Forest Fires In Idaho Cause Big Sheep Losses

Boise, Idaho, July 15.—The forest fires which have been raging for the past three weeks in central Idaho in timber outside of forest reserves have seriously damaged the range and caused the loss of thousands of sheep. Reports today indicate it is eating into merchantable timber in forest reserves and timber privately owned. Every effort is being made to check the flames. The fire has been confined to scrub timber in Idaho county. Six square miles of timber have been burned over; the flames have jumped across the Salmon river and are making headway in the Idaho national forest. The unprecedented dry spell has placed millions of dollars worth of timber in jeopardy. For 90 days southern Idaho has not had a rain.

CITY NEWS.

When sending an ordinary letter to Australia, do not forget to attach a five cent stamp. One may send to England or Ireland or Scotland or to most of the English possessions, but when mailing to Australia, it is five cents for one ounce or fraction and three cents for every five ounces thereafter. This is according to information forwarded to the Salem post office. You may now mail letters to the new country of Yugoslavia which was carved out of the southwest corner of Austria and borders along the Adriatic sea.

John Robert Beecher, the two year old son of Dr. and Mrs. D. X. Beecher died yesterday of meningitis in Portland. The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the chapel of Webb & Clough. Burial will be in the City View cemetery.

August Huckenstein is in receipt of a letter from the Klamath Falls lodge of Elks stating that Lieutenant Browne will be given the concession of flying there during the Elks state convention Aug. 14-16 and that the Elks will do all they can to assist him in finding a favorable landing field. Klamath Falls presents a flying proposition a little different from cities in general, due to the fact that it is 4200 feet above the sea level, and at that height, the air isn't quite as heavy as in the lower levels. Just before the war, several airplanes attempted flights at Klamath Falls but their machines were not adapted to the rare atmosphere and consequently they couldn't get off the ground. The plane of Lieutenant Browne is tuned up to fly at a height of 7000 feet.

Divorce Suit Of Portland Couple Is Withdrawn Today

Portland, Ore., July 15.—The suit of George Boring of Portland against James E. Bayliss of San Francisco in which Boring demanded $100,000, alleging Bayliss had alienated Mrs. Boring's affections, has been settled out of court. It was learned this afternoon from both Boring and Bayliss.

Bayliss is Pacific coast representative for the Cadillac Motor Car company. Boring is manager of the Portland branch of the General Electric company.

Boring also announced he would drop his suit for divorce from his wife. "It was all a big mistake," said Bayliss. "I am a great friend of the Boring's."

The Boring's were married in Seattle in 1910.

Medford Hottest City In United States Yesterday

Portland, Ore., July 15.—Medford, Or., was the hottest place in the United States yesterday, according to the government weather map issued today. Medford was honored with 100 degrees. Roseburg, Or., was second with 104; Florence and Red Bluff, Cal., were tied for third with 102. Portland and Walla Walla shared 100.

Court House Notes

The circuit court has granted the injunction asked for by Henry Zorn against Johnson, Juman and Brown, ordering them to desist from cutting timber from the farm of Mr. Zorn until further orders of the court. In his complaint, he alleged that the firm was cutting timber from his farm without his permission.

In the suit of Clyde Harris against the Salem King's Products company, in its answer the company acknowledges the contract and the attached clause wherein it agreed to pay not more than its market price for loganberries and admits the offer in the 1917 contract. It denies other allegations of Mr. Harris.

Mary E. Gregoire has brought suit against H. L. Akerill and wife, A. Verbeck, Roy Verbeck and Claude Verbeck. She alleges that she bought a farm from Akerill and later paid $1000 cash for machinery to operate it. That Akerill leased the farm and that contrary to trust, he has sold the crops and converted the money to his own use instead of paying his bills and filling other agreements. She asks that Akerill be enjoined from disposing of the crop or his personal property and that the original contract be cancelled.

Katherine Speksi will soon have the privilege of going by the name of Katherine Brown and of also being entitled legally to the name. Papers have been filed in the circuit court showing that the proposed change in name has been legally advertised by publication five weeks in succession.

Columbia River Assured Of Pacific Fleet Visit

Astoria, Ore., July 15.—The Columbia river will not be overlooked when the Pacific fleet visits the coast this summer according to a telegram received here today from Representative C. N. McArthur in Washington.

McArthur states he has interviewed Secretary Daniels and various admirals of the bureau of operations and has received assurances that a portion of the fleet will be sent to the river.

The congressman was unable to learn, however, the character of the ships that will visit Portland. He promised to press vigorously for the best possible representation from the fleet.

Senator McNary also has wired that he is urging Daniels to favor Portland.

FIVE CASES DECIDED BY SUPREME COURT

Decision In Accident Damage Suit By Judge Phelps Affirmed.

Following is the brief list of cases acted upon during the past week by the supreme court:

Dallas City vs. The Aetna Accident & Liability company, appellant, et al., appeal from Wasco county; acting upon an undertaking executed by the Dallas City Paving company and the Aetna Accident & Liability company to insure the faithful performance of a contract for paving a street. Opinion by Justice Benson. Judge Fred Wilson reversed and case remanded.

