By GERTRUDE ROBINSON

HONORING Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Gregg and family, who leave tomorrow on a motor trip to southern California where they will reside during the coming year, members of the congregation of the First Baptist church enjoyed an informal evening on the spacious lawn of the church parsonage on North Liberty street. A long table artistically decked with huge jardinières of sweet peas in pastel shades, was placed across the lower end of the lawn, laden with tempting refreshments. Dinner was served in cafeteria style, the guests seating themselves at small tables scattered about the premises. During the refreshment hour a humorous poetic sketch was presented by Mr. Gregg, entitled "Rules of the Road." The remainder of the enjoyable evening was spent in games and contests, the most interesting of which was the "travel contest," which provided a great deal of amusement for both the onlookers and participants. The affair closed with a general sing, Miss Lacey Holt at the piano. A great deal of credit is due to Mrs. Mabel Buigny and Miss Mima Gile, who took charge of the arrangements and decorations. More than a hundred guests attended the affair last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregg are well known and liked in the city and are active in all affairs of their church. Their departure is being greatly regretted by their numerous friends, and their absence will be keenly felt during their year's sojourn in the southern state.

Oakland Man Could Find Nothing To Help Him—Taniae Made Life Worth Living.

"I tried all kinds of medicines and treatments for my trouble, but nothing I ever took gave me the relief that Taniae has," said Ezra D. Shreve, of 2008 Harrison street, Oakland, Cal., to a Taniae representative, recently. Mr. Shreve is employed by the Southern Pacific railroad in Oakland and has been in his present position for the past five years.

"When I started taking Taniae I had been having a good deal of trouble with my stomach," he continued. "I didn't have any appetite to speak of and it just looked like nearly everything I would eat would sour and form gas and I would feel like I had a knot of some kind in my stomach. It certainly was a miserable feeling and when these spells would be on me I would have a dull, heavy headache and would be so nervous at times that the least little thing would upset me completely and I would be awfully irritable. This gas in my stomach would also get up around my heart and cause it to palpitate so badly that I would have a smothering feeling like I could hardly get my breath, and I wouldn't be able to sleep good, either, and when I would get up in the morning, I would feel so tired and so account that I could hardly keep going I took all sorts of things in the hope of finding some relief, but nothing seemed to reach my case and I got to where I realized that if I didn't find something pretty soon that would help me, I would just have to lay off from my work."

"It was while I was feeling this way that I began taking Taniae and it seemed to give me relief almost from the start, so I kept on taking it, and I certainly have a mighty fine appetite now and nothing I eat hurts me the least bit. I am seldom bothered with gas on my stomach and hardly ever have a headache and my nerves are in good shape again and I can sleep like a log and get up feeling fine and ready for work. For forty years I had been troubled with malaria and when I went down in Mexico about eleven years ago as a mining engineer and assayer, this trouble got worse and it also bothered me a lot after I got back to the states, but after this Taniae got my stomach in good shape I was surprised to find that every sign of the malaria just seemed to have disappeared. Taniae has simply made life worth living to me now and I am glad to recommend it to others that may be suffering like I did."

Taniae is sold in Salem by Dr. S. C. Stone, in Hubbard by Hubbard Drug Co., in Mt. Angel by Ben Gooch, in Gervais by John Kelly, in Turner by E. P. Cornelius, in Woodburn by Lyman E. discussed in hot blood. It is a question of national policy to be settled by fair discussion, not considering railway owners or railway employees alone, but the interests of all people.

"How can the railways be most efficiently operated, so that the transportation charge which the public must pay shall be as small as is consistent with just treatment of investors and just treatment of employees? Railway investors are entitled to have a fair return on their capital as compared with investors in other industries and employees are entitled to fair compensation as compared with employees in other industries. This is the general principle upon which the railroad problem should be solved.

TERRIFYING DISCOMFORTS FROM SKIN DISEASE

Itching and Burning Eruptions Torture Victims.

If your skin seems ablaze with the fiery burning and itching of Eczema, real and lasting relief can only come from treatment that goes below the surface—that reaches down to the very source of the trouble. Skin-diseases come from a disordered condition of the blood, and search far and near, you cannot find a blood remedy that approaches S. S. S. for real efficiency. S. S. S. has been on the market for fifty years, during which time it has been giving uniform satisfaction for all manner of blood disorders. If you want prompt and lasting relief, you can rely upon S. S. S. For expert advice as to the treatment of your own individual case, write to-day to Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. 44, Atlanta, Ga.

