

DEMPSEY LIGHTENS WORK OF TRAINING

Challenger To Do No More Boxing Until Friday, Say Managers.

By H. C. Hamilton (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Toledo, Ohio, June 16.—There is every indication here today that Jack Dempsey would do no more boxing until Friday in preparation for his bout with Jess Willard. It may be Saturday before Trainer DeForest and Manager Kearns will permit him to expose himself to slouts from his sparring partners.

Jess Willard is going silently, patiently and consistently ahead with his training. The shimmy shivers the big champion has been showing, is giving way to the firmness of flesh which so distinguishes his superbly trained challenger.

Willard is the most self confident man the ring ever has had for a challenger here.

"I know just what is good for me and I will train my own way," he said to me yesterday during a fanning breeze. "No suggestion can alter my way of doing things. They say my sparring partners are no good but I am satisfied. I don't believe I could get better men."

Jess admitted to me that the heat here gave him an awful time of it when he first took up his training camp duties.

"Why, when I first started in here, I thought several times I would faint in the ring. Seemed like I was sticking my head in an oven when I went under the hot sun. Now that has passed away. I feel like the sun was my best friend. You can see that I have been doing lots more work and that I am able to go at a faster pace."

The attempt of the city of Salem to compel the Southern Pacific to place a wig-wag signal at the crossing on Capitol Street was quashed by the Public Service Commission after due consideration of the complaint filed by the city council. In its order dismissing the complaint the Commission stated that while a number of accidents had occurred at this point there was evidence to show that they were due to negligence on the part of automobile drivers rather than to the absence of a signal. It is alleged that auto drivers are in the habit of speeding over the stretch of paving at this point, and that very few take the trouble to look along the Falls City line before taking the crossing. It further says: "It is also true that a moving train at this point should be seen much more easily than a wig-wag signal, which device is only intended for use where the view of approaching trains is very badly obstructed."

Little Interest Shown In School Election Today

As usual in school elections, very little interest was shown early this afternoon when the polls were opened at 2 o'clock. The ballot is a small one, as there are only two contestants for school director for the term of three years. H. L. Clark is a candidate to succeed himself. The other candidate is George E. Halverson, who was in charge of motor service for supplies in France and England and who, just one year ago was on the front fighting line with the American soldiers. The polls will remain open until 7 o'clock. The voting place is in the store room formerly occupied by Pomeroy & Wallace, adjoining the U. S. National Bank Building on Commercial street.

FRIENDS HEAR FINAL

anniversary of the work of this committee, which under the administration of President Grant took a prominent place in the work for the Indians, which it has ever since maintained. The statistical reports show that in spite of the influenza, which interfered so much with the work of the church, and of what is probably the greatest death loss of any year in the history of the yearly meeting, there was a net gain in membership for the year 19, making the total membership at present 3,073.

Reports were received from the literature department and from the department of systematic and proportionate giving. At the close of this report Fred E. Carter of Newberg gave an earnest address on Christian Stewardship.

Memorials were adopted for Isaac Sumner Binford and Minnie J. Binford his wife, of Caldwell, Idaho, and for S. Alice Hanson of Portland, who during her life was especially interested in the work of temperance and peace. The officers who served the yearly meeting last year are in charge of the business again this year as follows: Presiding clerk, Levi T. Pennington; recording clerk, Oliver Weesner; reading clerk, Marguerite P. Elliott; announcing clerk, Chester A. Hadley.

The report of the Foreign Mission Board was presented by the vice chairman, Milo P. Elliott, as Chairman G. J. Sherman of Portland was unable to be present on account of the illness of his wife. The presiding officer was directed to send an expression of the love and sympathy of the yearly meeting to these two friends.

The missionary report showed that though the apportionment for this yearly meeting to raise was $2,000.00, the total raised through regular channels was $4,348.50, which is 117 per cent above the apportionment, while the total given to all missionary causes was $5,022.61, or 151 per cent above the apportionment. Twenty three study classes have been maintained, and 74 missionary meetings held. The American Friends Board of Foreign Missions, which has never before exceeded $60,000.00 a year, has raised $150,000.00 the past 18 months, and its budget for the next year is $155,000.00.

At the close of the reports, George H. Moore, for nine years president of the American Board of Foreign Missions, gave an illuminating address on the subject, "Some Problems of the American Friends Begin."

The daily program begins each morning with "The School of the Prophets" at 8 o'clock, led by Joseph H. Smith of Redlands, Calif. The business sessions begin at 10 a. m. and at 2 p. m. In the evening at 8 o'clock occurs an evangelistic service. Tomorrow there will be no business sessions, but there will be gospel meetings at 8, 11, 3 and 8 o'clock. The business of the yearly meeting will close probably on Tuesday, though it is possible that it may be concluded by Monday evening.
