GIANT AIRSHIP TO START BACK TO ENGLAND EARLY TOMORROW, BELIEF

Dirigible R-34 Descends at Mineola 108 Hours After Starting; Flies 3,200 Miles In All.

By W. R. Hargraves
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Mineola, L. I., July 7.—The British dirigible R-34, which completed a trans-Atlantic flight yesterday, will start on her return trip at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, if conditions are favorable.

The work of overhauling and refueling the airship was rushed during the night and was still in progress this morning. The belief prevailed that if this work were completed late this afternoon the return flight might be started at once, providing weather conditions were favorable. One of the officers on duty during the night admitted the possibility of starting late today instead of waiting until an hour before dawn tomorrow, but said that final decision in this regard naturally would rest with Major G. H. Scott, commander.

More than 800 men assisted in lifting the R-34 to a landing yesterday and they remained on duty all night, in relays of 250. This system will continue.

3200 Miles Covered.
The R-34 completed its landing at Roosevelt Field at 9:35 yesterday morning, following a flight officially set at 3130 miles, in 108 hours and 12 minutes. Major Scott estimated, however, that because of the devious course followed she covered fully 3200 miles, making her average speed 29 1/2 knots an hour.

The big airship arrived here under her own power, largely through a lucky shift in the direction of the wind. She encountered stiff head winds and an electrical storm over the Bay of Fundy late Saturday and was running short of fuel. Major Scott decided to run for Boston and asked the United States navy to send aid.

Early yesterday, however, the wind suddenly shifted while the craft was north of Cape Cod and Major Scott decided to attempt to make Montauk, L. I. He sent a wireless message to that effect and mechanics were rushed to Montauk from Roosevelt Field. The R-34 reached Montauk at 7 a. m., but the wind still held good and there was

Unknown Men In Gray Car Shoot Nightwatchman Without Warning.

McMinnville, Or., July 7.—Jeff Clark, nightwatchman of this city, was shot through the city by auto. They were in a light-colored automobile and had stopped under the trees near the city hall. One man stood on the walk and three men were in the automobile.

A woman in a nearby residence heard the remark, "Here he comes." As Clark approached the men asked him the road to Tillamook. He told them and they immediately told him to hold up his hands. He did so and the man on the outside shot him through the wrist with a shotgun. Clark ran in the direction of the city hall, and 12 other shots were fired at him, both with shotgun and revolver. Clark's hat was shot through twice and his coat once, as he ran, and many shot lodged in the wall of the city hall. Clark ran to the Hotel Yamhill, where his arm was found so badly shattered that it had to be amputated. He describes the man who did the shooting as being dressed in a brown suit and cap. Another man was shot and dressed in a light suit.

The party at once left, going in the direction of the bridge leading to Dayton. The presumption is that they were drunk and perhaps were transporting liquor and were fearing arrest. The city has offered a reward of $500 for the apprehension of the parties and evidence leading to conviction.

LEADING STORES ALL JOIN IN BARGAIN DAY

Big Annual Merchandising Event To Be Held Here Next Saturday.

Next Saturday, July 12, is now the date decided upon for the third annual Bargain Day in Salem.

With 25 or more of the leading stores in the city offering specials for the one day, it will be almost impossible for one to dodge bargains.

In fact, in every leading store in the city, there is to be presented specials at a time when the market price on all lines of merchandise is advancing.

And not only advancing and costing more, but hard to find in the wholesale markets.

The traveling man is sort of an independent man now-a-days. He feels he is almost doing a store a favor by accepting an order from the business man who is doing his best to keep his stocks up. Goods are scarce.

And yet the wide awake business men of the city have established Bargain Day as an annual event and next Saturday there will be some pretty keen rivalry among merchants in offering bargains that are genuine money savers. Saturday is to be a day of cooperative bargaining giving.

With cotton selling at 34 cents a pound, wool at 58, shoes going higher, hardware and groceries looking upward for higher prices, and the High Cost of Living sitting firm in the saddle, there is to be given those who come to Salem next Saturday a chance to even up a little. The opportunity to go into 25 or 30 stores and find bargains on the same day is for next Saturday on.

The following progressive merchants

WILSON TO DELIVER TREATY ON THURSDAY

Senate Alone To Receive Message; Hot Summer Session Looms.

Washington, July 7.—(United Press.)—President Wilson will present the league of nations covenant and the peace treaty to an open session of the senate alone at 12:15 p. m. Thursday, it was announced today at the White House.

There had been some talk of him addressing a joint session of the house and senate, but this will not be done. The senate and not the house has the power to ratify the treaty.

By L. C. Martin
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, July 7.—After a Fourth of July lull, Washington began to liven up today with return of many congressmen for resumption of work tomorrow, and the making of final preparations for President Wilson's arrival tomorrow night.

Congress is about to plunge into what is expected to be one of the most strenuous summer sessions ever known.