"I don't believe the railroad men want any more than that they believe to be fair, but the leaders are in the position of advocates and attorneys. They see one side of the case only and are misled by the vast amount of misinformation, distorted statements and half truths that are current. The owners of securities of the principal railroads have nothing to fear from any fair inquiry into the value of the properties. The railroad investments of this country as a class are just as plain as any other form of investments.

"Vastly more money has been made by the people who have followed the construction of new railroads and land and industrial opportunities than has been made by investors in railroads. The rewards, on the average have not been excessive, measured by the returns upon other investments.

"There have been unscrupulous promoters in railroads as in other lines of business, but the stockholders have suffered most from them. The great body of railroad financing has been honest and sound on the whole, and the public has received full value and the best service in the world.

"The idea that the government can borrow in billions of dollars at four per cent under present conditions is a mistaken one. With only a small public debt, as formerly, government bonds free of all taxation were in demand by a small class of investors at low rate. That proves nothing as to the ability to float a great loan.

"Let any one ask himself how many people he knows who want a four per cent investment. It would be unjust and practical repudiation for the government, after ascertaining the fair cash value of the public market. According to the argument of the railroad men in their own behalf, money has so depreciated that 4 per cent on a given sum is no more than two per cent five years ago.

"This is not a matter which directly concerns commercial banks so much as it does savings banks, life insurance companies and private investments, but whoever has invested in good faith in railroad securities should have just treatment. Moreover, it is necessary that the present holday shall be treated in a manner which will not repel investments in the future because vast sums must be had continuously to keep the railroads up to the present needs of the country.

"Questions of this kind cannot be settled by ex-parte statements on either side. They must be threshed out in fair, candid discussion and settled with a desire to deal justly. Neither side can claim the right to be the sole judge of its own case, and that is the first question to be settled.

"It is not a time for hasty action or for any experiments which will tend to prevent the speedy revival of confidence and industry. The world is short of the common necessities of life and that is the first situation to be dealt with."

Miss Lottie Peters has been appointed as school librarian, with headquarters at the public library. Miss Peters comes from Portland and takes over the work which has been in charge of Mrs. Freer and Miss Paxon. She is a graduate of the Syracuse university for librarians, having spent two years of careful study in that institution, and is extremely competent and exceptionally well fitted for the line of work she will take up here.

After an enjoyable visit in Forest Grove, where she was the guest of her niece, Mrs. Richard Fendall, Mrs. George H. Burnett has returned home.

Mrs. D. S. Dimeley and daughter, Miss Gladys, left today for an indefinite stay at the Dimeley cottage at Newport. They took with them as their house guests, Misses Eleanor and Lena Hackett.

At a quiet wedding at the parsonage of the First Baptist church Sunday morning, Miss Loe'n Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eaton, became the bride of Alvin Van Cleave, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Van Cleave. The ceremony took place in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, about twelve guests attending. Reverend G. F. Holl, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated, using the ring ceremony. The bride was attired in a smart traveling suit and the young couple left immediately on a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will make their home about seven miles north of Salem.

Miss Theodosia Teel, whose wedding to Chester Goodman was an even of Sunday, was guest of honor at a prettily arranged miscellaneous shower recently, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Teel. A quantity of beautiful and useful gifts were received. Among

MAZOLA

The Perfect oil for cooking and salads

THE most discriminating epicure cannot say whether it is Mazola or imported olive oil in mayonnaise or French dressing served him. Italians who know real olive oil are enthusiastic about Mazola.

Your grocer sells Mazola at about one-half the price of the best olive oil.

Make This Delicious Mayonnaise Dressing Today

2 Eggs, Yolks only      1 pint of Mazola      1 teaspoon of Mustard
1 dash of Pepper      1 teaspoon of Salt      4 tablespoons of Vinegar

HAVE all ingredients and mixing utensils cold. Mix dry ingredients. Add egg yolks and when well mixed, add 1/2 teaspoon of vinegar. Add Mazola as the mixture thickens, add the remainder of the vinegar a little at a time. Now beat in the remainder of the Mazola gradually until all is used. The mayonnaise should be thick enough to hold its shape. Put in a glass jar and cover close. Place in the ice box to be used when needed. It will keep for weeks. Do not stir it when you open it; take out as much as you need with a tablespoon, and close the jar.
