Resinol is healing my eczema so quickly! You don't have to wait to know that Resinol is healing your skin trouble! The first application usually stops the itching and makes the skin look healthy.

Dr. Doney reports that he has assurance of a contribution from Gen. W. O. O'Neil of Portland to the amount of $1300 for the new Lausanne hall. That is to say, the contributor will bear the expense of furnishing and equipping two rooms in the dormitory.

The check raising artist appeared in Turner yesterday, according to Sheriff W. J. Needham. A man by the name Fry. He has had half a dozen applicants for the building but has not as yet leased. It was scarcely one year ago that one could rent a dozen or more store buildings in the city. It is different now.

Plans Are Considered For Woman's Dormitory of Willamette University

Handsome Building Will Soon Be Erected To House Women Students.

With the "fidelity of faith" in Divine Providence and the generosity of man—the trustees of Willamette University this morning began to get ready to take the preliminary steps toward the construction of the long coveted "ladies" dormitory. Lausanne Hall, a meeting of the special committee, headed by Mrs. A. N. Bush, charged with obtaining plans for the future building, met this morning and conferred at length with regard to the plans recently drawn up by Architect P. A. Legg. These plans, which are a work of art in themselves, visualize one of the finest modern buildings in the state and they met with ready approval from the committee, whose report to a future meeting of the trustees will undoubtedly be accepted without qualifications.

The building as projected by Mr. Legg will call for an expenditure of about $65,000 which is considerably more than the original estimates. The material will be a fine grade of red brick, with trimmings of white stone. Roughly, the dimensions will be 184,500 feet, three stories high, with full basement. The general atmosphere of the building is that of the most approved modern lines.

The basement will have in addition to furnace and fuel room, a trunk room, store room, laundry, quarters for janitor and other help, and is built with a view to installing a gymnasium and swimming pool in the future. On the first floor will be a handsome reception room, office suites, guest room, a dining room capable of seating all the occupants of the building, a beautiful main parlor with two smaller parlors connected with arches. While a portion of the floor will be occupied with kitchen, pantry and store room. This floor will also accommodate six sleeping rooms, three sick rooms which comprise an infirmary, in addition to rooms for employees.

The entire space of the second floor will be occupied with sleeping rooms with the exception of a general living room 24x30 feet in size, and a long sleeping porch capable of accommodating all the occupants of the building if necessary. The third floor will be a duplicate of the second except for the sleeping porch and living room. All the floors are provided with the finest of toilet and bath equipment, and each sleeping room will be provided with hot and cold water.

Special attention is given throughout the building to light and ventilation, and the element of beauty runs through it along with utility and convenience. The exact location of the campus is not yet decided but a plot has been ordered which will enable the trustees to make a final decision. At the next meeting of the trustees bids will be called for, and the statement is vouchsafed by President Doney that the finances are now so well in hand that construction may be undertaken at any time.

When completed the building will not only be a credit to the university but a monument to the genius of Archbishop Legg, with whom it is a masterpiece in a series of public buildings, and one to which he has devoted the greatest amount of study. It might be noted in this connection that Mr. Legg has produced the plans for a fine brick block, with an estimate of $55,000 for the Vlak Brothers company in Portland, and furnished plans for two modern dormitories for one of the state institutions this year.

Habeas Corpus Suit To Recover Daughter

The habeas corpus proceedings before Judge Kelly today in which Marie A. Shelton seeks to secure possession of her daughter, Josephine Matlock, will continue probably until tomorrow.

A number of witnesses have been called to testify as to the fitness of the mother to care for her daughter. The only question in the matter now before the court is as to whether the mother is a proper person to care for her 11 year old daughter with whom she has not lived since the girl was one or two years old.

Mrs. Shelton, mother of 11 year old Josephine Matlock, brought suit July 14 against Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Weeks, living near Salem, alleging that the Weeks family were unlawfully detaining her daughter.

Answering the complaint, Mr. and Mrs. Weeks told the story of the girl's life. When but a year or so old she was adopted by Mrs. Cora Bell Matlock and proceedings were had to make the adoption legal. It seems that at this time the adoption was entirely satisfactory to the mother.

Mrs. Cora Bell Matlock, aunt of the girl, died Oct. 13, 1916, and it was then that Mrs. Weeks, also an aunt, took the girl and has since then made her one of the family.

When the case was called for trial, it was found that the original adoption proceedings by Mrs. Cora Bell Matlock were illegal as the father had not given his consent, although the mother consented. It was also shown that Mr. and Mrs. Weeks had made an effort to adopt the girl legally through the court of domestic relations in Portland. It was later shown that this court had no jurisdiction in Marion county.

Mrs. Marie Shelton the mother alleges that she is engaged in running a baby nursery in Portland and that she is a competent person to care for her daughter. The evidence being introduced today is also whether the mother, having married three times and changed her residence often, is the right person to care for the 11-year-old girl.
