Due to the timely arrival of night Officer Victor, a fire that was well under way in the Christian Science church was put out before any great damage was done. Mr. Victor was coming towards the police station about 8:30 o'clock this morning when he saw flames bursting out of the east window of the entrance to the church. As the fire house is just across the alley, the chemical was quickly brought into action. The firemen are of the opinion that the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion from some rags that had been saturated with linseed used in cleaning the interior of the church last evening.

Should the government name a price of 11 cents retail for sugar, a number of people in Salem would then pay a higher price than has prevailed for the past week. Inquiry at a number of grocery stores developed the fact that 10 cents a pound was about the general retail price, with a little concession for those who bought in sack lots. The man arrested back east by the federal authorities for profiteering was selling sugar at 15 cents a pound.

A report came from Turner the other day that about every other person in that village was preparing to stand the examination for postmaster, to be held in Salem next Saturday. While the report is doubtless exaggerated, it is known that there is unusual interest in the examination to be held under the civil service rules for postmaster of that town. As Turner is now rated as a fourth class office, there is no regular salary, but the income will depend upon stamps cancelled and box rent. Before being taken from a third class to a fourth class office, the rate at Turner was $1000 a year. Under the civil service rules whoever gets the appointment this time, may hold the office indefinitely as long as it is administered properly. Women are eligible and it is understood that a number will stand the examination next Saturday.

Telephone Extortion Sir Woodburn People At a fairly well attended meeting held in the city hall last Friday night, it was learned that many of the farmers now trading at Woodburn proposed or voted out their Pacific phones on account of farm rates on the Woodburn line going from $1 to $3 a month. In addition to this, those living in the vicinity of this city, but on other lines, would be required to pay a toll to telephone to Woodburn. The meeting was presided over by E. P. Moreton, who talked of the rise in rates and then called for expressions from others, a number of those present being farmers. To break a silence John P. Hunt gave his opinion of the new conditions and was landing on the Pacific Telephone company when three of the officials walked in. They were asked if they had anything to say on the subject and one of them took the floor and held it most of the evening. He told of the great expense the company was under and the rise was what could be expected to conform with the situation. Questions were popped to him from all sides, but he refused to give an answer and was surprised to hear Woodburn could telephone St. Paul without paying toll, stating that this was an error that would be corrected. The meeting closed with the chair appointing H. L. Gill, E. N. Hall, E. H. Wells, L. M. Bittney and Albert Stone to obtain the names of all users of phones who proposed ordering them out. These are requested to notify or sign up with members of the committee. After the meeting it was learned that the farmers are determined to put in actual time, one of which would come close to Woodburn, would connect with other mutual lines leading to other towns, where they will naturally trade. It was plainly evident that if Woodburn desires to hold this trade it must install a mutual line of its own and have from connection with these other mutuals.—Tribune.

Securing Right Of Way Mehama To Stayton (Capital Journal Special Service.) Stayton, Or., Aug. 16.—A meeting was held at the Howell school house, east of town Monday evening to discuss the question of securing the right-of-way for the railroad between Stayton and Mehama. Several were willing to donate while others having small pieces of cultivated land considered that they should receive some compensation. It is thought that there will be no trouble in securing the right-of-way and presenting it to the company.
