

MONMOUTH NEWS

(Capital Journal Special Service) Monmouth, July 3.—The registrar of the Normal reports the total number of summer school students to be four hundred on Tuesday of the second week. This number is considerably less than was expected but is larger than the enrollment of last year. The student body held a meeting Wednesday and organized into county groups according to the established custom of the summer school students. Before the close of the session they will present a "stunt" program, each group vying with the others in the effort to produce the most clever and original "stunt". The annual reception of the students was held Saturday evening on the campus. Tolstoi's "Reverence" was seen in film at the Normal Friday evening.

P. O. Powell, who for the past two years has occupied the position of manager of the Monmouth Cooperative Creamery, has resigned the position. Mr. Powell has a large farm and feels that he must devote more time to this than to other private business which is the reason for his giving up the creamery work. Joseph A. Larson of Canby has been engaged to succeed Mr. Powell. He has had much experience in creamery work and no doubt he will give the same efficient service and satisfaction as that given by Mr. Powell. The business is in a prosperous and growing condition and one of Monmouth's most valuable assets.

The Baptist people are negotiating for the Maple property, the papers are being prepared and the deal will probably be closed soon.

Word has been received from the Jacob Smith family, who left to spend the summer camping in eastern Oregon, stating that they are located for the present at Bend where they are enjoying good fishing.

At the George Jones Jersey sale held recently at the farm on the Luckinwits, twenty four head of cattle were sold. The sum of $2900 was realized from the herd, George is seen driving a new car these days.

A 50 foot addition is being built onto the Oregon Milling Co. warehouse here. The Monmouth tile and brick factory is exhibiting some most samples of building tile, the result of recent experiments in this line. The tile are similar to cement blocks with air space and are six and a half inches in size. There is an abundant supply of suitable material for the manufacture of the blocks, within any reach of the works.

Arthur Miller has returned to Monmouth after long service with the army in France and with the navy. He was a member of the 20th Engineers, his work being mostly in the lumber industry getting bridge material.

R. R. Ostrom has just concluded harvesting his strawberry crop and challenges any grower in the valley to show figures in proof of a better record. From exactly one third of an acre he sold berries this year which brought him $370, which is at the rate of $1110 per acre. This crop is the third one for this patch and the plants are good for another one next year. The first year the crop sold for $123; the second year $162.50. All thru the hot dry summer last year fresh ripe berries could be found in this patch and until frost killed the vines in the fall the family enjoyed fresh strawberries on the table. The place is located one half mile south of town and the soil seems peculiarly adapted to strawberries.

A party of girls consisting of Neta Harvey, Una Wuegar, Beth Partridge, Doris, Vera and Iona Lee and Beth Ostrom left Monday for the loganberry fields in the vicinity of Salem.

Ed Rodgers had the misfortune, one day last week while repairing an engine cutter, to have his hand badly mangled. This leaves Mr. Rodgers unable to handle his work as he had previously lost one hand in a similar manner several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Evans received a telegram Tuesday from their son Stanley, announcing his arrival from overseas. The telegram was dated June 30 at Hoboken, N. Y. Owing to the tele-

Sumner Ostrom and wife and baby left motored up from Portland for a week and visit with home folks. Mrs. Lydia Bowman and family returned Wednesday from their motor trip in California. They went as far south as San Diego, had a delightful trip going but experienced much trouble on the return trip. They found the roads in very good condition with few exceptions. Perry Powell has joined the U. S. merchant marine. Miss Pearl Wiltsey of route 4, Salem, visited over Sunday with her cousin, Beth Ostrom at Sunshine farm.

STAYTON NEWS. (Capital Journal Special Service.) Stayton, Or., July 3.—Wm. Nendel left Tuesday morning for eastern Oregon, where he will remain until after harvest. James Archer is driving stage to Kingstons in his stead. Virgil H. Massey, of Amity, has associated himself with S. H. Helzel in the practice of law in Stayton and will remove his family to this place in the near future. Mr. Massey is well spoken of by his acquaintances, and he and S. H. will make a strong team. Leo Klecker arrived home Monday from California. He has received his discharge from the navy. C. E. Brown and family have gone to Newport, where they will spend several days rusticiating and enjoying the ocean breezes. C. B. Clark and family are now occupying the Lou Bestak house on Water street. Miss McElroy, of Hillsboro, is visiting at George E. Beedie's.

