Mine Foreman, Crushed By Rock Slide, Is Found Dead

Seattle, Wash., July 30.--Crushed by the slide of rock in the main gangway of the Pacific Coast Coal company's mine at Burnett, Wash., and buried beneath many tons of rock and shale, the body of James D. Webb, general mine foreman, was sighted at 1 o'clock this morning by rescuers who have been working frantically since the slide occurred at 9 a. m. Monday to rescue him.

Local Teacher Assisting Scientist's Research Work

Herman Clark, assistant principal of the Salem high school has had assigned to him for the summer months general work that is something different from the average job.

For Mr. Clark is a botanist and devotes much of his vacation time to looking for uncommon plants. And it was for this reason that a short time ago he received a commission from a famous California doctor.

The doctor by the name of Grant Selfridge is endeavoring in his researches to find an anti-toxin for hay fever, which is supposed to be caused by inhaling the pollen of certain plants.

General Morrison Marooned At Alaskan Post By Snows

San Francisco, July 30.--Major General John F. Morrison, commander of the western department of the army, is marooned with his aide at St. Michael, Alaska, owing to a late snow storm and severely cold weather, postponing steam or sailing, according to a cable received today.

The loganberry picking season is now about over and those who are handy at picking will now have the opportunity of going into the bean fields where 1 1/2 cents a pound is offered. Just to clean up the last of the crop, a few growers have been offering three cents a pound. Two cents has been the general price, with occasional spots of 2 1/2 cents. On one ranch there was a strike one day for five cents a pound but the 40 or more pickers who were in the strike were ordered to move on. They did.

Reports from the peach sections of the county indicate a bumper crop this year. Conditions were ideal at blossoming time and one grower said he had picked off almost five crops and there had a record breaking crop still ready for ripening. The apple crop also gives indication of breaking the record for a big yield.

Cherry Season Ends With Returns At Record Mark

The cherry season of 1919 practically came to an end Saturday night after making a record--financially--that has probably never been surpassed, notwithstanding the fact that the crop generally was a little short of last year. There is no possibility of getting even an approximate of the tonnage coming into Salem, but it was something enormous when to the thousands of boxes consumed locally is added the box shipments to other markets and the carloads, consumed by half a dozen packing plants. A slight indication of the scope of the industry is given in the record of shipments made to the California Grace Fruit company thru the Salem Fruit Union. The consignments to this one company amounted to about 2300 barrels of 240 pounds each. Probably they would have made a record of 2500 barrels had it not been for the fact that a number of big contracts were cancelled on account of wormy fruit. One fact seems to have been demonstrated this season--there is no possibility of an over supply of cherries of any description. And there is no likelihood that the market price will ever drop to a point where the growers will not make a profit.

Mayor Otto J. Wilson has vetoed the ordinance recently passed by the city council providing for a purchasing department for the city of Salem and the naming of Earl Bare, city recorder, as purchasing agent. One of the objections of Mayor Wilson was that the ordinance especially named Mr. Bare as purchasing agent, making it a permanent proposition, and should it be the desire of future councils to name another agent, it would be necessary first to repeal the ordinance. The city charter provides that a two thirds vote is necessary to pass an ordinance over the mayor's veto. With a council of 11, it requires 10 votes to carry an ordinance over the veto.

Word was received this morning by Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Barton of 1140 North Fifth street, that their son Ray H. Barton had arrived in New York. He went into the service in September of 1917 and has seen 18 months of service in France.
