STATE HOUSE NEWS

Some days ago Governor Oleott joined with State Forester Elliott and District Forester Cecil of Portland in a request to the Washington authorities that an air patrol be established in Oregon to assist the forest service in guarding against fires in the timber regions. A message has just been received by the governor stating that orders have been forwarded from Washington to Colonel H. H. Arnold, commander of Mather flying field, authorizing him to co-operate with the Oregon officials and virtually leaving the matter in his hands. A telegram was sent from the governor's office this morning to Colonel Arnold asking for further information as to what might be expected. A reply is looked for at any time this afternoon, and considering the attitude of Colonel Arnold as shown in conversation with Governor Oleott it is taken for granted that the service will be provided at an early date.

TELEPHONE QUESTION NOW UP TO PUBLIC

To the Editor: We have been notified through the columns of the daily press that the telephone rates are to be increased the first of August. "Somebody" with whom the public by this time are quite well acquainted, has turned over to the tender (F) mercies of the Bell Telephone corporation to be plundered at will, or sacrifice the convenience of a much needed communication system. Our state commission had declared itself helpless before this mighty sovereignty, whom, by a single scratch of the pen has nullified the decision rendered by our commission after months of costly investigation. The people have but one choice—either bow down and humbly kiss the hand that has smitten them, and place therein the amount of ransom demanded for further services, or assert their rights by simply ordering out their phones. A goodly number are pledged to do this, and we hope they make good. If this movement were general, there would be no increase. We of course cannot tell how many will go out this coming week, but we'll venture a guess that the liucmen will be busy for the next few days. We do at least hope that those few of us who feel they can afford to pay the increase will get better service for their money than "we all" have been getting for some months past. Yours truly,
—MISSOURI MULE.

FIXING HAY PRICES

To the Editor:—What do the farmers in this section of the valley intend to do regarding the price of hay? It seems to me that there is someone trying to establish the price at $15 a ton, aboard car. Recently a man made that offer with the provision that the hay had to be first class. But he did not happen to buy any from me.

To other farmers I want to say that the price of hay this year will largely depend on what we ask for it. I do not mean to be unreasonable, but in the present high cost of producing a hay crop we are entitled to at least $20 a ton for good baled hay in the field. The demand will justify us in asking that much for it. But if we sell for what the dealers want to give us the price will not be that high and as has happened before, they will make the money.

I told one dealer recently of farmers who have been paid $20 for several lots of hay in the field by a leading dairy in the county. He ridiculed that dairy as paying more than was justified. I want to say that dairy believes in the "live and let live" policy. Our local dealers are conspicuously backward in offering any such prices for hay. Their buying plan is that the hay crop is big this year and we are apt to have our hay left on our hands if we do not sell at their price. Why do these dealers try to serve the farmers as they do? Surely they realize that without the farmers their business could not exist. Yet, for the farmers, who are busy from sun-up to sundown and have to battle with the elements to return on their investments, find the selling part of the game the hardest.

Farmers, do not sell your hay at cost. We are entitled to a legitimate profit and I, for one, am ready to quit if we cannot get it. But we will get a fair profit if we will only ask it and refuse to sell below a price that will return us a profit. I understand that in Idaho and Montana they are already feeding hay and with no surplus on hand. I am looking for a big demand before harvest times comes again. When I bought vetch and clover seed from the dealers I paid their price. Now let them pay ours.

many receiving wounds. The negroes finally dispersed. Hospitals throughout the south side, where the negro settlements are located, have been filled to overflowing with wounded of both races. More than 500 who have been shot and injured by beatings are in hospitals, police estimated. Several hundred others received treatment at home, it was believed. Additional plans for order and regular process of law, as well as pleas for order, were issued by public officials and leaders of both races. Mayor Thompson and Governor Lowden asserted the law must rule and that negroes will be vigorously prosecuted, while negro civic leaders urged their citizens to keep within their houses and desist from molesting whites. Several alleged rioters were fined in police court yesterday and other cases were docketed for today.

MONTH OF

dry days, the traffic department states, while there is a big drop in the number of speeches arrested. There is a considerable reduction in other forms of accidents this month over the June record and this is attributed largely to the lack of intoxicated persons carelessly crossing streets.

Thus far, a dry San Francisco has made no difference in the consumption of water, neither has it materially affected bank clearings. The latter show only the usual annual gain over last year's business.

Los Angeles Record Cleared.
Los Angeles, Cal., July 31.—It has taken just a month of prohibition to wipe out the Los Angeles chain gang and to multiply the consumption of soft drinks by thirteen.

These were the outstanding features of the local situation today after 30 days without liquor.

June 30, when the nation went dry there were over 50 persons serving jail sentences for drunkenness or vagrancy, of whom forty were eligible for service on the county chain gang. But today there is no chain gang because there are only five prisoners in jail eligible for service. What people are drinking in the place of stimulants is shown clearly by the internal revenue office's report. During the two months of May and June collections of war tax on soft drinks in Los Angeles totalled $15,582.99 or less than $7000 per month. During July the collections have totalled $94,366.74, an increase of over 1300 per cent.

Automobile accidents have decreased about 34 per cent according to the best estimates available. Consumption of water had increased, but whether this is due to prohibition is problematical owing to dry weather and other special conditions.
