Fire Situation In Polk County Not Threatening

There is nothing threatening about the forest fire situation in Polk county, according to Supervisor W. V. Fuller of Dallas, who was in Salem for a short time today for a conference with State Forester F. A. Elliott.

With the exception of the fire around the camp of the Willamette Valley Lumber company, above Black Rock, there are no serious blazes anywhere in the county, Mr. Fuller said. The Black Rock fire has so far been kept well in hand and in the absence of any high winds should be entirely subdued within a day or two.

While he has not yet had the opportunity to judge of the efficiency of the airplane fire patrol system through its work in his district, Mr. Fuller is confident that the plan will work out fully as well as it is expected to.

Crowd At Newport Beaches Is Largest On Record; Train Service Causes Complaints

Newport, Or., Aug. 21.—The season at this beach is without doubt the best that has yet been seen here. The travel to this date easily eclipses anything of the past and is growing in volume daily and it seems now that the height of the summer will yet be extended another two weeks at least, during the week the weather conditions have been a good deal varied. Sunday evening it was cool enough to make an overcoat feel very comfortable to the summer visitors while Monday refreshing shower of rain tempered the atmosphere to a delightful degree of mildness.

The agitation over the train service between Newport and Yaquina is apparently reaching a climax. The assistant director of railroads, is now en route here from Washington, D. C., to give the matter a thorough and personal investigation. The Newport Company has completed the Willamette valley for his reception and entertainment. The Willamette valley commercial bodies will be invited to attend. The Southern Pacific strongly and successfully has opposed every effort thus far to secure this train service. Just why the S. P. should make such strenuous objection to it is not apparent on the surface.

Work on the macadam highway between Newport and Toledo is being pushed as fast as possible. When this highway is completed to the Willamette valley it will be of incalculable value to this city as well as the entire bay country. The county court has made large purchases of road building machinery and is carrying out extensive work on the Siletz road which connects with the Newport road a mile west of Toledo. There are some nine miles of this road and not many years ago the county expended about $35,000 on it between work and machinery and made a dismal failure in road building.

The month of August is about to break the August record for marriage licenses. While in some communities the reports indicate that it is a 50-50 proposition between divorcees and marriages, it is all the other way in Marion county, for with but three divorce suits filed this month, there has been so far 27 marriage licenses issued. Yesterday a license to marry was issued to Pascal Kiddu Whelpton of Lincoln, Neb., professor of farm management, and Miss Lorena A. Parker of Orville, home demonstrating agent. Miss Parker devoted some time to Marion county during the war, showing the farmers wives how to cook. A license was also issued yesterday to Robert E. Francis, 37, of Hubbard and Lillie S. Smith, 31, of Hubbard.

Huckestein Back From Auto Trip To Southern Oregon

August Huckestein is home from an auto tour extending to Klamath Falls and returning by way of Bend. He says the Klamath Falls people are prosperous and happy and have great confidence in the future of that part of the state with an altitude of 4200 feet, which is 4087 feet higher than Salem.

The three court houses at Klamath Falls are explained by the fact that originally the county had a frame court house and then on one end was added a stone annex and then on the other end a brick annex. Later a California syndicate built the Pelican hotel just a little distant from the main business part of town and to cause things to grow that way, gave land on which was erected the second court house. This was never used. The new set of commissioners came along and built a fine $125,000 court house in the center of the town. This one has not been used and the courts are grinding away in the original, part brick, part stone and the rest frame.

Not being accustomed to a sandy country, Mr. Huckestein and his party found the country around Bend rather dry looking, although fine crops can be raised where water is available. The

Directors Of Commercial Club Vote To Co-Operate With Breeders Of Duroc

Co-operation with the Oregon State Duroc Breeders association was voted by the directors of the Salem Commercial club at the monthly session held last evening.

The co-operation voted is that of putting the Commercial club back of the annual meeting and sale of the Duroc association which will be held at the state fair grounds either the last week in January or during the first week in February.

The co-operation of the club and the help that will be given the Duroc breeders means that at the sale and meeting to be held in the city, from 50 to 75 breeders of the finest Duroc swine will be present, besides about 25 from other points in the northwest, with an attendance of about 500.

With proper recognition by the club and the citizens of the city, it is felt that Salem may eventually become the northwest headquarters for the sale of thorough bred swine.

J. W. Fruit, of Brooks, has been appointed chairman of the sale committee and Duroc breeders throughout the northwest will be informed of the coming sale.
