Salem auto dealers and speed fiends will take to themselves more elation and satisfaction over the fact that it has been demonstrated that the rubber tired vehicle is beating the railroads over the route from the Willamette valley to Newport, and garage men at both ends of the line are profiting by it. The one train service to Yaquina Bay consumes four hours and a half, besides the 40 minutes taken for transfer to Newport, and the autos not only beat this in time but beat the price under the present administration rates.

Non-residents are permitted without payment of fee to operate their motor vehicles in California for a period of 90 days, but within 10 days must obtain a permit by registering. Without their receipt they may be inconvenienced and embarrassed unless they have a good friend of the California State Automobile association to vouch for them."

The new crop of clover, mixed grain and chert hay will open at from $15 to $17 a ton, Harley O. White said this morning. Very little has been offered as yet, as the haling process has just begun. Mr. White called attention to the fact that this time last year, the opening price was $22 a ton. This rather radical difference in price he attributed to the fact that the crop is about twice as large as one year ago and then there is the automobile, tractor and truck side of the question. Motor transportation is about putting the horse out of business and the hay stock will be for only cattle and dairy herds. In the valley there is not the demand for hay there was a year ago as many farmers have sold their cattle and many dairy interests have sold their herds and the stock of cattle in the valley is far less than it was one year ago.

A member of the police force compares the Salem celebration yesterday with the same sort of event in the good old days, observing that with all the thousands on the streets there is a beat nothing for the force to do in the line of disorderly conduct. Not an arrest was made on this score, and there was not even an automobile accident of any moment. In the days of the open town he stated that there wouldn't have been sitting room in the jail for all the disorderlies brought in.

Webster's Unabridged gives three distinct meanings to the word "dam." Very few of the film stars who have appeared in Salem have shown such a range of versatility as Dorothy Phillips. She has taken leading parts in "Mary Jane's Pa," "Every Woman," "Pilate's Daughter," and other great productions. In "The Hearts of Humanity" she was Nanette, the innocent child of the northwoods. In "Helf Morgan's Girl" she was a creature of the dance hall. In "Destiny," the fine Jewel production which appears at the Oregon tonight only, she appears successively as a young school girl in pig tails, a gay young society woman in New York and an enterprising "farmorette." And she lives up to every one of the roles. William Stowell, who had a prominent part in "The Heart of Humanity," is the leading man in support of Miss Phillips in "Destiny."

While the government's official thermometer managed to reach only up to the 82 mark yesterday, there was a general feeling that the day was about the warmest Fourth ever experienced in the city for many a year. And this is borne out by the official records. But while 82 degrees above was the maximum in most places in this part of the valley, in the larger cities of the central states and Atlantic coast it was all the way from 100 to 110, and the government's record is generally several degrees lower than that of the streets or in the business districts.

The shoe market, the leather market and the price of half soles are going up and then some. This said announcement comes from several of the leading shoe stores and there seems to be no doubt about it. Men's shoes the price has advanced from $2 to $3 a pair the past two months and the tendency is upward in women's wear. It now costs as much for a pair of half soles as an average pair of shoes did four years ago. The general opinion is that the leather trust is doing the fancy work of pushing prices of leather up, but regardless of who does it, the sad fact is that everything from shoelaces and shoe buttons to high grade shoes are going to cost a lot more within a few weeks.

Roy T. Wiest, brother of Alderman W. A. Wiest, was drowned yesterday at Estacada, in the mill pond of the Portland Railway, Light and Power company while working. Word of the drowning was received late yesterday by Alderman Wiest, he left at once for Portland. Roy T. Wiest was 27 years old and besides his father and brother is survived by a sister, Miss Ada Wiest, living in Portland.

J. A. Smith of Aumsville has been reading about fancy prices paid for hogs and some special records. He comes forward now as the champion hog raiser. His record is as follows: Brought 12 head of hogs to the market here weighing 3500 pounds and they were only 7 1/2 months old. He got the top market price two weeks ago and a little added for quality, which figured up $18.85 a hundred.

A consolation prize for those who did not win but who entered the baby contest yesterday, has been offered by the U. S. National bank. All that is necessary will be to bring the proper registration card.

All was quiet at the police station during the Fourth. Two children were reported lost, but they were afterwards reported found. One automobile was stolen, that of a Chevrolet belonging to Milton Gralapp, its number is 38, 916 and it was stolen on Liberty street between Court and Chemeketa.

At a sheriff's sale held this morning, part of block 11 in Myers addition to the city of Salem was sold to Weller Bros. for $100 the amount of the mortgage on the lot. Besides the $100 loan on the lot, there was taxed up against it $50 for attorney's fees, $20.99 for taxes, $28.50 for costs and $22 for advertising and other expense.
