PHEZ COMPANY HITS BACK AT FRUIT UNION

Proceedings Started To Compel Union To Deliver Berries This Year.

The second gun in the fight now on between the Salem Fruit Union and the Phez Company was fired today when the Phez Company filed suit alleging that the Salem Fruit Union did not intend to deliver 1200 tons of loganberries this season, according to an alleged contract, and asking the court for an injunction against the Salem Fruit Union and its stockholders preventing them from selling their loganberries to other parties than the Phez Company.

The first gun in the fight between the two big loganberry interests of the valley was fired a few days ago when the Salem Fruit Union brought suit against the Phez Company for $1,000,000, which amount it was claimed the Phez Company had failed to pay the union for 1918 loganberries.

The suit filed today by the Phez company against the union and its stockholders, the company alleges that the union had entered into a contract to sell and deliver to the Phez Company 1200 tons of loganberries in 1917 and that the contract price for these berries was three cents a pound. Also that for the years 1918, 1919, 1920 and 1921 the price was to be $61.50 a ton on the same amount of berries.

It is further alleged that after this contract had been signed, the Salem Fruit Union entered into a contract with what is known as the Salem Fruit Union Pool, April 25, 1917, and that the contract provides that members of the pool may deliver all their berries to the Salem Fruit Union for the storing and sale.

The Phez Company further alleges that it will require, for the operation of its plants here, the entire 1200 tons contracted for with the Salem Fruit Union, at this amount, is 50 per cent of the berries received annually.

The company alleges that the loganberries are required for the manufacture of Loju and Phez and that the company has gone to a large expense in advertising. During the year 1917 the advertising bill was $135,786.00, for the year 1918, $112,484.00 and that for this year $125,000.00 will be expended in advertising.

The allegation is further made that, pending upon receiving the 1200 tons annually from the Salem Fruit Union, the Phez Company had spent $50,000 in erecting and equipping its jelly and jam plant in Salem.

It is claimed that without the 1200 tons of logans expected from the Salem Fruit Union, the Phez Company would be unable to supply its demands. That it now has 40 salesmen on the road and that the total expense of each is $350.00 a month.

That a failure on the part of the Salem Fruit Union to deliver the loganberries would entail a loss this year on the Phez company of $100,000.00 and render useless its advertising and that thereby the company would suffer a loss of $100,000.00 through loss of prestige.

It is alleged that the Salem Fruit company has wrongfully refused to deliver the 120 tons this year at three cents a pound and that it has threatened and offered to sell to others than the Phez Company.

It is alleged that unless the Salem Fruit Company is restrained, it will attempt to dissolve the pool and organize another. That by its contract, it is obliged to sell to the Phez Company all berries grown by its stockholders. Also that the Salem Fruit Union could legally enforce its members to deliver its berries at the contract price of three cents.

In the complaint of the Phez Company, it is acknowledged there is an unsettled account due the Salem Fruit Union, but the Phez Company claims it

Chronic Constipation

Perhaps you have never thought of it, but this disorder is due to a lack of moisture in the residual matter of the food. If you will drink an abundance of water, eat raw fruits and take lots of outdoor exercise, you may be able eventually to overcome it entirely. In the meantime use the most mild and gentle laxatives. Strong and harsh cathartics take too much water out of the system and make a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are easy and pleasant to take, and most agreeable in effect. Give them a trial.

Crop Prospects In Valley Encouraging States Chapin

L. J. Chapin, director of the agricultural department of the Commercial club and field man for the Salem King's Product Company, has the following to say regarding crops in this part of the valley:

Winter grain is looking exceptionally good. Vetch will be a bumper crop while last year it was destroyed by the aphid of which there is none this year. Farmers are now clipping a fine crop of clover. Corn in the valley is looking extra fine and the average is much larger than one year ago. Many farmers are planning to build silos next winter. Strawberries are just middling fair. Loganberries promise one of the largest crops ever known and picking will begin in some localities by June 20. There is a bumper peach crop in sight and many are thinking. Cherries and pears may be just a fair crop. Prunes will average hardly 50 per cent of a crop. In the vicinity of Dallas the prune crop is good.

The application for the restraining order will come up before Judge George G. Bingham Saturday afternoon of this week at 1 o'clock in department No. 2.

Masons in 69th Annual Grand Lodge Convention

Portland, Ore., June 12.—The sixty-ninth annual communication of the grand lodge, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of Oregon, began Wednesday promptly at 10 o'clock, Grand Master Frank W. Settlemeier presiding. Delegates were present from nearly all of the 155 lodges in the state.

The address of the grand master was read and its consideration and recommendations referred to a committee. Reports of committees and officers occupied most of the day.

The report of the Masonic home committee and the address of the grand orator, William Wallace Youngson, were the most important events of the afternoon.

Election of grand officers will take place this afternoon and installation on Friday afternoon. There is no opposition to the elevation of Earl C. Bloung to the position of grand master. He is now seated and acting as deputy grand master. Other officers of the grand lodge are W. J. Kerr, senior grand warden; Frank S. Baillie, junior grand warden; John B. Cleland, grand treasurer; James P. Robinson, grand secretary; J. R. N. Bell, grand chaplain; George G. Brown, senior grand deacon; George T. Cochran, junior grand deacon; Thomas Sims, senior grand steward; Oliver P. Co-show, junior grand steward; Rev. William Wallace Youngson, grand orator; D. G. Tomasin, grand tyler.
