ELEMENTARY GRADES STUDY COURSE OUT

Announcement Shows Many Changes Made In Work Of Grade Schools

The course of study for the elementary grades has just been received from the press at the office of Superintendent J. A. Churchill, and the distribution among the teachers of the state began today.

One of the most important new features is the supplementary work in the course in reading. In addition to the basal text, the teacher is to choose one of four adopted texts to be used for supplementary work. At least one of the supplementary texts is to be purchased by the pupil or by the school board. The course of study urges that these supplementary texts be purchased by the school board for the use of the pupil. These adopted for this purpose are literary readers, Young & Field literary readers, Merrill Young, and Riverside readers.

In order to help the teacher of the one room rural school which has pupils in all of the eight grades, a rural school program is published showing how classes may be combined for the best economy of the time of both pupil and teacher.

For the language work in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, the teacher is referred to the course of study in elementary English which accompanies the adopted text, Potter, Josie and Gillet's oral and written English. This manual is furnished free to all teachers.

In geography the same text as used last year will be followed until the changes in the boundaries appear in the map of the newly adopted texts of the Farr and McMurtry series. These are expected to be ready for use at the opening of the schools in the fall of 1920.

In American history the outline for the first four grades follows that given in the report of the committee of eight. The course in the first two grades is planned to give the child an impression of primitive life and an appreciation of the public holidays. The child is taught to enter into the spirit of all public holidays and to respect the historical background that has made these days possible. In the third grade the heroes of other times are introduced, and in the fourth the pupil is present to historical scenes and persons in American history. The work of these first four grades prepares the way for the stories of American history and the American beginning in Europe taught in the fifth and sixth grades, and for the more complete and detailed study of American history of the seventh and eighth grades.

For every subject the outlines and suggestions have been amplified and made more complete. In presenting this elementary course of study to the teachers of the state, Superintendent Churchill urges them ever to bear in mind that they are to teach the child and not the subject.

SHORT MAJOR LEAGUE SEASON NOT FAVORED

Magnates Indicate Return To 154-Game Schedule Next Year.

New York, Aug. 29.—Experience this year spells the doom of the short season in the major leagues. Magnates in both circuits are kicking themselves, so to speak, over the lack of merits over the old 154-game schedule, the club owners have adopted the "never again" motto.

President Hegdler, of the National league, believes that the first decision made when next season's schedules are arranged will be to bring back the old long season. "From the talk of club owners I have no doubt that they will disapprove further experiment with short seasons," he said today.

Loss of fourteen games has not only meant much in dollars and cents to the club owners, but it may be a factor in cutting some of them out of fat slices of world's series coin. Cleveland and Detroit both figure that the short season cut them out of a swell chance for the American league pennant. They both figure that fourteen more games would give them just the chance wanted to cut down the margin of the leading White Sox.

The subject may be considered Tuesday when the National commission meets in Chicago.

age of rice in the export centers of the Orient is stiffening prices and the new crop is expected to open at about 40 per cent for paddy rice.

The estimated Pacific coast hop crop of 100,000 bales will be somewhat exceeded if the damage by lice, apparent in some sections of California, does not become more serious.

Music Publisher Dies As Wife Sings Favorite Air

Los Angeles.—Loving music to the last, Rudolph Edward Schirmer, president and treasurer of the music house of G. Schirmer, Inc., died in his wife and a friend, R. B. Gring, sang an air from Beethoven in Santa Barbara, Cal., Tuesday evening. Mr. Schirmer had been ill for a long time, and when he felt the end was approaching he asked his wife, who was formerly Miss Ann Swinburne, comic opera star, to sing an air from his favorite composer.

Mr. Schirmer was born in this city 60 years ago. He received his elementary education in the schools here and in Weimar, Germany. He received his degree of bachelor of arts from Princeton in 1880 and was graduated from the Columbia law college four years later and began practicing law.

A year later he entered the music publishing firm which his father had founded. He became president of the firm upon its reorganization as a stock company twenty-six years ago. Mr. Schirmer married Miss Swinburne in Salinas, Cal., March 28, 1916. His first wife was Miss Martha Y. Barnes of this city. His wife and a two-weeks-old son survive.

Organization Of Labor Party In Oregon Starts

Portland, Or., Aug. 29.—A movement is well under way here for the formation of a labor party in Oregon. It has been unanimously endorsed by the Portland central labor council.

It is proposed that organized labor affiliate with the railroad brotherhoods, the state grange and the non-partisan league in a new political party.

ing address. Only yesterday at an address in the city that always receives mail daily, the carrier found the house closed. No forwarding address had been given. With no information as to where the parties went, or whether they intend to return to Salem, the carrier was obliged to return the mail and it will be held until something can be learned as to the present address of those who left without giving a forwarding address.

Paul Stege, who is now in San Francisco, writes friends here that when the steady and slow going Oregonians drive to that city, they have a hard time getting accustomed to the fast way in which things move. On Market street, Mr. Stege writes that one will get run over if he does not drive from 30 to 40 miles an hour. He writes that C. B. Webb and Frank Myers were found driving through the city at the accustomed Oregon speed and that they blocked traffic, until a policeman came along and told them to speed up. He also writes that when several young ladies attempted to appear on Market street in the latest style from Paris in not wearing stockings, that the police were called in to clear a way for the street cars. Also that instead of the regulation bonded goods in the windows of the former saloons, that Plex and Applix are used for the window displays.

