The arrival of Miss Elizabeth Freeman Fox as dean of women at the University of Oregon this autumn will mark the completed end of the war period for the women of the school. Dean Fox has spent the last year and a half in France under the services of the Y. W. C. A. In one of the larger cities of France she was put in charge of all American women and under her direction a large force of assistants. She returned to her home in New York early in the summer. Miss Fox was formerly northwest district secretary for the northwest district of the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. B. F. Dimeler and daughter, Miss Gladys, accompanied by their house guests, Misses Eleanor and Lena Hackett, returned last evening from a fortnight's outing at Newport.

The ceremony was held at Y. W. C. A. headquarters in Lille, the medal being presented by the mayor of Lille to Miss Harriet Taylor, director of Y. W. C. A. work overseas. Prominent officials of the city, members of the committee assisting the Y. W. C. A. and secretaries of the association were in attendance. Evelyn W. Fox, director of Y. W. C. A. work in Lille, assisted Miss Taylor.

The American Y. W. C. A. is in charge of recreation for girls at the large camp which has been opened at Etaples to care for 10,000 children from Lille during July and August. Miss Emma Ross who is in charge of this work plans the program and trains French women who have volunteered for service in order to learn American recreational methods, that each may take charge of a unit of fifty girls to direct them in their play. The camp was formerly a British barrack center, the sea air, wide beaches and sand dunes, making it an ideal location for children who have been partially starved and who have been maltreated by the enemy for five years. The movement for saving the children of Lille is headed by the entire municipality. The Y. W. C. A. will carry on its recreation work for girls through its Poy-des-Alles in Lille after school begins and the children return home. The war work council of the Y. W. C. A. also announces the arrival of the first unit of Polish Gray Samaritans in France. This unit is lodged at Hotel Trianon, a Y. W. C. A. hotel in Paris, and will start for Warsaw Wednesday where they will be guests of Mme. Palerewski in headquarters which she has secured for them. president's appeal and whose leaders are conferring here today. The shompen are to issue a statement setting forth their position on the answer to their demand. This answer offered them an increase of four cents an hour instead of the increase they were asking, ranging from 17 to 27 cents an hour. It was accompanied by an appeal to their patriotism to forego demands for wage increases until normal conditions could be restored.

It was the general belief here that the shompen would take another strike referendum on the president's reply before acting. It was understood that leaders had promised the president as much during their White House meeting yesterday.

President Wilson's appeal was generally viewed here today in the aspect of its effect on organized labor as a whole, rather than from the aspect of its immediate reaction on the shompen's leaders.

The appeal was addressed to the shompen, but it was aimed also at other organized railway workers, including members of the four great brotherhoods who are framing demands, and at the steel workers.

The action the shompen take, may influence the course of 52,000 railway conductors and 187,000 trainmen whose officials have placed before the railroad

COMPERS RETURNS

Go half way and endorse democratization of such industries as are possible of nationalization, such as railroads, mines and monopolies, or, Continue along present trade union lines, basing all action on the question of wages and hours.

The railroad brotherhoods have led the way in an effort to break away from the "wages and hours" fight by adoption of the Plumb plan.

Those supporting the movement toward democratization of industry declare they "do not want mere increased wages, but release from the servitude of the wage system."

They point out, as President Wilson pointed out in his statement that as prices go up with every wage increase, a vicious circle is being maintained under the old system. The workers, therefore, want a voice in control.

The George Washington, carrying Compens and the labor party, reported off Sandy Hook at 10:20 and was expected to dock at Hoboken shortly after noon.

For the first time in the history of Compens' leadership, reports are beginning to circulate from some centers of the mass of labor in these regions "being out of control."

In Chicago the labor party movement is said to overshadow the strength of the A. F. of L. The same conditions are beginning to be felt in New York. Compens has always opposed a labor party. But the leaders of the party movement are now confident they will force a new decision. No one in touch with the situation is willing to hazard a guess as to what the decision may be. In addition to working out a definite policy and program for future action the following are a few of the immediate situations Compens has to meet:

Threatened strike of steel workers, whose representatives are now in New York seeking to lay demands for increased wages before the United States Steel corporation.

The railway shompen's demands, which President Wilson seeks to be held in abeyance during the high cost of living fight.

The Plumb problem. At the executive council meeting fourteen railroad union heads, representing the four brotherhood and ten other railway unions, will urge strong endorsement of the Plumb plan.

The miners' situation, in which a strong movement is under way to come out for demands for nationalization of mines. This issue is scheduled to be voted upon at the miners convention in Cleveland next month.

Compens cancelled engagements he had standing in Paris in order to catch the George Washington and get home at the earliest possible moment.

administration demands for wage increases averaging 35 and 40 cents respectively. Officials of these railroad unions have not yet received a reply to their demands. Trainmen expect their answer September 1.

Officials of the railroad administration at the White House today made no attempt to minimize the seriousness of the present situation.

The president said yesterday that we "are face to face with a situation which is more likely to affect the happiness and prosperity and even the life of our people, than the war itself."

Again he declared that failure to solve the price situation now facing the country "will mean national disaster."

On one hand, the president pointed out, is the government trying to reduce prices, and he assured the shompen with every hope of success. The peak of high prices has been reached, he said.

On the other hand, the shompen and other unions are demanding wage increases which will furnish a further excuse for high prices and profiteering.

To grant these demands, the president said, would defeat the government's effort and he declared that it is the duty of every citizen "to insist upon a truce in such contests."

Presence of Compens in Washington will have a beneficial effect not only on the railroad situation, officials feel, but also upon the attitude of organized labor in all crafts, in line with the general appeal of the president. With Compens here workers will feel their interests are being continually guarded, officials say.

A Million Babies - and One Pair of Pink Cheeks

WHEN my doctor told me to give my baby Nestlé's Food because I couldn't nurse him, I said, "Have many babies brought up on it?"

He smiled. "Right here in the United States" he said, "at this minute there are many thousands of babies keeping well and strong on Nestlé's. All over the world it's the same way—and that will give you some idea of how many babies have kept well on Nestlé's Food during the past fifty years."

And yet it wasn't all those millions of babies that convinced me. It was the pink cheeks of my own baby.

A Bad Tooth Never Grows Better Unless Good Dentists Help It

By DR. PARKER
Founder and Executive Head of the E. R. Parker System

THE first duty of a dentist is to save teeth, and when they are past saving he must resort to artificial plates.

Some dentists can save teeth that others can't, because some men know more than others.

The advantage of having your dental work done under the E. R. Parker System is this:

The System is employed by Registered Dentists working together, and the dental work they do is the result of all their knowledge combined, each one doing that kind of work that he best knows how to do.

The judgment of one man in dentistry is never so dependable as the combined judgment of several men.

Registered Dentists using the E. R. Parker System make examinations and give advice free, and they tell all patients examined what their teeth need and how little the price will be for doing the work.

Everyone should have the teeth examined at least twice a year, and the plan of charging nothing for examinations is something you ought not to overlook.
