Loganberry tracts this summer are better than gold mines, one interested observer remarked today. One farmer living north of the city on the river road has a 3 1/2 acre tract. He has already received in cash for his loganberries $2700, and the crop still coming on, with prospects of bringing the receipts up to more than $3000. Another tract of just one half an acre not so very far from town was the private property of the wife. So far, she has been paid $267 for the berries she picked from this half acre and the crop is going strong, with fine prospects of realizing more than $500 for the season as a rule money.

STATE HOUSE

An informal conference, which was attended by Superintendent Churchhill, Attorney General Brown, and Deputy Secretary Sam Kezer, was held at the state house yesterday afternoon for the purpose of discussing the scope and administration of the soldiers and sailors educational aid bill passed at the June election. A number of important points were brought up in the discussion. A tentative agreement was reached by the representatives present as to the course of study and the standards to be required of any institution in order to bring it under the provisions of the act. As to the funds, a little calculation brought out the fact that the levy of two-tenths of a mill may prove to be insufficient to meet the requirements of the bill. As this levy does not become effective until 1920, the problem of immediate funds came before the conference. This is a problem that will call for an opinion from the attorney general.

The representatives of educational institutions present were: J. H. Hendrickson, Northwest College of Law; A. C. Newell, Newell Tutorial School, Portland; B. P. Mulkey, Pacific Chiropractic College, Portland; Mr. Behnke, Behnke-Walker Business College, Portland; Superintendent D. A. Grout, Portland public school; Superintendent John W. Todd, Salem public schools; President E. C. Sanderson, Eugene Bible school; Secretary Jensen, Oregon Agricultural college; K. W. Outhank, University of Oregon; Rev. G. Howarth, Columbia University; Prof. W. I. Staley, Capital Business college, Salem; L. L. Adcox, Adcox Engine school, Portland; President J. H. Ackerman, Oregon normal school; Robert E. Clark, Pacific University; President Epley, Philomath college; Prof. A. A. Knowlton, Reed college.

The semi-annual report of the state board of barber examiners has just been submitted to Governor Olcott, showing that in the six-months period 165 barbers have been examined, licenses being granted to 140. The board is composed of Lee Canfield, C. H. Kelley and S. H. Howard. They have visited shops in about twenty towns in western Oregon.

Governor Olcott has reappointed Robert E. Hust, of Roseburg, as a member of the state board of veterinary examiners, his term to run for four years.

G. J. Hulbert of Junction City announces that he has bought the A. W. Schunk grocery store which was recently closed, and with it will place on sale his own $10,000 stock of dry goods, shoes and furnishings, the sale to open in the former Schunk store beginning Saturday morning. The doors will be open at 9 o'clock. It is estimated that the stock offered for sale is valued at about $15,000. A large force of clerks is now working to arrange everything for the opening Saturday morning.

While Dan J. Fry, Sr. was attending the dinner with W. J. Bryan and later hearing the address at the chautauqua, a thief stole his automobile near the chautauqua grounds. It was recovered this morning at Mission and Seginaw.

While walking around the city this morning, William Jennings Bryan met an old friend of the days when they both lived in Salem, Illinois. This friend was William H. Norris, receiver for the Hubbard building. Mr. Bryan contended that Mr. Norris in those days had a sister who was about the finest looking woman in the world. In speaking of the former days back in Illinois, it developed that Mr. Bryan was a guest at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Norris.

Officials of the cigar stores declared the men were influenced by agitators and left their jobs without making any formal demands. Later they formed a union, it was said.

Save the evening of July 31 for the Michigan picnic. 7:25

J. B. Littler, manager of the Bootery, and family returned this afternoon from a two weeks' stay at Toledo and Newport. The coast trip was a combination of business and pleasure, Mr. Littler having a store at Toledo.

The Michigan society will hold their next basket picnic at the state fair grounds on Thursday July 31st at 6:30 p. m. at which time permanent organization will be effected. All Michigan people are urged to come out and help make this a delightful evening. A program is being arranged and it is hoped a special speaker will be heard.

Governor Olcott received a wire from Medford this morning stating that conditions were unfavorable for the proposed flight of the two airplanes en route from Medford flying field to Seattle. Hence the time of arrival in Salem is in doubt, though the governor thinks they may arrive late this afternoon.

Capt. J. P. Patrick of Des Moines, Iowa, arrived in the city today and will spend several weeks visiting with his nieces, Mrs. E. Hofer, and Mrs. Florence McKinney.

A great deal of solicitude has been caused among Salem friends and acquaintances by a wire message received by Harvey Wells from H. Sykes, at Breitenbush Springs, stating that A. C. Barber had disappeared from a camping party in that vicinity and had not been seen since Tuesday afternoon. A party of four composed of Mr. Barber, the recently appointed insurance commissioner, H. Sykes, Ralph White and Herman Boor left this city Sunday morning for an outing in the hills, with the foot of Mt. Jefferson as their ultimate destination. Near Breitenbush Mr. Barber separated from his companions for a side trip, planning to meet them at a certain point ahead. But on their arrival there he was not in sight and no amount of searching or inquiry brought any trace of him. A searching party was made up and a new scouring the country in that region. Deputy Fire Marshal Gilbert Albert has gone to the scene, with the understanding that if no clue to the missing man is found he will telephone to Mr. Wells tonight, and it is probable that another searching party will be made up here to join the group at Breitenbush.
