Dallas Boy Goes To France For

Dallas, Sept. 1.—William Boydson of Mr. and Mrs. James Boydson of this city left Dallas this morning for France, where he will represent the United States in the 1919-20 Olympic Games.

Mr. Boydson was a member of the Third Oregon band and was stationed in France near Contres for more than a year. It was here he fell in love with a little French girl and when he separated from her to return with the Oregon boys he swore that he would return some day and marry her and bring her to the United States to live. He started Saturday morning to make good his promise.

Since his return to Dallas Mr. Boydson has been working in the shipyards of Portland but gave up his position last week and returned to his home here to make preparations for his trip to France.

Mr. Boydson while stationed in France made a special study of the French language and also took a special course in music at a conservatory in that country. Mr. Boydson and his bride expect to return to this city to make their home sometime the latter part of the year.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS AT DOORS OF SALEM

Development Of Dehydration Industry Held Big Thing For Central Valley.

Speaking of the Salem King's Product company and what has happened to what was formerly the Wittenburg-King Products company and the new deal that is now on, a prominent business man who has investigated, has expressed the opinion that opportunity is knocking most awfully hard at the doors of Salem and almost every body is asleep and no one hears.

That it was outside parties who saw the great possibilities of dehydration and the patents owned by the Salem King's Products company and that it was outside parties, backed by the Ladd & Tilton bank of Portland, and all that bank stands for, that is now proceeding to put Salem on the map with a quarter of a million dollar national advertising campaign this fall.

"The business air of Salem is charged with a movement that bears all the earmarks of the biggest step forward this city has ever taken, industrially and commercially," he said. "It is characteristic of a people not to see or know the big things right at home and for this reason, it is the far seeing man from the outside that comes in and attempts to show people their possibilities."

"The great movement that is now on to develop a tremendous dehydration center through the medium of the Salem King's Products company shows what the outside man saw and which was not seen by those living in the city. Par seeing men associated with the Ladd & Tilton bank of Portland have come to Salem and made known what may be eventually one of the greatest industries of the country—dehydration. A number of progressive Salem men have heard the knocking of opportunity, and have become associated with the financial interests now back of dehydration."

"Dehydration and Salem, Oregon, will within a few months, be known all over the world through the medium of national advertising that will reach the readers of magazines with a monthly circulation of 6,000,000. Conservative advertisers figure five readers to each magazine, and the first big gun in the advertising of Salem and dehydration will be in the double page colored advertisement of the Saturday Evening Post of October 4.

"Dehydration means taking the water out of fruit and vegetables, placing same in convenient cartons and then through the patented process, enabling the housekeepers throughout the United States to serve fruits and vegetables with exactly the original fresh flavor."

"Dehydration means that Salem is eventually to have one of the largest plants in the United States and that this part of the valley will be the best advertised valley in the whole country."

"The only thing that can hold back the development of an immense plant in Salem, is the question as to whether the farmers will produce the fruits and vegetables. The men backing the plant have the capital and confidence in the future of dehydration, but in order to develop, there must be the acreage and this question of acreage will be put squarely to the business men and farmers this fall and winter."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Price of Oregon City were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Crider last week. Mr. Price was formerly a Dallas business man.

G. A. Griswold a prominent Falls City business man, was a Dallas business visitor Thursday.

Mexican Say American Has Confessed To Oil Robberies

Mexico City, Sept. 1.—(United Press)—Federal authorities here declared yesterday that an American citizen named Tolley had been arrested at Tancico and had confessed to complicity in recent robberies of oil companies. His confession involved other Americans, Mexican authorities said.

Secretary of State Berlinga issued a statement yesterday preliminary to President Carranza's message to congress, which will be delivered this afternoon.

Berlinga declared the statements of interventionists that Mexico was crushed and that her salvation was hopeless except through foreign action were devoid of truth. This was demonstrated, he said, by the large investments being made constantly by foreign interests.
