MONMOUTH NEWS

Monmouth, Or., Aug. 5.—The Oregon normal school closed its 1919 summer session Friday. The last chapel, which is always looked forward to with keenest interest fulfilled every expectation. The spectacular professional of the groups and their songs and yells, the special music by Miss Schuette and Miss Anderson, the talks by Miss Pettinger, representing the student body; Mr. Gentle, head of the education department, and Miss Parrot, head of the English department, representing the faculty, and President Ackerman were all especially splendid.

Editor Piper, of the Oregonian, gave an address at the normal on Monday afternoon which was both interesting and educational and much appreciated by the large audience of students, faculty and citizens who were present.

The annual summer school musical given under the direction of Miss Schuette, music supervisor, assisted by Miss Taylor, physical director and Miss Anderson, art supervisor, was a pleasing event of the closing days of summer school and served to bring out some splendid musical talent among the students attending. In the operetta "The Western Girl," the Misses Dunbar, Drury, Knox and Rosabelle Smith deserve special mention, though all took their parts well.

The community song, accompanied by the summer school orchestra made a most entertaining interlude between the two main features of the program. "The Toy Shop," which followed the community sing was artistically staged. Dolls for many lands, rag dolls and character dolls in variety there were, and fairies galore; the latter, under the leadership of Miss Calkins were beautiful and effective.

At the close of the entertainment Miss Schuette was presented with a basket of gorgeous gladioluses, the gift of the glee club.

David Campbell gave a concert at the chapel hall on Wednesday which was a rare musical treat that will not soon be forgotten.

Miss Cornelia Marvin, state librarian, was a speaker at the normal recently. Miss Marvin outlined the work of the state library and asked the teachers to carry back to their community the ambition of the state librarian—to be of service to every one in the state.

The faculty entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Butler on Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Anderson, who has resigned her position with the normal to take up special work in music.

The annual stunt program was given Wednesday evening in the auditorium of the normal and was enjoyed by a large audience. Each of the five groups deserve credit for their special stunts and the contest between three of the groups was so close that the judges were unable to give out the decision until the following day. Group 1, comprising the eastern counties of the state, was awarded the beautiful silk flag which is to be held in their name during the year, and contested for in similar manner by the groups of succeeding years.

Stanley Evans, a '17 graduate of the normal who recently returned from France, gave some of his experiences at Thursday's chapel. Stanley was especially honored "over there," having been chosen a member of Pershing's guard, where he served at the time of President Wilson's visit to headquarters.

The S. P. ran a special train of five coaches into Monmouth Friday for the accommodation of the summer school students who were leaving for their homes.

The Monmouth and Independence post road is now open for light traffic, though the paving is not yet completed. The finished paving has reached the east city limits, and the auto bus is again traveling the direct route to and from the S. P. mail trains.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Sheldon, who have been visiting with the Ostroms for the past two weeks, left Friday for Portland, where they will spend a few days with their niece and nephew, Daphne and Sumner Ostrom. They go from there to Twin Falls, Idaho, to visit relatives then to their home at Elletts, Texas.

They are making the trip in a Velie car and expect to be out about a week. Miss Laura Farrington, a daughter who came with them, remained with the Van Loans and will attend normal school during the coming year. Mrs. Van Loan accompanied the party to their home in Montana, where she will visit for some time.

NATIONALIZATION OF

shop men would mean $800,000,000 a year if applied to all railroad workers. "Would that not cause another increase in the cost of living?" asked Thomas. Cummins said it probably would.

First returns were expected today at the American Federation of Labor offices on the strike vote now being taken by 500,000 railroad shop men.

Although the complete poll will not be tabulated until August 24, under the strike vote order of the American Federation of Labor railway department, returns probably will be coming in all this week, officials said.

Leaders of the six big shop unions today moved to curb those who, they say, have stampeded thousands of workers into unauthorized local strikes. A committee now is taking action to stop further local striking until the complete vote is returned.

President Bert M. Jewell of the A. F. of L. railway department today awaited word from the White House. Jewell late yesterday led a delegation which told President Wilson his plan for solving the question of wage demands is "entirely inadequate."

Officials of the unions believe the next move is up to the president. He, they suggest, can urge congress to pass appropriation bills giving the rail administration more money with which to meet wage demands, not only for the shop men, but for the trainmen and conductors who have asked increases averaging forty to thirty-five per cent, respectively. The shopmen's demand is for an increase averaging approximately 25 per cent.

