powers, found in good and due form have agreed as follows:

"From the coming into force of the present treaty the state of war will terminate.

Austria a Republic.

"Austria is recognized as a new independent state under the name of the republic of Austria. From that moment and subject to the provisions of this treaty, official relations will exist between the allied and associated powers and the republic of Austria.

"The northern frontier, facing Czech-Slovakia, follows the existing administrative boundaries formerly separating the provinces of Bohemia and Moravia from those of the upper and lower Austrian provinces, subject to certain minor rectifications, notably, in the regions of Grand and Feldberg and the river Moravia. The southern frontier facing Italy and the Serb-Croat-Slovene state, is to be fixed by the principal allied and associated powers at a later date. In the eastern part (the line) passing just east of Bielitz across the Drave just above its confluence with the Lavant, and thence will pass north of the Drave, so as to leave the Serb-Croat-Slovene state Marburg and Rodkersburg, just to the north of which latter place it will join the Hungarian frontier. The western and northwestern frontiers facing Bavaria, the western frontier facing Switzerland and the eastern frontier facing Hungary remain unchanged.

"Europe: the high contracting parties recognize and accept the frontiers of Bulgaria, Greece, Hungary, Poland, Rumania, the Serb-Croat-Slovene state and the Czech-Slovak state as at present or ultimately determined. Austria renounces in favor of the principal allied and associated powers all their rights and titles over territories formerly belonging to her which, though outside of the new frontiers of Austria, have not at present been assigned to any state undertaking to accept the settlement to be made in regard to these territories.

in the case of China there is no need for so many details.

"The military clauses are provided.

"Naval: All Austro-Hungarian warships, submarines and vessels of the Danube flotilla are to be finally surrendered to the principal allied and associated powers.

"Twenty-one specified auxiliary cruisers are to be disbanded and treated as merchant ships.

"All warships and submarines under construction in ports which belong or have belonged to Austria-Hungary shall be broken up, the salvage not to be used except for industrial purposes and not to be sold to foreign countries. The construction or acquisition of any submarines, even for commercial purposes is forbidden. All naval arms, ammunition and other war material belonging to Austria-Hungary at the date of the armistice shall be surrendered to the allies.

Wireless Controlled.

"The Austrian wireless station at Vienna is not to be used for naval, military or political messages relating to Austria or her late allies without the consent of the allied and associated governments during three months, but only for commercial purposes under supervision. During the same period Austria is not to build any more high power wireless stations.

"Air clauses: Austria may have no military or naval air forces, including dirigibles, must demobilize all existing forces within two months and must surrender to the principal powers wide categories of aviation material.

"General: Austria agrees not to credit or send any military, naval or air mission to any foreign country nor to allow Austrian nationals to enlist in the army, navy or air service of any foreign power.

"Part seven, on penalties, corresponds with the German treaty, except for the omission of any provision similar to that calling for the trial of the ex-kaiser of Germany, and the addition of a provision requiring the new states to help prosecute and punish any of their nationals so guilty.

"Part eight, on reparations and punitive or financial clauses are reserved.

Economic Clauses Similar.

"Part ten on economic clauses are, except in certain details, such as shipping, similar to those of the German treaty. Special provisions are added, however, for former Austro-Hungarian nationals acquiring an allied nationality similar to those in the German treaty relating to the inhabitants of Alsace-Lorraine. Their contracts are maintained subject to cancellation by their government. Austria undertakes to recognize another agreement or convention made by the allies to safeguard the interests of their nationals in any undertakings constituted under Austro-Hungarian law which operates in territories detached from the former Austrian empire and to transfer any necessary documents and information in regard to them.

"The clauses as to freedom of transit are the same in the Austrian as in the German treaty except for the omission of provisions affecting Germany alone and the insertion of specific clauses granting Austria transit privileges through former Austro-Hungary territory in order to assure her access in the Adriatic.

"Part fourteen on miscellaneous provisions are, after necessary substitutions, virtually identical with those of the German treaty. The treaty is to come into force when signed by Austria and three principal powers, and to be effective for the individual states on the deposit of their specific ratifications."
