Viavi, the old home remedy for men, women and children, prevents operations. Mrs. Poor, representative, Marion hotel.

While celebrating the arrival of his first born, H. D. Lee, Korean proprietor of the noodle house on Commercial street closed his place of business to receive the proper congratulations from his acquaintances. During his absence, a thief entered his noodle house and carried away $135. All this happened Friday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock.

Notwithstanding reports to contrary Roy Bremner, deputy game warden, says that women who want to go hunting after game, must take but a hunting license, just like a man, and it will cost $1.50. However, the law makers were courteous to women when they made the fishing laws and now if any woman wishes to fish—that is, by hook and line, commonly called angling—she has that privilege and no game warden may ask her to produce a license. The state law says that "all persons" who want to hunt game, must take out a license.

There has been no great rush in taking out hunting and fishing licenses. During the past week resident hunters licenses have been issued to the following: B. H. Drager, H. L. Marsters, S. W. Marsters, J. R. Hammer, Carrie L. Hammer, John P. Curtiss, H. H. Vandervert, A. J. Gregg and John R. Banger. Combination hunting and fishing licenses have been issued to C. A. Sturgis. Anglers licenses have been issued to J. O. Mathis, Earl R. Van Nuys and Robert Simpson.

The Conrad Krebs farm of 177 acres near Hogmere, was sold at sheriff's sale this morning for $16,268.57. The purchasers were Robert Haekit of Brooks and A. E. Harris living near Brooks. The farm was sold on a sheriff's sale on a judgment and foreclosure in a suit entitled the Alliance Trust company versus Conrad and Lanna Krebs. The trust company's total interest in the farm amounted to something over $16,000.

Members of the Rebekah lodge are requested to attend the funeral services of Mrs. Mollie B. Bigham which will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the chapel of Webb & Clough.

Roxy Jones, now of Portland but a former resident of Salem along in the '90's, is looking over the city today. He is in the telephone service and left Salem in 1895, but visited the city again in 1905 when the telephone headquarters were moved from North Commercial street to the present headquarters.

Hogs dropped $3 a hundred today in the Portland market and this of course will mean a drop of that much in the local market as Salem figures are controlled by the Portland quotations. This sudden drop in Portland follows the decline in price in Chicago a few days ago.

T. L. Davidson of Indian Hill farm, left enough peaches at the Capital Journal to gorge the whole news staff and mechanical force and then some. The peaches grown by Mr. Davidson this year are the finest we have seen on the market and he has a big crop.

Thomas Harrison, a prominent citizen in the Corvair neighborhood died at his home near Parkersville Wednesday night after an illness of several months at the age of 66 years. He is survived by a widow and several grown children. The funeral services were held today according to the ritual of the Odd Fellows at Pioneer cemetery.

There are plenty of jobs for bookkeepers and good stenographers. W. L. Staley said today. Just at present he has four good jobs to offer outside of Salem, paying all the way from $70 to $125 a month. These jobs refer especially to young women who can spell correctly and are competent.

The funeral services of Mrs. Mollie B. Bigham who died at Medford Aug. 27, will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the chapel of Webb & Clough. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Leland Porter, assisted by members of Salem Rebekah lodge No. 1. Burial will be in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

Thieves were heard in the rear of the Clifford Brown home the other evening. A party living at the Washington hotel (formerly the Dilly house) heard the burglars and gave the alarm to them by slamming a door and then turning on a light. The thieves then slyly made their departure. It is thought they were after the Brown automobile. Chief Varney suggests that it would help much if people would just take a little more care in locking their doors. Also to notify the police when things look wrong or when something has happened.

At a sheriff's sale this morning the second mortgage on 132 acres of land in the Waldo hills was sold for $316.05 to George Harvey. The suit under which the foreclosure was held was entitled George Harvey versus Texanna Rogers and her husband J. M. Rogers. Texanna Rogers, whose home was in Portland, died a few weeks ago. The judgment on the original second mortgage was for $194 but the expense of the foreclosure, due to the long legal descriptions of the land, amounted to $122.05.

