GOVERNOR MAY MAKE FLIGHT TO PORTLAND

Olcott Invited To Be Passenger In DeHaviland En Route North.

Governor Ben W. Olcott has been officially invited to ride in the big De Haviland airplane next Tuesday in its flight from Salem to Portland. The invitation came to the Salem Commercial club through the president of the State Aero club, at the suggestion of Colonel Watson of Mathers Field, Sacramento, who will be in personal charge of the squadron of air ships.

The governor has not as yet signified his intentions. However, he will have the opportunity of thinking it over until perhaps next Tuesday, as according to a wire received this morning by T. E. McCroskey, manager of the Commercial club, the day and hour of the arrival of the squadron is uncertain.

According to present information, the squadron will remain over Monday night at Eugene and arrive in Salem Tuesday morning. Eugene is the only stop to be made after the squadron leaves Sacramento. Between Eugene and Portland, Salem will be the only stopping point.

Moreover, citizens of Salem and vicinity will be notified one hour in advance of the arrival of the air ships, by the sounding of six long blasts of the fire whistle. When the wire has been received that the air ships have left Eugene, the whistle will sound.

The Salem street railway company has agreed with the Commercial club, every facility shall be given the people for reaching the fair grounds. When the whistles sound, whether it be Monday or Tuesday, the street car company will assemble cars at State and Commercial street and will keep up a continuous service to the fair grounds as long as conditions justify.

Colonel Woolpert is co-operating with the Commercial club and has promised that company M shall be on hand to patrol the grounds.

After inspection, it was decided that the space inside the race track was not large enough for a landing field, especially as the big DeHaviland is generally traveling about 70 miles an hour when it makes a landing. Hence the 43 acre tract just east of the race track has been officially selected as the aviation field for Salem. Yesterday and today three tractors and one steam roller have been in use leveling the ground.

It is understood that this 43 acre tract is to be used as a permanent aviation field for Salem. For the coming of the squadron of six planes built for two passengers and the big De Haviland the grounds are barely large enough. It is understood the squadron will fly in regular war formation and make a landing one at a time.

For those who go out to the aviation field in automobiles, the car may be driven into the fair grounds from the Silverton road or in good view may be obtained with the car parked east of the field.

In order that the aviators may locate the field, four twelve-inch planks will be placed in the form of the letter T, and painted white. The aviators say that with this and the white flags posted on the side of the landing field, there will be no difficulty in finding the grounds after they leave Jefferson.

As the matter now stands, the chances are in favor of the arrival of the air years of age from a man accused of having seduced her, is a bar to further prosecution.

Attorney Miles, Ruth's personal attorney and special prosecuting attorney, objected strenuously to Ruth's answering whether she wanted to marry Starrs.

Judge John N. Jurey consented and also said he would not permit the motion by the defense to allow the marriage to take place.

The Woodmen of the World are arranging to hold memorial services tomorrow at the City View cemetery.

E. E. Matton of East Salem and J. N. Gooding of St. Paul turned in their assessments yesterday. They have been serving as deputy assessors. D. E. Hill of Mill City also came in with his assessment complete. It is expected that all deputy assessors will have turned in their rolls by June 20.

To the average person who attends concerts similar to the Apollo concert given last evening there is mostly the director and the singers in sight and the accompanist, so essential to true musical chorus rendition is overlooked. From the standpoint of the musician, it may be said that Miss Bernice Clark, accompanist, gave most efficient service in making the concert the artistic success that it was. She played with the true insight of a musician and more over with the true temperament of an accompanist, both of which are rare in the musical world.

T. E. McCroskey, manager of the Salem Commercial club says that due to the uncertainty as to whether the seven airplanes will reach Salem Monday or Tuesday, it has been decided to postpone for one week the usual Monday noon luncheon of members of the club at the Marion hotel.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to E. M. Brown, a farmer of Tillamook, age 32, and Loretta Allen, 32, of Salem. This morning a license was issued to Ray Mitchell of Dallas and Rutha Ann Vincent of Salem.

But few days are left for those who wish to submit bids to the local post office for the privilege of carrying all mails to and fro between the post office and the Southern Pacific depot. Those who are interested in the working for Uncle Sam in the mail line, should apply at the post office for bids.

The Metcal home on 12th and Court streets, opposite the home of Judge Scott, has been purchased by J. Wm. Chambers, senior member of the firm of Chambers & Chambers. The purchase price was $5000. Mr. Chambers has taken out a building permit for $3000 and will materially improve the place.

BOARD NO PLACE FOR POLITICS—OLCOTT

Governor Says Cards Of Fish And Game Commission Belong On Table.

Governor Olcott, in his office this morning, carried about him a "tired feeling" that summarizes what he has felt since the result of a 10 hour stretch of complaint and denial charge and counter charge, in the Portland hearing of the fish and game commission yesterday, in which the game fish interest were the most active agitators. While the governor was not committed in interview, he voiced the conviction that the hearing would ultimately have a good effect in getting all the cards on the table and in clarifying the atmosphere of a vast amount of insinuation and suspicion.

The most emphatic charges were presented by the Multnomah Angler's association and the Oregon Sportsmen's League, and the impression grew upon the listener that personalities figured largely in the affair. The most serious matter brought up by Fred Price, of the Angler's club was that the commercial fishing interests were dominating the commission and subverting its policies to political manipulation. In reply to this the governor said in part: "Politics has no place in the work of the commission or of any of its employees. No matter what has been the condition in the past, politics will play no part in the future as long as I am governor of the state. I intend to exercise my prerogative as executive over the administration of the entire commission and its employees to that extent."

"I believe that all of the interests covered by the fish and game laws should be given an honest deal. I further believe that the cards should be out upon the table. Whatever is done along the line of organization will be done with that end in view."

"If politics is not eliminated I wish to serve notice that I hold the whip hand and where I have the jurisdiction to do so I will eliminate politics by eliminating the offending factor. In event a subordinate employee is the offender I intend to hold whatever agency might employ him strictly accountable for each subordinate's activities."

SILVERTON GUARD

On Wednesday evening, June 4, Silvertown militia company were formally mustered into the service by Lieutenant Colonel A. T. Woolpert, assisted by Major Milton Myers and Captain Gordon McCall. An election of a captain for the organization was held and Captain Graver B. Todd, formerly captain of company I of the old Third Oregon was unanimously elected. The Silvertown company was very fortunate in being able to secure Captain Todd as he is a man who has had years of experience with national guard work and his work over seas during the present war gave him vast experience that will aid materially in bringing the Silvertown company up to the highest standard of efficiency.—Appeal.

MARKET ROADS WORK GOES OVER TO SPRING

Judge Bushey said this morning that during the present summer, all the available working force and machinery in the county will be devoted to construction work on the Pacific highway, and that no work would be done on the market roads in the county as provided for in the voting of the $550,000 bonds.

There is a scarcity of labor and machinery, and even if there was a disposition to begin work at once on the market roads, it would be impossible to get the work of leveling and grading done this summer or to have the paving plants here in time for fall work.

This coming fall and winter work will begin on grading cuts and fills on the new market roads, in order that they may settle and be in condition for paving next spring, Judge Bushey said.

It is probable that the county will buy this winter two complete paving outfits. By the time the roads that have been graded this winter are in condition to be paved, it is thought that the paving plants will be here and that all arrangements will have been made for crews to operate the plants.

Hence, while the $550,000 bonds have been voted for market roads, there will really be no actual paving until next spring and summer.
