Let a FORDSON Do Your Farming

The success of the Ford Tractor like all other Ford products has been phenomenal--in one year they have sold over 50,000 Fordson tractors, and their unparalleled success has enabled them to pursue their established policy of reducing their price when increased production justified doing so.

How Can You Afford to Farm Without a Fordson at this Remarkably Low Price?

Consider

The present price of Hay, Grain and Labor. Now is the time to consider power farming--dispose of your horses when there is sale for them and place your order for a Fordson. We have received notice of our allotment and we know they will not last long.

J. W. Collins and A. M. Boller of Brooks have brought suit against the United Brokers company for $41,566. They allege that on Dec. 1, 1918, they contracted with the United Brokers Co. to ship a carload of onions to the Sacramento market, and that they were to be sold at the going price for the day on which they arrived. That the car-

PERSHING AND DOZEN OFFICERS GET MEDALS

Washington, June 28.—General Pershing has awarded the distinguished service medal to twelve officers and former officers of the A. E. F. for exceptionally meritorious services in the war, the war department announced today.

Officers who received the medal were:

Brigadier General T. Q. Donahoe, for services as inspector general of the A. E. F.

Colonel John H. Hughes, a member of the inspector general's department. Major General C. D. Rhodes, for marked ability in commanding his artillery brigade in support of the 82nd division in the St. Mihiel drive.

Brigadier General William Mitchell, commander of the air service in France.

Colonel John D. Parker, who under great difficulties obtained material for conducting the army machine gun school at Langres.

Colonel M. C. Heinenberger, assistant chief of staff of organization, Third army corps, in the Argonne-Meuse drive.

Major General William H. Hays, commander of the 28th division.

Major General Robert L. Howace, commander of the Third division.

Brigadier General W. W. Hart, commander of the Paris district.

Colonel C. S. Babcock, post commander at general headquarters.

Colonel James S. Reeves, commander of the 503rd infantry.

Colonel Robert H. Allen, commander of the 356th infantry.

thority to settle the claim for a lump sum, but that it should have awarded the widow a pension of $30 a month.

C. I. Leavengood of Lebanon who sued Sam F. Ohles for a commission on sale of farm personal property, filed an objection to the costs taxed against him, the case having been decided for the defendant. He especially objects to paying $12 for the witness W. T. Meitenberger as the witness was not called to the stand to testify.

Hilma Ellnora Ahlgren has been appointed administratrix of the estate of John Frederick Ahlgren, who died Dec. 10, 1918. His parents live in Finland.

The estate of William Young, deceased, has been appraised at $2835.52. The appraisers were Ralph Cooy, Tom Davis and Clem Lewis. Included in the total appraisement was $4260.52 on deposit in one of the Salem banks.

In the matter of the estate of Fred Carl, the report of the executors has been approved and allowed by the county court and the executors relieved from further liability.

Germany's Fear Trick.

The Germans expressed fear the treaty to be signed might contain variations from the original, it was learned today.

Secretary Dunsats of the peace conference thereupon delivered to Secretary Von Haniel of the German delegation a letter signed by Premier Clemenceau, guaranteeing the copy signed today would not vary from the text handed to Count Brockdorff-Rantzau, former head of the German commission.

German threats not to live up to the treaty stipulations regarding the eastern boundary have been met by the big three with instructions to the supreme war council to take up consideration of the problem of getting munitions and war materials to the Polish army.

Colonel House, Lord Milner, Sir John Simon, Signor Teresi and Viscount Chinda have been appointed a special committee to draw up model mandates.

The question of Austrian reparations has been completed and the remainder of the Austrian treaty is expected to be presented at St. Germain on Monday.

Every Race Represented.

In the hall of mirrors at the palace there were places for representatives of nearly every race and creed in the world.

The big horseshoe table was on a platform elevated about a foot above the floor. In the center of the horseshoe space was a small table topped with brown leather, on which rested the treaty. One chair stood before this table, to be used by the delegates in signing.

An ancient and valuable brown tapestry carpet was on the floor, and the delegates sat at brown tapestry covered tables.

At the eastern end of the hall were saloons—the Salon De Paix and the Salon De Guerre. The Salon De Paix was reserved for distinguished visitors, seating about 300. The Salon De Guerre was for the press, and had seats for 60 Americans, 25 British, 60 French, 40 Italians, 25 Japanese, 15 Germans, 70 from small powers and 20 from neutral nations.

In this salon special American telephone and telegraph lines were installed, over which news of the signing could be flashed to the cable office.

Court Blaze of Splendor.

Prominent seats in the visitors section were reserved for Mrs. Wilson and for Miss Margaret Wilson.

The courtyard was a blaze of military splendor, detachments of all the allied armies, with flags unfurled, coming sharply to attention as the delegates arrived in automobiles.

congratulations on the completion of your great work. The American people will be ever proud of what you did as their representative for the peace of the world."

President Wilson will leave Paris tonight and sail from Brest tomorrow morning on the George Washington, Secretary Tumulty officially announced.

The president will land in New York. Plans for his tour of the nation probably will not be made public until the president has had time to consult with advisers here and personally go over the details of the trip. It is probable that he will leave Washington, however, within a week after his return.

His address on the peace treaty to congress will be delivered the day after he arrives in Washington, if present plans are carried out.

Harring accidents the president should be back in Washington a week from Tuesday.

China Refuses to Sign.

"There was a tense atmosphere at the state department as officials waited word that the treaty had been signed. Two minutes elapsed between the state department's flash that the Germans had affixed their signatures and the flash that Wilson had signed. Then the strain seemed broken. At 11:20 the state department received a cable saying all the plenipotentiaries had signed and Clemenceau had declared the session closed.

As China refused to participate, 26 allied nations were represented at the historic conference.

They were: Serbia, Japan, United States, Liberia, Haiti, The Netherlands, Portugal, Panama, Brazil, Honduras, Peru, Belgium, Italy, Cuba, Guatemala, Bolivia, Poland, Great Britain, Greece, Siam, Nicaragua, Ecuador, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Uruguay.

Russia, the other ally, negotiated peace with Germany in March, 1918.

Senator Hitchcock, who received a copy of the president's proclamation, read it to the senate. Though the reading was tantamount to official notification to congress that the war was over, there was no demonstration.

tutes a new order, under which backward nations—populations which have not yet come to political consciousness and peoples who are ready for independence but not yet quite prepared to dispense with protection and guidance—shall no more be subjected to the domination and exploitation of a stronger nation, but shall be put upon the friendly direction and afforded the helpful assistance of governments which undertake to be responsible to the opinion of mankind in the execution of their task by accepting the direction of the league of nations.

Guarantee for All.

"It recognizes the inalienable rights of nationalities; the right of minorities and the sanctity of religious beliefs and practice. It lays the basis for conventions which shall free the commercial intercourse of the world from unjust and vexatious restrictions and for every sort of international co-operation that will serve to cleanse the life of the world and facilitate its economic action with beneficial service of every kind.

"It furnishes guarantees such as were never given or even contemplated before for the fair treatment of all who labor at the daily tasks of the world. It is for this reason that I have spoken of it as a great charter for a new order of affairs.

"There is ground here for deep satisfaction, universal reassurance and confident hope."

Acting Secretary of State Polk enabled the following message of congratulations to the president when he received the news of the signing.
