advertising for laborers to work on street paving. The pay is $4 a day.
The council last evening directed Mr.
Low to go ahead with about a block of paving on North Church street, another block on south 24th street off of State street, and another block on Ferry street between 14th and 15th streets. Mr. Low is willing to do the work at once if he can get the laborers. He says the city work will last about one month.

The only trouble the farmer will have this fall will be in figuring out his income tax, a prominent commis-ion and grain buyer said this morning. With the usual family, if there is just the wife, the income tax will not get him under the $2000 income. But so many farmers are receiving more than this amount for the wheat and oats crops alone, that almost all of the larger grain growers, as well as the log-ganberry barons will be under the necessity of making a report to the federal income tax officer at the post-office. Wheat is running on an average from $1.95 to $2 a bushel, and there is no speculative value in holding the crop, farmers are turning their wheat into cash.

Musical comedy, all new, first time here, at the Bligh starting tonight.

By a vote of 28 to 38, the school district of Turner refused a short time ago to give its pupils the advantage of a vocational course in agricultural training, under the Smith-Hughes act.
With the money supplied by the state and by the federal government, and the estimated income from pupils outside the district who would be attracted by the course in agriculture, it was estimated that the course would cost the Turner district only about $750 a year. As the matter now stands, Woodburn is the only school district in the county, offering a course in agriculture vocational training. It is thought by some of the people in the Turner district that after the advantages of a course in agriculture is more fully understood, the district will be willing to add about $750 to its present school budget.

Forest Fire Damage Near Silverton Exaggerated In Early Reports Of Blaze

A long distance telephone message received this morning by State Forester Elliott from Manager M. C. Woodward of the Silver Falls Lumber Company, stated that the fire which had been raging for several days in the "slashing" area in that district had covered a wide extent of territory and had done considerable damage but that the reports appearing in the morning papers was "grossly" exaggerated.
Two of the camps have been put out of commission, a couple of trees have been burned out, temporarily shutting down logging operations, and a large number of logs out in the timber have been more or less damaged. While the fire in the "slashing" was terrific in its heat and uncontrollable in its progress, the damage was not so great as it would have been had it gained progress in green timber. To prevent this the mills were closed down and the operatives joined the army of several hundred citizens from Silverton to fight the flames back from the green timber.
Manager Woodward expresses the belief that the combined forces will be able to hold the fire back and confine it to the slashing area. Mr. Woodward makes no attempt to estimate the losses at this time but merely intimates that reports have been exaggerated. The most serious phase of the situation is the shutting down of operations whereby several hundred employes will be out of work until the camps and equipment can be got into working order again. In the meantime a large number of families will be homeless and minus equipment which was destroyed along with the camps.

HOUSE ORDERS.

Organizations might be held liable under conspiracy clause of the act.

The house agricultural committee also plans to change radically Palmer's suggestion for amendment to the food control act.

Chairman Hagen today will submit amendments to the food control act which will provide for the proclamation of fair prices of all necessities by the president, with adequate power to severely punish all who sell above these figures.

The amendments have been framed after conferences with department of justice officials.

The amendments exempt farmers, farm organizations and firm with annual sales less than $100,000.

"If you can regulate the big fellows and tell the people what fair prices are, there won't be much chance for the little fellows to profiteer," he said.

"Attorney General Palmer or Assistant Attorney General Ames will be called before the committee today to give their opinion on some details of the plan.

"The main purpose of the amendments is to get immediate action and we propose to give the departments power beyond a shadow of a doubt to bring down prices," Hagen said.

"It is proposed to regulate storage and commission charges, as well as other profits."

Hagen's plan carries the same penalty Palmer proposed—fines of not more than $5000, imprisonment for not more than two years, or both.

The house today was expected to pass the resolution of Representative Igoe, Missouri, ordering the federal trade commission to make a complete investigation of the shoe situation.

Representative Slogch, New York, who claims manufacturers are planning to increase the price of white collars to 35 cents September 1, will ask consideration of his resolution for a federal trade commission investigation of this industry.

LIEUTENANT TOOZE WILL LECTURE HERE

War Veteran To Speak For Benefit Of University Building Fund.

Lieutenant Lamar Tooze, just back from two years in France, will tell of his war experiences next Tuesday evening, August 26, at the Salem armory, under the auspices of the Salem Women's club.

The last legislature gave the University of Oregon a certain sum for the erection of a woman's building, provided the women and university would raise a like amount. It is for this fund that Lieutenant Tooze has agreed to come to Salem and deliver the address.

It is his intention to relate an intimate story of a soldier's impression and experiences in the war and to also give his opinions on the league of nations.
He was in Paris four months and made special efforts to inform himself as to the general opinions regarding the proposed league.

Besides his interesting army experience, Lamar Tooze was one of the representatives of the University of Oregon on the Ford peace mission that was intended to put a stop to the war almost before it was well under headway.

To aid the women of the university in raising a fund for the erection of a woman's building, the Salem Women's club will have charge of the lecture.
Mrs. Z. J. Riggs, president of the Salem club, announces that the armory has already been secured for next Tuesday evening and that there will be a very short musical program and a short introduction of Lieutenant Tooze.

An effort will be made to interest all the women in the city in the lecture as well as members of the Elk lodge, especially as his father and brother, Captain Tooze are both members of the Salem lodge.

Efforts will also be made to secure a large attendance from Dallas, Dayton, Monmouth and Independence. It is well understood that Mr. Tooze went into the war well equipped to study conditions and for this reason it is felt that he will have an entirely new story to tell and a most interesting one.

Every merchant who will notify the secretary of the navy or the secretary of war that he will employ or is willing to employ every man who was in his service before the war, will receive a citation stating this fact. These citations are much in the form of a diploma and in the east are frequently displayed in store windows.
