Nice little dainty lady-like envelopes are in bad with the postoffice department. So also are the queer shaped ones or those extra large. All postmasters have been requested by the postoffice department at Washington to call attention to the fact that any unusual size of envelope delays business and often results in a slow delivery for anything out of the common. All envelopes are first run through an automatic stamping machine, and if the envelopes are of the usual size, and the stamp in the right place, everything is lovely. But if one of those miniature envelopes come along, or one too large, everything has to be stopped until the offender is taken out and stamped by hand. Nothing larger than a 4 by 9 inch envelope should be used nor the little dainty affair.

There is nothing special going on in the prune market. In fact, things are a little quiet in the buying line, all due to the fact that the big California prune association opened prices about three cents below the Oregon figure. As a result, the buyers in the east are purchasing from the re-seller.

Harry Loomis who has been delivering mail in the south and eastern part of the city has given up his city route and will take up rural route 2 in Polk county. Warner Welborn, who has been on the extra list will take up the route of Loomis. C. H. Brasher who has delivered for rural route 2 goes on rural route 7. The change in routes will become effective the latter part of this week.

While Mrs. Roberts of rural route 4 was attending services Sunday morning at the First Methodist church, a thief helped himself to her Chevrolet. He was picked up Monday morning in Portland and turned out to be Elton Young whom one of the clergymen of the city had helped to secure a parole from the reform school. He will be returned to complete his sentence. Mrs. Roberts was notified her car is in Portland. L. Waltman's car, also a Chevrolet, was stolen Saturday evening in Salem. Chief Varney succeeded in locating the car at Chemawa. It had been ditched by the thief.

Word was received here this morning that Dr. J. H. Hill of Albany, well known in Salem and throughout the upper valley, had been found dead in his room last night. No details as to the cause of his death were given further than that the body indicated that he had been dead for several days. His son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward, with whom he made his home, had gone to Newport some days before, and supposed that he had gone to Breitenbush springs, as he had packed his baggage for that point and had taken it to the depot. On their return yesterday to Albany they found him dead in his room. In former years he was located for practice at Beuna Vista. For a period of years he was also a member of the Willamette Medical school in this city. Following his retirement from that institution he practiced medicine in Albany, continuing up to the time of his death. He had been in feeble condition for some time as the result of influenza, and it is supposed that his death was due to heart failure. His son, Gale Hill, is a prosecuting attorney at Albany, and he has a nephew, Dr. Thompson, in this city.

Work has commenced today on the remodeling of the music building at Willamette university in order to fit it for use as a ladies dormitory.

President Doney of Willamette university is in receipt of scores of letters from prospective students in various parts of the northwest, and he looks for an unusual enrollment at the opening of school in the fall. Among the inquiries is a large number of letters from returned soldiers.

The dry goods wholesale market is crazy, according to the latest trade papers and also according to the opinion of certain dry goods merchants of Salem. Judging from prices recently quoted by traveling salesmen, the lid is off on prices with the sky the limit. Hope domestic is today quoted at 27 1/2 cents wholesale and Lonsdale 22 cents. Pequot bleached sheeting ten quarter, is worth wholesale 90 cents a yard. A. E. C. ginghams can now only be bought wholesale at 28 cents a yard and scarce at that. Silk hose are almost unobtainable and yarns and turkish towellings are going up. Even A. C. A. ticking is in the band wagon of higher prices, with a quotation of 47 1/2 cents whole sale. P. S. The cotton market dropped 200 points today.

Pla-Mates

can be obtained right here. We have them in all sizes and widths and in several kinds of leather. The soles are extra tough and that's what kids need.

ADVICE ABOUT PRICE OF SHOES

The warring nations have bought vast quantities of American leather, leaving a shortage in this country which means that prices have advanced double and more. Substitutes are being used, but NOT in Pla-Mates. It pays to buy quality, particularly in children's shoes.

SOME BERRY PICKLES

An A. G. Hall walked through his loganberry field last Thursday morning he noticed the fine condition of the berries at the seventh picking and also that the pickers were feeling fine and doing good work. At half past ten Mr. Hall announced that he would offer a first and second prize for those bringing in the most berries up to 2:30, all taking the usual time for lunch. When time was called at 2:30, Veina Scholl had won first prize, having picked 104 boxes, second prize going to Mrs. Chester Ward with 101 boxes. Prizes were twelve boxes of berries for first prize and eight boxes of berries for the second prize. Every picker in the yard that day made some more money than usual besides enjoying the sport.—Hubbard Enterprise.

Charlotte, the world's greatest and most graceful ice skater will be seen in the Frozeo warning at Ye Liberty starting tomorrow.

The old elevator building of the flouring mill on Trade street between Commercial and Front, which is to be moved to the foot of Trade street along the river bank, will soon be on its travels, although it is understood that A. T. Moffit, who has the contract, found the building a pretty heavy proposition to move. Ground is being broken today for the main building of the Oregon Pulp and Paper company to extend 275 feet on Trade street and building will begin as soon as the old elevator is out of the way.

Hal V. Bolam of Yakima has been named city director of the war savings stamp campaign in that city, according to word received today. He was formerly a resident of Salem engaged in hay buying and was active in lodge circles.

The Liberty section will soon have electric lights. Poles have been set as far as the S. E. Scott farm half a mile beyond Liberty and the wiring will be completed this week. It is probable the line will be extended as far as the farms of Dr. O. B. Miles and E. D. Teters. According to present arrangements, 28 families will be given the advantage of electric lights on this new line.

New wheat is beginning to come to the Salem market. As yet no price has been set as the buyers in Portland insist upon receiving samples before naming a price. It is thought that white wheat No. 1 soft will be quoted in Salem at $2 to $2.64 a bushel, much depending on what action the government takes in handling the wheat situation.

There was a large attendance yesterday at the opening day of the Marion County Holiness association camp meeting, held in Salem at North 14th and A streets. Reverend Roberts delivered the morning sermon and the Reverend Buffield occupied the pulpit for the evening. The singing for the two services was by Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Buffield. The camp will continue services during the week, closing next Sunday night.