William Hanley company, appellant, vs. Harney Valley Irrigation District No. 1, appeal from Harney county; petition for rehearing denied. Opinion by Justice Benson.

John W. Sweeney vs. Jackson county, appellant, and United States National Bank of Portland, defendant; and respondent; appeal from Multnomah county; petition for rehearing denied in opinion by Justice Benson.

Emma G. Robinson, appellant, vs. Grant Phegley; appeal from Multnomah county; suit to recover money on mortgage on mining property. Opinion by Justice Johnson. Decree of Judge George B. Bagley modified. Justice Bennett dissenting.

Howard Franklin vs. Bruno Webber, appellant; appeal from Clatsop county; suit for damages for personal injury. Opinion by Justice Harris. Judge G. W. Phelps affirmed.

The case of Howard Franklin vs. Bruno Webber is of interest through the unusual procedure of repudiating a release given to an insurance company by an injured man and the subsequent institution of a damage suit calling for a much larger compensation. In this case the plaintiff Franklin was employed upon a motor-driven seeder, on which there was a rapidly driven shaft not properly guarded. In operating the machine the clothing of the plaintiff was caught in the gearing and he suffered serious injuries. Two weeks after he was taken to the hospital an agent of the company in which he carried a policy called upon him and induced him to sign a release to the company in the sum of $100, though it was shown that the company subsequently paid doctor and attendance bills to the amount of $600. Later Franklin, through his attorney brought suit for damages, alleging that the defendant Webber had been negligent in not properly guarding the machinery, and that his duties as operator had compelled him to place himself in danger. He further alleged that while in a weak physical and mental condition he had been induced on misrepresentation to sign the release to the insurance agent. The defendant in his reply sought to show that the plaintiff had suffered because of his own negligence. In the circuit court the jury found for plaintiff in the sum of $379.66, from which the defendant appealed.

The case of Emma G. Robinson vs. Grant Phegley would be of especial interest to those who have followed the course of high (or rather low) finance among the mines of southern Oregon. This case is part of the mass of litigation associated with the Galice Consolidated Mines company, of Josephine county, which has probably witnessed more juggling of exploitation than any other property in Oregon. This company, which was organized in the gold days of 1907-1908, followed the course of the majority of southern Oregon mines into bankruptcy and a receivership, and this case centers about the sale of certain claims aggregating $6000, in which there is alleged to be fraud and misrepresentation.

STATE HOUSE NEWS

This morning the board of control opened bids from a list of seven bond houses on the block of $800,000 worth of highway bonds. The representatives and their bids were as follows: Louis & Co., $758,100; Wm. R. Compton Co., $760,212; Lumbermen's Trust company, $758,240; National City company, $755,760; Henry Teal $763,320; Clark Kendall company, $761,280. The bid of Henry Teal was accepted.

Two important cases are before the supreme court this afternoon—that of Wright vs. Wimberly, from Douglas county. O. P. Coshaw and B. L. Eddy of Roseburg, attorneys for appellant, and A. M. Groat and Carl Wimberly of Roseburg, attorneys for respondent. The other case is that of Ferrari vs. Hoch from Multnomah county, in which Roscoe C. Nelson is attorney for plaintiff and J. N. Haddock attorney for defendant.

The federal government has notified the state highway commission that a quantity of T. N. T. will be furnished to the state for use on the post roads now under construction. This explosive is not only four times more powerful than dynamite but is much safer to handle, so that it will be very convenient to use in grading operations where there are boulders and rock to deal with.

Lieutenant Shepard, Well Known In Salem, Wounded

First Lieutenant Fred C. Shepard, brother of Mrs. John H. Lewis, wife of the former state engineer, has been seriously wounded in Siberia. The following telegram was received: "Washington, D. The principles and object of the Daughters of Veterans are as follows: We frankly believe in Almighty God and fully realize that it was under his beneficent providence that the free institutions of our land, consecrated to us by the service and blood of our Fathers and Brothers, have been preserved and the integrity and life of the Nation maintained.

True loyalty to the government of the United States of America, based upon a respect for, and devotion and fidelity to, its constitution and laws made evident by our disapprobation of anything that is disloyal, treasonable or rebellious, or anything that will impair the efficiency and permanency of our National Union.

This corporation is not formed for profit, but to perpetuate the memories of our Fathers their loyalty to the Union and their unselfish sacrifices for the preservation of the same and to keep alive the history of those who participated in that heroic struggle for the maintenance of our free government.

To aid the veterans and their widows when helpless and in distress, and to aid and assist them in our order who are worthy of aid.

To inculcate a love of country and patriotism to promote equal rights and universal liberty, and to acquire by donation or otherwise all necessary property and funds to carry out the foregoing objects.

To assist the Grand Army to commemorate the deeds of their fallen comrades on the 30th of May until such time when this duty shall devolve upon their descendants.

All Daughters of honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines who served in the Union Army or Navy during the Rebellion of 1861 '65, whether a member of the G. A. R. or not who have attained the age of 15 years, are eligible to membership. The daughters of daughters of veterans, and daughters of sons of veterans and so on in general eligibility are also eligible to membership.