In connection with the Labor day exercises Monday morning, the boy scouts of the city will have a unique and impressive little ceremony. The boys have gathered up during the past few months a large collection of old discarded and tattered United States flags, which according to their code of ethics it is not proper to relegate to the rag bag or the garbage heap. They hold that the only proper method of disposing of a discarded flag is to burn it in a respectful way. In view of this the boy scouts will have an altar erected in the gymnasium at the fair grounds next Monday evening, and upon this altar the old flags will be burned, with a brief ritual and address by one of our local speakers. The ceremony will be in charge of Harold Cooke and Clyde C. Niles.

MARION COUNTY BOYS WIN IN PIG JUDGING

Oliver Fuestman And Homer Bray To Represent Oregon At Spokane.

Marion county won the contest in pig judging, in competition with all counties in the state and the two boys selected will leave tomorrow for Spokane to attend the livestock association of the northwestern states.

The two boys who won and who made the best score on all points on judging the merits of pigs are Oliver Fuestman of the Bethel school, six miles east of the city, and Homer Bray, of the Auburn school just west of the city. Both boys are members of the United States National bank club.

L. J. Allen, state pig club leader, who has been spending the past three weeks in the state sizing up and marking contestants for this judging, was in the city two days of this week and took a number of the most promising pig club boys and tried them out on judging pigs at the feeble minded institute and elsewhere.

The two boys chosen to represent Oregon will be cared for at the boys' and girls' camp at Spokane and have all their expenses paid during the week and traveling expenses. They will judge pigs, entering into competition with pig club boys chosen by California, Idaho and Montana.

STATE HOUSE

Colonel John Lender has at sundry times been indicated as something of an alarmist during the war period; but it must be admitted that few men in the west have been in better position to judge of national situations. Hence his statements in appreciation of the Oregon Home Guards are well worth considering. In a recent letter to Governor O'Leary he recalls the revelations of German plans to invade the coast country by way of Mexico, and goes on to say:

"I do not think that any reasonable man can now question the fact that it was proposed by the Germans to 'Belgiumize' Oregon last July, certainly no soldier could doubt it, and there can also be very little doubt that Oregon was saved owing to nearly 10,000 of her citizens outside the draft ages springing to arms and going through all the demerit of making themselves into efficient fighting men.

"I can certainly testify to the very remarkable efficiency which they attained by their hard work. And I have no doubt whatever in my mind but that the reports from German agents here to that effect to their headquarters in Mexico saved the state from the horrors of an invasion."

The state highway commission has proposed to macadamize the stretch of highway between Bend and Reardon, on the Dalles-California route, providing the county will prepare the roadbed, which will cost approximately $60,000. The Bend Commercial club has taken up the matter.

Following the series of communications between the governor's office and the Oregon delegation at Washington with regard to the removal of the airplane fire patrol bases from Salem and Roseburg to Eugene, Colonel H. H. Arnold of the California flying field, has wired the war department to the effect that the patrol service in Oregon had been made more efficient and economical by the centering of the planes at Eugene, and pointing to the fact that on account of their greater speed the DeHavillands were capable of covering the entire territory from the central point.

One-Armed Soldier Held For Killing Bartender

San Francisco, Aug. 30.—(United Press.)—Quartermaster Sergeant Walter C. Ford, who lost an arm fighting the Germans in France, was arrested today as a suspect in the murder yesterday of Otto Wunderlich, bartender at The State cafe.

Ford was arrested when he appeared at the Presidio. He will be charged with murder.

Wunderlich told friends a one-armed soldier had stabbed him. Wunderlich died from the effects of a deep razor cut that opened his throat and ranged downward across his left breast and under his arm.

Fire Near Cooper City Threatens Forest Reserve

Portland, Or., Aug. 30.—Reports which have been received here show that the forest fire in the vicinity of Cooper City, Wash., has assumed serious proportions. Unless the blaze is checked it will soon be into Yacolt national forest.

The fires in the immediate vicinity of Portland have been controlled. The most serious blaze in Oregon now is the Fall Creek fire in the Cascade reserve. A new fire in the Santiam national forest is burning seriously. It is feared that it will spread to alarming proportions.

Rains are needed to stop fires menacing a large district northeast of White Salmon, Wash.

New York.—High rents and no liquor, were the reasons given by Romanians who stood in line all day awaiting passports to take them home.
