Former Salem Man Wins Medals In War

(Eugene Guard.)
A Eugene soldier with a unique record got off the train home from Europe Saturday afternoon. He was James P. Alexander, formerly a salesman for Vick Brothers and for the past two years a member of the A. E. F. He got his fourth gold service chevrons a few days before sailing for America. Mr. Alexander enlisted in the aviation corps on the declaration of war and went across a few weeks later. In building an airplane headquarters, the captain of his company one day remarked that an engineer would be needed to run a little "dinky" to and from the field. "Could you handle one of these French engines?"
"Don't know, but I can try," replied the Eugene lad. He tried and was later transferred to the regular engineering force on the French railroads operated by Ambleaux. He holds the distinction of being the engineer of the first American railway crew in France. Many first sergeants fired under him, and the then private had a good laugh on his superiors as he watched them shovel big bricks of French hard and dirty coal into the inconvenient little fire boxes. He, himself, later became a sergeant.
Alexander with his big smile and the rest of his equipage, sailed for France ahead of Pershing, and he says that he's pleased with the fact that he beat the general back.

From now on he will be shovelling out selling facts of Standard and Mack trucks at Vick Brothers garage. The firm has just taken the agency for the two lines.
Mr. Alexander was an automobile salesman in Salem before the war.)

SPLENDID IMPERSONATOR AT CHAUTAUQUA

Elsie Mae Gordon Stands at Top of Her Profession.

Elsie Mae Gordon, the celebrated young lady who comes to Chautauqua with readings and child impersonations, is one of the leaders of her profession. No other artist is in greater demand for Chautauqua audiences.

Miss Gordon's clear rich voice runs the gamut in the expression of strong emotion, sparkling comedy and delicate pathos. There is more than artistry in her work—there is real individuality. As a child impersonator she has few equals and certainly no superiors on the American platform.

Labor Shortage Serious Problem In Connection With State Flax Farms

A desperate situation has developed in the state's flax project, as brought out this morning in a meeting of the board of control. The state has something over 400 acres of flax under contract, and it was expected that the prison gang would be able to care for it, but it was shown by the flax manager this morning that the hot weather is not only burning the flax but is hardening the ground so that it makes pulling difficult. There are 50 men from the penitentiary now at work, but of this number there are some who can not stand the heat, and others who will not work any harder than is necessary to keep from being disciplined. The manager states that a hundred more hands could be used at once. The superintendent of the state hospital has been called upon for recruits, but is not sure whether a group of inmates can be spared from the institution without interfering with the work on their own grounds. Superintendent Gilbert of the boys' training school was also appealed to but at this hour it is not known whether a group of boys can be obtained there. In some of the fields the crop is making a fine showing this year and will be very valuable if it can be saved.

Auto Exchange Offering Reward For Recovery Of Car Stolen From Garage

There is a reward of $25 offered by the Salem Auto Exchange for the recovery of a car, alleged to have been stolen by George Jackson on the night of July 15.

Jackson is described as follows: 24 years old, 180 to 190 pounds, 5 feet 11 inches, dark complexion, heavy set with a peculiar accent in talking. According to the circular issued by Sheriff Needham, Jackson was working for the Salem Auto Exchange as a mechanic and had the key to the garage. The circular states that Jackson took the car between midnight and morning on the night of July 15 and that it was more than probable he would attempt to dispose of the car at a second hand garage as he is familiar with cars and is a good mechanic.

The car stolen is a 1919 model Maxwell, Oregon license 48,902, with the right rear fender bent and straightened and has been driven about 1200 miles.

Six-Year-Old Boy, Nearly Dead From Exposure, Home After Being Lost 11 Days

Spring Grove, Ill., July 18.—Six year old Harry Nutter, blackened by exposure and weakened by starvation, awoke today in a soft bed instead of swamp hummock which was his couch during the eleven days he spent alone in the woods.

The boy wandered from home July 6. His mother, Mrs. F. C. Lewiston, after ten days, was reconciled partially to his death. The woods had been searched from end to end. Yesterday a party of berry pickers halted their work when a faint bird-like chirp was heard. Tracing the strange chirp they came upon a strange object—a naked, skeleton-like mite whose scarred head looked huge upon the wasted body. Harry's voice was spent with that last chirp and he sank into a coma which last until today when he awoke with his mother's arms about him.

Doctors say the boy will recover. He was too weak today to tell what happened in his eleven-day torture.

Ruling On Retroactive Pay Demands Of Phone Strikers Coming Soon

San Francisco, July 18.—A ruling on the retroactive pay demands of Pacific coast telephone employees will be made by the wire control board at Washington within three days, according to a telegram received today from Julia O'Connor, national president of the operators' union. Until this ruling is made, the central strike committee favors delaying its referendum on the compromise terms offered.

L. C. Grusser, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, says he may call a referendum vote today. Central strike committee members say if he does they will visit local unions and urge dissent of the question, which in its present state, they say, is merely the first offer of the company, and does not meet the demands of the workers.

Oakland, Cal.—More patriotism was installed into the names of two negroes held in the city jail, both booked as "George Washington." To distinguish them they are called G. Lincoln Washington and G. Pershing Washington.