In the house work and days will clash in a sharp but probably short struggle over prohibition enforcement legislation. In the senate the first half of the week will see skirmishing preliminary to the battle which begins Thursday with presentation of the peace treaty and league of nations covenant by President Wilson.

League Issue Lived.

The greatest activity was displayed today by league advocates and opponents alike. Senator Robinson and Senator Fletcher, democrats, declared attacks on the league misguided. Robinson said America's sovereignty is not threatened in any way. Fletcher declared the covenant should be adopted unamended. Article ten in particular

WORKERS IN TACOMA OPEN MOONEY STRIKE

Todd Shipyards Run With Half Crew And Close Gates On Others.

Tacoma, Wash., July 7.—The first big demonstration in the Mooney strike in Tacoma came at 7 o'clock this morning when 3000 shipyard workers employed in the Todd steel shipyards refused to go to work on the first work day since the strike was called.

The workers, all carrying their lunch pails, go as far as Eleventh and A street, where the municipal cars leave for the yards and then stopped after the Tacoma Mooney Defense committee had started a demonstration.

Workers who braved the crowd and went to work were hooded.

The Todd yards at 9 o'clock reported that 50 per cent of the workers were on the job and that the gates were closed to the remainder.

There was much grumbling among many of the workers. The report went broadcast that as the result of the strike action the Todd Construction & Drydock company would close down the big plant for 60 days and after that re-open on an "open shop" basis.

500,000 Claimed Out

San Francisco, July 7.—Half a million workers are on strike throughout the nation today in protest for a retrial for Thomas Mooney, according to the International Workers Defense League.

HINDENBURG MAY TESTIFY TO SAVE DEPOSED KAISER

Allies May Call Germany's Former Army Head For Defense Witness.

NO FORMAL DEMAND AS YET MADE ON HOLLAND

Wilhelm Said To Be Undisturbed Over Prospect Of Formal Trial.

London, July 7.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg may be brought to London to testify in defense of the former Kaiser, the Daily Sketch reported today.

It also was said that a number of U-boat captains and the slayers of Edith Cavell and Captain Fryatt were expected to arrive at the Tower of London in a few days.

The former Kaiser professes to be undisturbed Sunday over the decision to bring him to trial. According to the Daily Mail's correspondent at Amsterdam he spent the day with the Kaiser in reading periodicals in the castle grounds.

On Saturday he saved his six thousandth tree, striving to realize his ambition of 10,000 before fall.

Guards at the castle grounds were busy today keeping off visitors.

King George has not yet received the alleged offer of surrender from Wilhelm's sons to be tried in their father's stead.

The Rotterdam correspondent of the Daily News declared today that the Dutch hope for American support if they refuse extradition of the ex-Kaiser on the grounds of traditional asylum for exiles.

The Dutch prince consort, visiting at Borneo, was interviewed by the Daily News correspondent. He was quoted as saying:

German Request Waited.

"We have given our hospitality and cannot meddle in these things. Germany has signed an undertaking to deliver the former emperor. If Germany makes demands on us we will be obliged to yield."

It was expected today that the government would be bombarded with questions in the house of commons this afternoon with regard to the trial of the ex-emperor. Reports from French and American sources, indicating that Premier Lloyd-George's announcement was a complete surprise, have stirred up both parliament and public.

In the meantime, a warm controversy was developing over the expediency of the trial. Sir Henry Dalmiel announced today he would ask whether communications had passed yet between Holland and the allies with regard to extradition. If they had he said, he wanted to know the results.

Dutch Remain Silent

The Hague, July 7.—The Dutch government flatly refused to issue a statement on its position in the event the allies demand extradition of the former Kaiser. The press and public do not believe such a demand is to be expected.

END OF PHONE STRIKE BELIEVED TO BE NEAR

Terms Of Settlement Are Expected From Washington Tuesday.

Portland, Or., July 7.—The report was circulated at telephone strike headquarters here today that a settlement of both the operators and electrical workers strikes is practically assured.

The report was based on news which is said to have been received from San Francisco, coast headquarters for the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company.

San Francisco, July 7.—Confident that a settlement will be reached tomorrow in the coast-wide telephone workers' strike, the central strike committee is today expecting momentarily from Washington terms of the settlement as approved by the postoffice department. These will be submitted to the strikers at mass meetings tomorrow for acceptance or rejection.

The compromise follows a consideration of the offers here on the coast by a committee representing the Union's international officers, the postoffice department and telephone company heads. This conference was held in Washington.

R-34 BRINGS FIRST AIR ROUTE NEWS STORIES ACROSS ATLANTIC

MURDERER ASKS TO SEE VICTIM'S BODY

Harry New Admits He Killed Girl Because She Refused Him.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 7.—Harry S. New, confidently expecting United States Harry S. New of Indianapolis, whom he claims is his father, to come to his assistance, pleaded with the police today to be allowed to see the dead body of Miss Frieda Lesser, the pretty girl whom he admits killing in dark Topanga canyon Friday night—twenty-four hours before they were to be married.

