

A Free Book About Preserving Every Housewife Should Have

Even Beginners
Can be Sure of Success by Following its Suggestions

Good preserving is now very easy. Most of your preserving difficulties have come from using sugar alone.

Make your preserving syrup with 1/2 Karo (Red Label) and 1/2 sugar—and you can be sure of your results.

You can always count on good, clear jams and jellies with this recipe—and you can be sure that they will not grow tough or "candied" in the glass.

This fine, clear Karo Syrup has a natural affinity for the fruit juices. It blends the sugar with the fruit and brings out the full "fruity" flavor.

For Cooking, Baking and Candy Making Karo (Red Label) is used in millions of homes. In all cooking and baking recipes use Karo instead of sugar. It is sweet, of delicate flavor, and brings out the natural flavor of the food.

FREE A real cook book including recipes for sure results in preserving, everybody appreciates. Sixty-eight pages handsomely illustrated. Write us today. The book is free.

WILLARD VICTIM OF EGOTISM IN FIGHT

Big Kansan "Cocky" States Hamilton—Dempsey To Meet Meehan.

By H. C. Hamilton (United Press staff correspondent)
New York, July 7.—The popular indoor sport, following the accession of Jack Dempsey to the throne of world's heavyweight champion, is passing out sympathy to Jess Willard because the big Kansan was not in condition.

Nothing could be further overdrawn. Willard was in as good condition as at any time in his life. He was a victim of his egotism, which exposed him to the rapid fire of greater punching than he ever before had faced. He treated Dempsey in the first round as though he expected his challenger to be awed by the presence of a champion.

To say that Willard was not in condition would be to ignore the fact that he was knocked down six times in the first round by blows, any one of which would have stopped an ordinary man. He was able to walk to his corner after each round and from the ring after the battle.

Willard not "Yellow"
Willard has been greatly criticized for his failure to come to scratch in the fourth round. He has been called yellow, but he wasn't. Willard, not being a fighter, could not understand why he should be expected to take any more punches. He had been beaten sufficiently to make him realize that he could not retain the championship. His face was smashed. His wife was in the arena. Friends were there. He wanted to save them further agony.

Willard's action, however, it may be said, was a good thing for boxing. Too many enemies of the game eagerly watch for bloody encounters to hold up before the public as reasons for calling a halt to pugilism.

Dempsey's next bout probably will be with Willie Meehan, who holds a four round decision over him and then there probably will be a great championship affair between Joe Beckett, the Britisher, and the new champion, for few persons doubt that Beckett will defeat Georges Carpentier for the European title.

In the meantime he will have a round of circling or theatrical work.

Meehan is Willing
San Francisco, July 7.—Willie Meehan is ready to meet Champion Jack Dempsey any old place, in any length bout, the local heavyweight stated today, following announcement that Dempsey has been offered $30,000 to meet Meehan at Atlantic City. Meehan, claims a four round decision over Dempsey, who, he declares is champion only because Jack Kearns picked him up and nursed him along.

HOW THEY SERVE MINT JELL.

Roast lamb has always called for mint sauce. That meant buying fresh mint and making a sauce. And often it was forgotten.

A culinary expert says that the modern way is to use Mint Jiffy-Jell. The Jiffy-Jell comes in powder form and is green. A sealed vial in the package contains the mint flavor—an extract from fresh mint leaves.

Add boiling water to the Jiffy-Jell. Then add the mint flavor from the vial. Let the jell cool in a single mold, or in individual molds. The result is a green jell rich in fresh mint flavor, to serve with roast lamb or cold meats. Mint Jiffy-Jell can be kept on hand. And a package makes a pint of mint jell at a cost of 12 1/2 cents. It is said that housewives who once try it will abandon old style mint sauce.

ed, for in their view it would not be legal. It is not expected here that extradition will be granted, as Dutch treaty and the Dutch law forbid such action, and the government has stated frequently that it will act according to law and treaty.

Formal Demand Pending
London, July 7.—Andrew Bonar Law, spokesman for the government, announced in the house of commons today that no formal representations had yet been made to Holland with regard to extradition of the former Kaiser. He added, however, that steps were being taken in that direction.

The French treaty, Borah said, is a

"Income from this alone would virtually cover operating expenses—once a line was established.
"Personally, I expect the first fleet of passenger-liners to be seaplanes rather than dirigibles. Owing to the great cost of constructing dirigibles, I doubt whether capitalists, at first, will want to risk such large sums in initial outlay when they can draw fine profits from airplanes, carrying 25 to 30 persons and costing comparatively little to build and less to operate.

Another traced the course of the Mississippi. A third connected Cleveland, Buffalo and Washington, D. C. The fourth skirted the Atlantic coast and a possible fifth supplied the Mississippi valley along the base of the Rockies.

"One of the most important services they will perform will be transporting money," he added. "Now, several days' interest must accumulate before a check deposited in New York can be cleared in Kansas City. On large sums the interest lost in this interval is astonishing."

"Bankers tell me an air express from New York to Kansas City, through Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago would pay for itself just in money saved in interest."
"In the case of trans-Atlantic traffic, the interest margin would be cut beween 500 and 700 per cent. This would go a long way toward defraying cost of maintenance, but, of course, the trans-Atlantic operating expenses are proportionately much heavier."

"The real explanation of this treaty is that Clemenceau demanded the alliance for his support of the league, and we traded with him," Borah said.

Mrs. Shepherd was given back her maiden name of Clevia Sixarth.

BACK FROM FRANCE

Sergeant Benjamin F. Pettinger arrived at his home in this city Saturday evening after being mustered out at Camp Lewis and visiting in Washington a few days. Serkt. Pettinger was with the 318th engineers and saw considerable action, being on to fronts and in the army of occupation. Ben says the American officers are considered in about the same class as the German officers, that the French officers are the best liked, but personally he didn't care for the French. He, like the rest, is very much pleased at being out of it and says there will be no more foreign shores for him. He brought home several souvenirs and is anxious to get back to work.—Woodburn Independent.
