Twelve Prominent Seattle Men Indicted As Result Of Disappearance Of Liquor

Seattle, Wash., July 14.—Prosecutors here were preparing today to push to the limit cases against twelve prominent men indicted Saturday afternoon by the grand jury investigating the disappearance of 864 quarts of whiskey from the county-city building on the night of June 4.

Superior Judge Clay Allen, former speaker of the house of representatives, W. W. Conner, Charles Heifetz, former chairman of the state democratic committee, Dr. H. C. Lyons, Dr. Frederick G. Nichols and the seven others named by the grand jury were silent today as they prepared for defense.

With the return of the indictments the grand jury filed a "partial report," in which Sheriff John Stringer is criticized sharply for alleged carelessness in the handling of the whisky which precipitated the calling of the grand jury.

"I'd rather be indicted a dozen times over than have such a report made on me personally," Sheriff Stringer commented. "It practically estranges me of stealing a lot of whisky. The report doesn't even ask me what became of the Remagen whisky but leaves the mystery high and dry."

Unused Logs Of Spruce Division Are Sold Today

Portland, Or., July 14.—All of the logs cut by the spruce production corporation and left floating in the Columbia river were sold today to the Multnomah Lumber & Box company by the government corporation. There were 36,000,000 feet, of which 33,000,000 were spruce. The figure was in excess of 400,000,000 and was an advance on the market price. F. A. Doney is president of the Multnomah company. The logs are located between Astoria and Portland.

STATE HOUSE NEWS

Attorney General Brown is in receipt of a communication from S. O. Correll, of Baker, secretary of the Oregon Cattle and Horse Raisers Association charging that many district attorneys of the state are neglecting to enforce the law prohibiting the shipment of cattle across the state before they have passed inspection. In reply the attorney general points out that the district attorneys are handicapped by the fact that the law does not apply to consignments of cattle that may be driven from one part of the state to another. In this respect it is imperative.

Governor Elliott has recently appointed Arthur Beridge of Portland, as a member of the State Board of Accountancy to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. R. McKenzie, also of Portland.

In addition to the telegrams that have gone to the Oregon delegation at Washington from Mayor Baker, Portland, as well as other prominent business and public men Governor Elliott has sent the following night letter to each member with regard to the telephone strike situation.

"At a number of points in Oregon telephone service is very bad, due to difficulties between employees and the employing companies. The state board of conciliation has endeavored to adjust the difficulties, but lacks authority to attain concrete results. Any effort on your part to aid in an amicable adjustment of the difficulty would be sincerely appreciated."

COURT HOUSE NEWS

In the injunction proceedings brought by the Salem Kings Products company against J. W. Lafollette, the court granted the injunction asked for. This requires Mr. Lafollette to deliver to the company at 25 cents, but the company is ordered to place on deposit with the county clerk, as Mr. Lafollette delivers, the difference between 54 cents and the market price of 9 cents. Then at the close of the season, the case will be tried on its merits. If Mr. Lafollette wins, he gets the money. If not, the Salem Kings Products gets it.

In the case of Henschbach & Son vs J. L. Van Doren for work done and materials furnished on a Ford truck, the court decided in favor of the plaintiffs. Mr. Van Doren can now pay the amount asked, $532.00, with an extra $15 attorney's bill, or the truck will be sold on the lien for the amount already placed against it.

In the case of Clyde Harris against the Salem Kings Products company, the defendant answers, admitting the 1917 contract, admitting the clause was attached as to future prices whereas the company was to pay Harris as much as it paid others, admitting that the present market price is 9 cents, but denying in general all other allegations.

The suit of F. B. Bromley against L. H. McFadden has been dismissed for want of prosecution.

The final account of Charles Hartman, as executor of the estate of John Hartman, deceased, has been approved by the county court.

The circuit court in Judge George G. Bingham's department is in session this week. This afternoon, there was heard the arguments in the case of Penn versus the State accident commission. July 15 is dated for the divorce case of Turnidge against Turnidge. July 16 there will be heard in the morning the case of Chapter vs Allen, and in the afternoon that of Borchheimer vs Borchheimer, a divorce case. For July 17, there is set Longview, Texas, July 14.—Fourteen white citizens of Gregg county were arrested by state rangers this afternoon, charged with assault with intent to kill in connection with last week's and Sunday's race riots. No names were made public.

BARGAIN DAY BRINGS HUNDREDS TO SALEM

Success Of Merchandising Event Evident In Big Sales Recorded.

Bargain Day in Salem, last Saturday, was one of the busiest days ever experienced by the merchants in Salem. This seems to be the universal opinion of all who displayed the Bargain Day cards. The publicity given the day brought hundreds of people from distant points, all attracted by the special offerings.

Almost without exception, merchants did a regular land office business. In most of the stores, it began early and continued steadily throughout the day.

"The biggest business we ever had in one day" is the general expression when asked as to how things were in a business line Saturday.

This expression came not only from the stores that have been in business just a few years, but from those that have been going through special sales for the past 10 or 15 years.

Another special feature noted was the fact that fully one half of the trade came from people who do not make it a business to come to Salem to do their trading. But the story from day to day of what the merchants really intended to offer, even with an advancing market, brought them to the city.

There is a generally expressed opinion that cooperative advertising for a sale in July and possibly in January or February pays, not only from a business standpoint for special offerings, but to bring to the city distant trade that has not as yet become acquainted with the Salem merchants. Anyhow, a number of stores broke the record Saturday.

SPRUCE PRODUCERS IN NORTHWEST ACCUSED

Washington, July 14.—Charges of waste and profiteering in the production of spruce from Pacific forests for army airplanes were ready for presentation to the house committee investigating war department expenditure, by the Providence (R. I.) Journal today.