He will be permitted to view the remains of his dead sweetheart as soon as the inquest, which is scheduled for tomorrow, is over, the police said.

Increasing nervousness characterized New's attitude in the last 24 hours and fears are entertained by the police that he might attempt suicide. For that reason a guard is being held in his cell night and day. Reports that he had attempted to beat out his brain against the bars of the cell yesterday were denied by the police, who were with him throughout the day.

One change, which may have striking influence on the outcome of the case, was made by New yesterday in his story. Detectives after a half hour's close questioning of New, announced that New said he shot Miss Lesser, not because she was about to become a mother and proposed to undergo an illegal operation, but because she had refused to marry him.

His signed statement, made Saturday morning, however, still gives the motive of the murder the alleged desire to prevent the strain of such an operation in the name of the girl whom he intended to marry.

If New persists in the elimination of the first motive for the crime, the question of the girl's condition, police say, will be determined more to satisfy relation.

TONIGHT'S COUNCIL MEETING POSTPONED

Absentees And Vacancies Make Session Impossible Tonight.

Although the city's affairs are attended to by one mayor and his councilmen, they are a pretty scarce article in town just now. So much so that the regular meeting for this evening has been postponed.

Fred J. Smith of the first ward has his resignation in his pocket, as he is no longer a resident of the ward. Dr. P. L. Utter of the second ward is attending a dentists' convention in Portland. The third ward has no representative as Otto J. Wilson is now mayor and J. S. Austin is in California.

The fifth ward is short one alderman since the resignation of C. M. Roberts. The sixth ward has but one alderman in town as J. S. McClelland is absent. The seventh ward has but one alderman since the resignation of Ralph Thompson.

Walter F. Buckner will probably be elected alderman for the first ward, succeeding Fred J. Smith as soon as eight aldermen and one mayor can assemble. Gerald Volk, a retired newspaper man, formerly owner of the Dallas Observer will be presented as alderman on the recommendation of Edward Schunke.

For the seventh ward, two names will come before the council, George F. Halvorson, recently elected school director, and Elmer Dune. As soon as the eight aldermen and mayor can get together this week, all vacancies for aldermen will be filled. Just at present the city is getting along with the following aldermen in town: Scott, Johnson, Sinner, Moore Schunke, Wiest and Vanderfort.

Dirigible Brings Copy of Interview With Howard Coffin Declaring Feasibility of Air Mail Route.

London, June 30.—(By Airship across the Atlantic.) The "copy and pictures in this envelope are the first regular news matter ever sent across the Atlantic by air mail.

Through the courtesy of the United States navy and the British air ministry, they were placed aboard the R-34 a few hours before it cut loose from Scotland.

Lieutenant Commander Zachary Lansdowne, U. S. N., the only American aboard the British air dreadnaught, personally took charge of the package. A United Press representative carried it from the London bureau of the United Press and handed it to Commander Lansdowne at the British air station. The incident forecasts a new epoch in practical journalism. It represents the first application of a new method of news dissemination, which in a few years will be one of the accepted practices of newspaperdom on both sides of the Atlantic.

The importance of this in future journalistic possibilities is patent. It proves the feasibility of promptly supplying a reader on the other side of the ocean not only with bare facts, but with photographs assisting him to visualize what he is reading. Pressed tightly in the envelope against the sheets of an interview with Howard E. Coffin, is a picture of Coffin, with the American edition of picture and story is an old edition commission in London. Coordination in local fields of journalism. London, June 30.—(By airship across the Atlantic.)—"An aerial mail from England to America, which, I believe, within two or three years, will grow into a frequent and dependable transoceanic traffic began with the voyage of the R-34 to Long Island," Howard E. Coffin, council of national defense member of the aviation commission, declared to the United Press here today.

In an interview which has the distinction of being the first regular news story ever carried across the Atlantic by airship, Coffin forecast that peace

Radical Movement, Result Steadily Increased Prices Spreading Fast Over Italy

Rome, July 7.—A radical movement was spreading in Italy today. According to the latest advice, organizations of socialists, syndicalists, anarchists and labor and political agitators here were leading the movement and were inviting other towns to join.

The Italian government, in an official communique, has warned the people against the work of elements "which are endeavoring to transform the economic agitation into a political movement."

Such action would deprive Italy of the fruits of victory, stated the communique declaring political agitation would be severely repressed.

Cabinet Considers Action.

At the same time, it was announced that the government had granted full power to the provincial and municipal authorities to enforce maximum prices. The cabinet met yesterday for further consideration of the situation.

Following the cabinet meeting, the government announced a determined and vigorous policy destined to influence immediately the cost of living. Profiteers and hoarders, it was asserted, would be punished severely.

The government will supervise directly the regulation of prices and distribution of necessities. It also was decided to intensify importations from abroad. A national association composed of experts will be formed to carry on distribution under government supervision.

Special civilian organizations in many towns had begun today to usurp the power of the municipalities and were fixing prices and issuing orders relating to commercial life.
