CARTER PLANNED BIG ROBBERY IN 'FRISCO

Youth Who Held Up Haines Bank Confesses Other Intentions.

San Francisco, July 4.—(United Press.)—Lee Carter, held here on a charge of robbing the Bank of Haines, Oregon, planned to hold up the Bank of Italy here at 1 o'clock yesterday, according to detectives who say he made a confession.

"For a month I have been watching the Bank of Italy," Carter told the detectives, according to Captain Maheson. "I knew exactly how many employees were on the job every hour of the day. I was to have an automobile standing at Eddy and Mason streets. I would enter the Mason street door. If successful, I would have gone out the rear way and dodged into an uncompleted building a few doors below, and then getting into the automobile, I figured I could lose myself in the heavy Market street traffic."

Carter is held for Oregon authorities, following his confession that he robbed the Haines bank of $3000 and escaped after he made the employes swear on a bible not to give the alarm for 30 minutes.

His arrest came as a result of jealousy. He sought a warrant for a girl's arrest, alleging she deceived with his money. Police identified him as the Oregon suspect and Carter admitted the crimes.

CANADIAN THISTLE LAW RULING GIVEN

Judge Bushey Decides Districts Affected Must Organize For Aid.

In conference with district attorney Max Gehlar, Judge W. M. Bushey has construed the thistle law passed by the last legislature as follows:

That where Canadian thistles are found it will first be necessary to form a district where the thistles threaten to become a menace. This district may be of any size.

A petition is presented to the county court, signed by the owners of a majority of land in the district, asking that the thistle inspector appointed by the county court take action.

Then the man so appointed notifies the owner or renter of the land where the thistles were found that the same must be removed within ten days. If at the expiration of that time they are not removed, the thistle inspector is legally entitled to enter on the land, calling in help necessary, and to eradicate the thistles in the most effective manner without damage to the land.

The expense of so doing is then certified to the county clerk. If within 90 days the owner of the land does not appear and pay this expense, it becomes at once a lien upon the land and as a first lien excepting taxes. The district attorney is then empowered to sell the land for this lien.

In the case of no renters and the owner of the land is not known, three notices are posted on the land and then within 10 days the mode of procedure is the same as where the owner is known or the land rented.

Hence, as soon as a certain farm or district is known to be a menace from its Canadian thistles, the owners of a certain district which may be in any shape or size, must get together and file the petition with the county court. After this is done, the law will take its course and within a couple of weeks or more, either the owner of the land or the county court will have the thistles removed.

The county court must cut thistles on the highway, and it is made the duty of the patrolman to have them removed.

CLASH ON ESCH BILL IN SENATE FORSEEN

Contest Over Control Of Water Power Sites Is Expected Soon.

Washington, July 4.—(United Press.)—Senate advocates of legislation enabling the government to control water power sites, and those who oppose such control, are expected to clash soon in debate over the Esch bill. The situation is:

The Esch bill has been passed by the house and is before the senate. It creates a federal power commission, composed of the secretaries of war, interior and agriculture, and contains provisions which would enable the government to control power concerns seeking to monopolize streams for generating current. The power commission is authorized to issue fifty-year revocable licenses covering every activity of such power companies.

Senators LaFollette, Jones, of Washington, and other progressives urge the legislation. Conservatives, however, assert such restrictions would discourage capital. The opposition will probably be led by Senator Smoot, Utah. This is the first time the water power control bill has come up for action in the senate so early in the session and the prospects for a vote on it are considered good.

GERVAIS NEWS

Mrs. H. D. Mars received a message Wednesday from Monrovia, California, saying that her mother was at the point of death and she left Wednesday evening on the 9:26 train at Woodburn.

Gervais was well represented at the ball game at Mt. Angel Sunday between Gervais and Mt. Angel and from reports the game was quite interesting, the score being 5 to 3 in favor of Gervais.

Mr. Sylvester Souza and Miss Susie Williams, both of Portland, were united in marriage by Father Srochki Wednesday morning at the Catholic church under dispensation from the archbishop.

An event of unusual significance will be the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Gottfried Schindler, which will take place at the Gervais Catholic church Sunday morning, July 6, at 9 o'clock, after which there will be a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schindler.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hecker are the happy parents of a bouncing baby boy, born to them at the Willamette Sanitarium in Salem Wednesday night by Caesarian operation performed by Dr. H. O. Hickman of Gervais. This case is most remarkable from the fact that Mrs. Hecker was in labor pains when the doctor arrived at their home, and she was taken to the hospital in his automobile at 40 miles an hour speed.—Star.

PORTLAND LIVESTOCK REVIEW

Portland, Or., July 4.—There was something like 55 loads of cattle on the market yesterday. The majority of them being cows. While this is not an exceptionally heavy run, everybody was very heavily loaded with cattle from last week. There were a few cattle sold early in the morning at fairly good prices, but the market slacked off during the day until cattle sold from 50c to 75c a hundred lower than last Monday and there were quite a few cattle held over that they were unable to sell.

There was one load of nice little steers that sold at $10.75, also one load of strictly prime cows and heifers sold at 7c early in the morning. It would have been impossible to have gotten more than $10.25 and $8.25 for these cattle later on the day. It does not look like the cattle market has reached the bottom yet.

We quote strictly prime steers, $9.50 to $10.50; good steers, $8.50 to $9.50; fair steers, $8.00 to $8.50; common steers

$7.00 to $8.00; strictly prime cows, $8 to $8.50; good cows, $7.50 to $8.00; fair cows, $6.50 to $7.50; common cows, $5 to $6.50; causers $3.00 to $4.00.

There was another light run of hogs and the hog market was very strong with top hogs selling at 21c; bulk of sales on the open market, $29.75 to $31.00.

The sheep market is a little weaker as there seems to be quite a few sheep showing up. While there is no change in the market, strictly prime lambs selling at $13.50; good yearlings sold at $9, and good ewes sold as high as $8, they are a little hard to sell, and unless they slack up a little with shipments they are liable to go a little lower.

DISPOSED OF BABY

Richmond, Ind., July 5.—Grand jury investigation of the two-day old babe found on the city dump was assured today on the filing of the coroner's report. Coroner Bond severely arraigned Dr. P. W. Krueger who admitted he threw the infant down a sixty foot embankment onto the dump. Dr. Krueger had characterized the baby as a "monstrosity" and said he disposed of it in this manner at the request of the parents.

The report said the child died twelve hours after it was found on the dump and that death was due to criminal neglect of the attending physician.

The last of the American forces at Archangel, with the exception of General W. P. Richardson and a small detachment of headquarters troops, have embarked for Brest.