Affidavits were prepared purporting to show that under the department's cost-plus plan, the government paid $650 a thousand feet for spruce which private concern secured for $30 to $175 a thousand.

Other charges prepared by the Journal were: Hundreds of miles of two-inch plank road were built into isolated forests and never used.

Supplies were carelessly thrown into a mud hole and stoves were left in the open and ruined.

Lumber inspectors influenced army of officers by "wild parties."

Out of 21,000 feet of spruce delivered to a Massachusetts factory, inspectors passed only 400 feet.

Several camps were started with large numbers of men and then suddenly abandoned.

OLCOTT ADDS VOICE TO PROTEST ON TAX

Governor Urges Congressmen To Oppose Levy On Logan Juice.

Supplementing the efforts of the Portland chamber of commerce to secure the repeal of the 10 per cent tax on loganberry juice, Governor OLCOTT has today forwarded to each member of the Oregon delegation the following message:

"After the expenditure of many hundreds of thousands of dollars progressive citizens of the state of Oregon have developed an industry of international importance out of the uses of products of the loganberry. Oregon is receiving not only hundreds of thousands of dollars annually for her citizens through the development of these products, but has secured advantages of almost incalculable value through the wonderful system of national and international publicity which has grown out of the loganberry business.

"Congress has assessed a ten per cent tax against the gross selling price of loganberry juice. Rail rates on glass bottles, as well as on the finished product have increased materially during the past few years and the life of the industry is threatened. What promises to be one of the night-light industries ever originated on the Pacific coast may be throttled practically in its infancy unless some relief is afforded.

"As governor of the state may I ask you to use your most earnest efforts to assist in removing the tax which may force this industry to the wall? The tax in itself means but little to the federal government, but the industry, to Oregon, is one of such magnitude as to deserve the most decided effort to save it from destruction."

CHURCHILL RETURNS FROM N.E.A. MEETING

School Superintendent Enthusiastic Over Milwaukee Session.

Superintendent J. A. Churchill returned yesterday from Milwaukee where he has been in attendance upon the sessions of the National Educational association, which he characterizes as one of the most important as well as largest meetings in the history of the organization. Oregon had thirteen representatives present, among them County Superintendent, Alderson of Multnomah, Mrs. Jennie Richardson, president of the Portland Grade Teachers association; George B. Thomas of the Portland school board and E. H. Whitney, assistant superintendent of Multnomah.

Mr. Churchill states that some of the most important problems now before the educators of the country were brought up and exhaustively discussed in the meeting. Among them was the matter of vocational education, which is occupying the center of the stage in public interest throughout the nation.

Much discussion was also given the matter of Americanization, the county school unit of administration and the elimination of illiteracy. On this latter phase some astounding figures were presented as to the number of illiterates and their influence upon social and labor conditions.

The association went on record unanimously in favor of the federal education department as provided in the Smith-Towner bill, and also endorsed the minimum salary of $1900 for grade teachers.

Superintendent Alderson was made the Oregon representative on the board of directors, while the state of Washington was honored with the presidency in the person of Mrs. Josephine Preston, superintendent of that state.

R-34 Lais On Farm Of Portland Man Near London

Portland, Or., July 14.—The R-34, when it completed its round trip to the British Isles, landed on the farm of a Portland man, H. T. Witham today described how the farm of his boyhood days in England has been converted into a huge landing place of 300 acres of dirigibles. Aerodromes 700 feet long, built of steel, have been set up there.

Shipping Board Offer Of Increased Wages Refused

New York, July 14.—The United States shipping board's offer of a $10 monthly increase in wages and an eight hour day while in port, was rejected by the striking seamen this afternoon.

The Marine Firemen, Water Tenders and Oilers Union announced it would not consider the offer unless it included the demand for a day of three shifts instead of two.

Shipping board officials declared it was impossible to operate with three shifts, because the scarcity of seamen did not permit an increase in the size of the crews.

WOMAN IS SOUGHT IN DOWSEY MURDER CASE

Seattle, Wash., July 14.—Secret service agents in Seattle are seeking "the woman in the case" of Fred W. Dowsey, government agent, who was slain here May 2. Investigators are proceeding on the theory that Dowsey was slain to hush up a probe of an alleged theft of millions in war time shipbuilding activities in the northwest.

This woman, whose name has not been revealed, is said to have been in the employ of the man whom Dowsey was investigating at the time of his death. She is believed to have been put on Dowsey's trail, hired by her employers as an effort to pump him, but it is believed by government agents that Dowsey turned the tables on her, and secured information from her of the utmost value to the government's case.

A visit to a certain bungalow in Olympia made yesterday by two secret service agents, and one which was supposed to lead to the acquisition of valuable evidence, was said by one of the agents to have been unproductive. But new records in the hands of the federal men are being examined, and are believed to have substantial bearing on the case. These records may be the means of securing new witnesses.

That the men who are suspected of being implicated in the gigantic shipbuilding swindle are under almost constant surveillance by the most expert "shadow men" in the service of the government was one of the most startling disclosures today. The movements of these men are being followed and noted, and it is believed that they will shortly fall into the meshes of the net spread for them by the secret service men now in Seattle.

Opponents Of Daylight Saving Bill In Attempt To Override Veto Today

Washington, July 14.—(United Press.)—The attempt to override the president's veto on the daylight saving repeal failed in the house today.

Opponents of daylight saving looked 23 votes of the two-thirds necessary to pass the measure over the president's veto.

The final vote on the agricultural bill to which the repealer was a rider, was 237 for to 133 against with one member voting present.

After the vote the bill was referred to the agricultural committee. It will probably be reported to the house late today.

Democratic Leaders Clark and Kitchin, as well as many other democrats, voted against the president.