Miss Alma Nendel is assisting in the Gehlen store during the absence of Miss Streff. Tom Taylor has returned from his visit at Deep River, Wash. Quite a number from here will be in Salem this week to see Lieut Floyd Browne and his flying machine. Some also expect to fly with him. Lieutenant Browns spent some time as a resident of Stayton and many here are interested in his success.

M. Lynott, Mr. Williamson and others from Portland arrived in Stayton the first of the week in the interest of the railroad which is to be extended from Mt. Angel through this place to Bend, in eastern Oregon. This road would have been built sooner, but on account of the war the extension was held up by the government. E. C. Denney of Stayton has been assisting in securing right of way and everyone along the line is anxious to see it through. The building of this road will be a great benefit to Stayton, as it will insure the sawmill remaining and will give other industries an opportunity to take advantage of the excellent water power that is found here.

Alex Pollock and family of Idaho are visiting at H. N. Huntley's near Kingstons. He is a brother-in-law of Mr. Huntley and motored over into this valley to look over the country with a view of locating. He wants a large, well improved farm. Marshall Smith and a force of men have been busy several days re-shingling the city hall and are building a cement walk in front of it. The walk has long been a needed improvement. G. R. Thomas of Mill City is putting new shingle on the residence of W. H. Hobson and changing the front of the building. Stayton will be a lonesome town the 4th as most of our inhabitants will be in Salem, Albany, Silverton, the woods and elsewhere. The Stayton Light & Power company has built an extension on the front of the light plant building, is at work on a new flume and making other improvements. The company expects soon to have the plant arranged so that in case of an accident to one dynamo, another may be immediately put in use. J. M. English, who has been sick with diphtheria, is much better. No other members of the family have taken the disease.

REV. JOHN OVALL SPEAKS
An enthusiastic temperance meeting was held Sunday evening at the Temple Methodist church, Fifth and Grant, Rev. John Oval speaking as chairman and Carl W. Swanson as secretary. Speakers of the evening were: Mrs. A. J. Albring, representing the W. C. T. U.; August Cedercrans, representing the L. O. G. T., and Mrs. H. L. Sichel, representing the Y. W. C. A. The following is an extract from a resolution introduced by Carl W. Swanson and adopted at the meeting: "Now, therefore, be it resolved by this meeting assembled. That we favor a continuance of strict prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquors anywhere and everywhere in the United States; that we enter our solemn protest against the repeal of such prohibitory laws; that we solemnly protest against the repeal of the coadjucency prohibition act effective July 1, 1919, in face of such large sentiment as evidenced by the late state legislation and acts of congress; that we commend the county and city officers for their untiring efforts to enforce these most salutary laws."—Spokane Chronicle.

FRISCO BREWERIES
RUNNING FULL BLAST
Beer Containing 2.75 Per Cent Alcohol Is Being Manufactured.

San Francisco, July 3.—San Francisco breweries are today running full blast. They are manufacturing and selling 2.75 per cent beer. Thirteen Kearny street saloons opened today and began the sale of 2.75 per cent beer. United States District Attorney Annette Adams said she did not contemplate arrests under the dry law unless information of its violation was laid before her. She declared she had no means of gathering evidence against brewers or saloonmen unless private organizations or the department of justice did it. Department of justice heads here said they were not proceeding to arrest anyone because of lack of evidence of any violation of the dry law. Officers of the California wet federation said saloonmen would open their doors as usual, but would sell soft drinks. The saloons would be kept open, they declared, awaiting the president's general orders of demobilization, when war time prohibition would come to an end. Both federal officials and wets seemed to be still at sea on how far they could go or what they could do, but the wets changed the situation today by moving first, manufacturing beer and, in some saloons selling it.

Evidence Gathered
San Francisco, July 3.—All concrete evidence of manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer here will be referred to Attorney General Palmer for advice as to whether prosecutions shall follow. Annette Adams, United States district attorney announced today. She asked the cooperation of state, county and city officials and the general public in enforcement of the dry law. Sale of 2.75 per cent beer has been resumed by a large number of former saloons today. Many of these have taken out city refreshment licenses. All concerns so operating, however, are doing so at their own risk, as the wet federation has decided to support some of these cases until some specific ruling is made from Washington regarding the light beers and wines.
