PORTLAND GETS 1920 SHRINERS' CONVENTION

Al Kader Temple Outpoints New Orleans For Honor Of Being Host.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 12.—(United Press.)—Al Kader temple, Portland, Ore., today won its battle to entertain the 1920 session of the Imperial Council, Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, domain of North America.

The westerners took the convention from New Orleans, following a fight which started before the convention opened.

All visiting Shriner were asked to vote but only a very small percentage cast their ballots. The imperial representatives who usually decide the location of the next convention, placed the matter squarely before the shrine body without recommendations.

Immediately following this, the imperial representatives went into session and elected Leo V. Youngworth, Los Angeles, as imperial outer guard.

Ever since its inception, the fight between Al Kader and Jerusalem temples has been spirited. Each temple sent a large delegation to storm the visiting nobles and they vied with each other in the parade last night. The convention will close tonight.

Convicted Murderer Leaps To Death From High Window

Rock Island, Ill., June 12.—(United Press.)—Three minutes after Robert Cook had heard a jury pronounce him guilty of murder in the first degree and sentence him to death, here last night, his battered body was picked up from the courthouse yards. He had jumped from a window on the third floor while being taken back to the jail.

Cook was convicted of the murder of Cecil Nesbit of Davenport, Iowa, and Mrs. Ida Woods, last April.

SALEM TAKES FIRST

menettes left Marion county to serve in the world war.

Representing Miss Salem, Mrs. Lloyd Ramsden was the center of attraction for the Cherrion float. Miss Ruth Perlich represented the Red Cross and Miss Schultz the yeamanettes. Banners from the float were carried by ten girls from Mrs. White's dancing class.

The Ad men of Portland and the northwest in session, also were liberal in complimenting the fine appearance of the Cherrions and the artistic float representing the city.

Instead of wandering around as in past years, the Cherrions and their ladies were properly taken care of by the Rosarians and made to feel at home at the luncheon given them at the Commercial club. All of which added to the pleasure of the day.

The float which received the first prize, representing Salem, will be brought to Salem within a few days and will appear again in the big Fourth of July celebration here.

Sheriff's Memory Lands

Jap In Jail For Murder

Marysville, Cal., June 12.—(United Press.)—Remembering a police circular he read six years ago while city marshal here, Sheriff C. J. McCoy today arrested J. A. Satou, a Japanese, long sought by Portland police on a murder charge. Satou confessed that he is the man sought, but says he did not commit the crime.

The murder was committed in February, 1912. Police circulars sent out shortly thereafter described Satou as having one eye larger than the other. As soon as he noted this deformity, McCoy questioned Satou and the arrest followed. He will be returned to Portland.

Satou admitted having trouble with the murdered man and said he was at the scene of the crime, but insists he is innocent.

"Fighting Chaplain" is Champion of Army—Y.M.C.A. Athletic Plans

EARL A. BLACKMAN ARMY'S FIGHTING CHAPLAIN

Twenty-four foot ring or four-foot pulpit—it is all the same to Earl A. Blackman, of the 130th Field Artillery. Before the war he was pastor of a Kansas church. Now he is an army chaplain, and one of the most active champions of the big athletic program which the Y.M.C.A. is working out for the men overseas.

When Blackman needed money to get through college, he put on his ring togs and gave boxing lessons. He fought himself through college, but before he had finished he had decided to enter the military. Having won his college bout with adversity, he took another hitch in his belt and started on his second. It was a three-year battle, but the Blackman won again with a good margin. Since then he has not had to use the gloves to earn a living, but he has always remained a staunch friend of athletics, and he is enthusiastic over the outlook for the A.E.F. season.

Organization of scores of baseball, basketball and other leagues; building of athletic fields, grandstands and boxing pavilions, and the movement and transportation of vast quantities of athletic supplies require a combination of brains and brawn. Garry Herman-Tex Rice

W. G. McAdoo to keep them all going, and the army has found him. He is Col. Wait C. Johnson, now Chief Athletic Officer of the A. E. F.

For an associate, Col. Johnson has Elwood S. Brown, chief of the Y.M.C.A.'s athletic department and who, as it happened, was the colonel's successor as director of army athletics in the Philippines, in 1910, under Governor General Forbes. Some idea of the magnitude of Brown's part of the work may be had from the fact that, up to date, the "Y" has given to the army overseas more than $3,000,000 in athletic equipment alone.

Boxing holds a prominent part in the army and "Y" program, and the "Fighting Chaplain" of the 130th is one of the sport's best friends. As such, he holds an opinion exactly opposite to that of most of boxing's opponents.

"Boxing is the best form of physical exercise because it makes a man and not a beast," says the chaplain. "No mere physical superiority is necessary; to be a successful boxer, a man must outguess and outwit his opponent."

Several of the doughboys who have been up against the chaplain admit that he is one of the best guessers they ever met.

PEACE BUT

in which democrats twice sought vainly to postpone consideration until next Monday. The committee approved Senator Lodge's motion striking out section five of the resolution which pledged the United States in case of a future war, to come to the rescue just as it did in the recent war. It was felt this was unnecessary to the resolution.

By L. C. Martin

(United Press staff correspondent).
Washington, June 12.—An era of high prices such as the United States has never seen would result from adoption of the plan of the world financing outlined to the senate foreign relations committee by Wall Street bankers, senators opposing the league of nations predicted today.

They declared the frank statements of Morgan, Vunderlip and Davison in the "treaty leak" investigation showed that Wall Street plans the formation of the greatest trust in history, to be underwritten by the United States government and to control not only the country's money but the industry as never before.

The inevitable result of putting into Wall Street's grip the whole country's financial and industrial resources, these senators said, would be the elevating of prices of practically everything the people of this country use.

League Opposition Looms

High prices, it was declared, "would be justified" on the ground that Europe's needs for raw materials, machinery and other American products causes shortages in this country.

League opponents believe the financiers' statements to the committee are in effect notice to the senate that Wall Street wants the league of nations as a medium through which its world financing plan may be carried out with a guarantee against loss.

Senators asserted that the league can be used to create profits for the money barons by declaring necessity exists in some countries for American financial aid.

They are preparing to use the leak investigation testimony freely in speech as soon to be delivered in the senate in opposition to the league.

Probe Fizzles Out

The league's friends today said the leak inquiry showed clearly that Borah's charge that New York interests having a "peculiar interest" in the peace treaty had obtained it, were groundless and that the bringing of the text to this country by H. F. Davison, partner of J. P. Morgan and head of the International Red Cross was entirely proper.

It is undetermined whether the investigation will go any further.

The foreign relations committee today at a special meeting took up the Knox resolution for a "reservation" on the league of nations.

Knox planned to point out to the committee that administration charges that his measure is a plan to separate the treaty and covenant are untrue. Knox maintains that separation of the two involves amendment of the treaty, which would require it to be submitted again to the peace conference. His plan, he said, will not entail this, and will therefore not delay the operation of the peace settlement.