Prof. Richards, of Willamette university, returned this afternoon from an extended trip through southern and central Oregon, stopping at several points in the Rogue river valley and working east of the Cascades as far as Bend. He met with assurance of a considerable enrollment of students from these sections, and also prospects of financial help of a generous nature.

TOTAL AGRICULTURAL

bearing and 457 non-bearing; 519 acres of peaches bearing with 44 acres not yet producing; pears 433 acres bearing with 191 acres non-bearing.

The walnut industry is still in its infancy, as there are but 246 acres bearing with 421 acres non-bearing.

The loganberry industry, which is to make Marion county famous, can claim but 1915 acres. It has been stated by competent authority, that there is already a market for two times the amount of loganberries grown in the county, and the world is just becoming awakened to the value of the loganberry for soft drinks as well as pie making.

NEW ASSOCIATION

the bond" and demands its pound of flesh. In the spring of 1918 the growers were assured by a representative of the company that if they made delivery they would receive a half a cent a pound bonus and they delivered notwithstanding offers of two cents per pound above the contract price. Did they get that bonus? They got one-fourth of a cent per pound per pound bonus. More fair dealing by this company which would pose as a philanthropist.

In the fall of 1918 the growers were promised by a representative of the company that in 1919 they would receive the market price; but by this time they were suspicious of "piecemeal promises" and desired a stipulation incorporated in their contracts. Did they get it? No they did not. It was conceived by this company that it was good business to send out a representative who would make fair promises and then deny the authority of their agent.

Is this company the philanthropist it would have you think? It would appear to us that the more ugly term of "profiteer" might better be applied.

Many other annoyances and ill treatment continued to harass the growers.

Notwithstanding the fact that it is customary and common usage for berry buyers to furnish crates and haldocks, this company compelled the growers to furnish them and failed to empty them promptly or within a reasonable time so that tons of berries were lost during the 1916, 1917 and 1918 seasons and growers were compelled to wait or return to the plant a number of times when their crops demanded immediate attention and personal presence on their farms.

These contracts entered into between this company and the growers called for payments for the berries at stated times but the growers were not so paid and were compelled to wait for payment in some instances until April or May of the year following delivery, when their contracts called for final payment on January 1st. This compelled the growers to finance to considerable extent the purchase of their own berries.

As to the stock taken out by the growers, the attitude of the company and its officers offers one more example of the rectitude and irreproachable conduct assumed by the company. Uninformed small growers sold this stock at less than par on advice of the company, while those who held out for par received it.

As to the claims by the company and Mr. Gile that they were responsible for present prices because of the advertising done by the company, they are too absurd for more than passing comment, and we are content to state that prices for evergreen blackberries have increased in greater proportions during the times mentioned without the advertising, which the company claims is responsible for the increase in loganberry prices.

We the growers would have been satisfied to have left matters as they were and would not have entered into a public controversy with the company had not the company prated of its morality and rectitude and whined at the attitude of the growers.

Resolution adopted, L. Lawrence, president; H. R. Brown, secretary.

COUNCIL TO PROBE

Police men also get $100 a month after having served six months. For the first six months of service in the police or fire department, the pay is $95. Vandervort said he could see no reason in the council advancing the pay of the other departments and refusing to increase the salary of city recorder Race.

When a bill was presented to the council for two combs at $1 each for use in the city jail, the city fathers sat up and took notice. With gravel going up 25 cents a yard and several advances in salaries, it was not prepared for another shock along the lines of the high cost of living. However, it voted to pay the bill and new the inmates of the female ward of the city jail as well as those of the other department will each have a $1 comb with which to make themselves more presentable.

The resignation of J. S. Austin was received and accepted. He was alderman from the third ward. Robert Craig's name was presented as successor by Mr. Buchner and he was duly elected. The council after several months is now complete with its 14 members.

Alberrnan Gerald Volk stated that the Salem Elks were going to Klamath Falls this month with the intention of bringing to the city the 1920 Elks state convention. He thought it would be appropriate for the city council to extend a formal invitation. The idea met with favor and the city of Salem, through its council, now formally extends an invitation to the state convention of Elks to hold its annual meeting in Salem in 1920.