PERSONAL

H. N. Stoudenmeyer of Portland who has been visiting here several days, returned home today noon.

C. I. Lewis, publicity manager of the Oregon Growers Cooperative association, is visiting with his family at Newport.

W. F. Buchner and family will leave next Monday for an auto trip of several days, going as far north as Vancouver, B. C.

A. B. Webb and family and Frank Myers and family are home from an automobile trip down south.

Miss Mary Cunningham of Vancouver, B. C., who has been visiting here several days with relatives, left today noon for her home.

Local People Return From 3100-Mile Vacation Trip

Concluding an automobile trip on which they covered more than 3100 miles, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Webb and Mrs. F. G. Myers returned to Salem this morning after a vacation tour extending over a month.

Going down over the Pacific highway the party went as far south as San Juan, Mexico, and spent several days in the southern California country, making brief trips out of Los Angeles to all of the principal points of interest. They spent three or four days in and around San Francisco and in making the return trip came back by way of Fresno, Stockton, Eureka and Crescent City. From Crescent City they followed the coast route northward to Baldon and thence back to the highway over the Coquille river middle fork road, coming out at Roseburg.

They report that few stretches of really bad road were encountered and that most of the trip was very enjoyable from the standpoint of motoring comfort.

COAST HOP CROP

Regarding crop conditions in the 12th federal reserve district, the bulletin issued by the federal reserve bank of San Francisco says:

The growth of rice is open season, what retarded, but not injured, by weather. Preliminary estimates of this year's crop in California vary from 3,825,000 bags of 100 pound each to 5,965,000 bags, as compared with 3,157,000 bags in 1918. The anticipated short-main complaint everywhere is in the number of construction. It seems that a stretch of road is torn up, and then the workmen go off to some other section of the highway and work on another stretch. Instead of doing continuous work anywhere, the highway is torn up from place to place, resulting in extremely unfavorable conditions for traveling.

F. H. Krug of the Kennewick-Richland Marketing Union of Kennewick, Washington, was in the city yesterday for the express purpose of finding out how the Oregon Growers Cooperative association do things. He said that in his union they have 15 local bodies and there is a feeling that cooperation along the lines of the Oregon Growers Cooperative association would be for the benefit of all. At the headquarters in the Masonic Temple, he was given an outline of the plans now under way.

Hawkins & Roberts, who recently purchased the Hubbard building, are today moving their offices to the building from the second floor of the Masonic Temple. The Hubbard building is now being renovated in many ways and being prepared especially for offices. After Sept. 1 the name is to be changed to that of the Oregon building. Hawkins & Roberts will have personal charge of the building.

A marriage license was issued yesterday for Leland R. Waters, 23, an accountant whose former home was San Francisco, and Miss Hazel Blake, law clerk for Justice Benson.

Robert C. Paulus and J. O. Holt of Eugene met yesterday with the prune growers of Clarke county, Washington, for the purpose of telling them what the Oregon Growers Cooperative association was doing and to secure their cooperation. Mr. Paulus is head of the sales department of the Oregon Growers cooperative association and Mr. Holt packing manager.

W. E. Anderson and K. J. Brown announced to the people of Salem and the world at large that they have purchased the Watt Ship sporting goods store at 126 South Commercial street. Mr. Anderson has been with the Watt Ship store for about 12 years. Mr. Brown has been in this line of business about 12 years and with the Watt Ship company for the past two and one half.

Vice President J. W. Barrett and Secretary J. W. Hayes, of the International Typographical union, with headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, are in the city today, and met for conference with the local union at the Marion hotel. The object of the conference was to arrive at an agreement as to the future wage scale for the union, which has not as yet arrived at a definite understanding.

Assessor Ben F. West announces that the county equalization board will meet Monday Sept. 8 and remain in session daily during the rest of the month, or probably 30 days. All who have any kick coming regarding their assessments are cordially invited to visit the board, which consists of County Judge Busley, County Clerk Boyer and County Assessor West. According to the county law, all property must be assessed at its cash value on March 1. Last year only three complaints were made to the equalization board and Mr. West says it is very unusual to have more than half a dozen complaints.

Frank Davey, the versatile, has graduated from a clerical position in the state house into the business circles of Salem. He has resigned his position with the industrial accident commission to take effect the first of September, and will assume the office management of a new firm of fruit land dealers, composed of himself and the Pearey brothers, Knight and Harry. They will have their headquarters in the Hubbard building, and will make a specialty of the planting, development and sale of fruit tracts. All three members of the firm are thoroughly experienced in fruit culture, Knight being in charge of the well known Skyline Orchards, devoted to walnuts and prunes.

Judge Daniel Webster, state commander of the Grand Army of the Republic and about 20 others will attend the 53d national encampment of the G. A. R. to be held at Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 7-13. A greater number of those going will leave on the special G. A. R. headquarters train from Portland Sept. 11. This train will go over the Northern Pacific to Spokane and Billings, thence through Wyoming and Nebraska to Omaha and thence to Chicago. Judge Webster will visit at his birthplace Elyria, Ohio, and then at La Crosse, where he enlisted in 191. On his way home he will spend some time at Denton, Texas, where he lived for 20 years before coming to Oregon in 1895.

T. E. McCroskey, manager of the Salem Commercial club has been invited by the Commercial club and the Kenwick club of Astoria, to deliver an address in Astoria on the evening of Sept. 4. He will talk for the subject of his address, "My community."

C. W. Niemeyer, the real estate man who has just returned from near Eugene, says the highway is in a fierce condition, with the dust about one foot thick. And with the worst condition ever known along the highway, there are to be found cars from all parts of the country, many needing repairs due to the bad traveling. The
