The blockade of wheat in the elevators and warehouses of Portland continues and as a result, farmers are for the time being obliged to hold their wheat. According to grain men, there is a disposition on the part of farmers in this part of the valley to sell at once their grain crops as there is nothing to be gained by holding, especially as the price of wheat is fixed. The Cherry City flouring mill buys just for its own grinding.

Everything was quiet today at the court house. About the only welcoming hand offered to the stranger who might wander into the court house was tendered by Sheriff Needham and Deputy Sheriff Bowers who remained on the job, regardless of the fact that everyone else was out celebrating, as today is a non-judicial day.

Inheritance tax, when applied to the estate of millionaires, amounts to quite a nice little sum for the state. For instance, Charles Henry Davis of Sagiway, Mich., a lumberman, died a few months ago, and there was found part of his estate in Oregon valued at $260,875, of which $112,000 was in stock of the Booth-Kelly Lumber company. Already it has cost $10,100 in the way of administration in Oregon and this leaves $250,775 on which inheritance tax must be paid. When the settlement is made, the administrator of the estate will pay the state of Oregon $3,844.39.

Barj T. Anderson has returned after a service of two years and three months in the navy. He enlisted in Salem, was first sent to Goat Island, then San Diego and then returned to Mare Island from which place he was graduated as electrician. He then went into active sea duty as electrician of the first class on the U. S. S. Mercy, crossing to France two times. The remainder of his service was in various trips across the Atlantic. He received his discharge at Bremerton.

Other parts of the U. S. may have their troubles with marriage licenses and divorce suits running neck and neck, but not so with Marion county. This county is now going in strong for marriage licenses. During the month of May licenses were issued to 43 while June was the same number, and each month had only half a dozen divorce suits filed. July came along with 36 marriage licenses and then August, generally the low water mark for the year, breaks the record with the issuing of 40 marriage licenses and only four divorce suits filed.

Saturday W. H. Norris, who for the past four years has been in charge of the Hubbard building, closed up his administration of its affairs and turned the care of the block over to the new owners, Hawkins & Roberts. During three years of this period the property was in the hands of a receiver and it is to the credit of Mr. Norris that all details of the management were above criticism. During the greater part of his incumbency the offices and rooms were kept full, and rentals running in the neighborhood of $1300 a month.

For those in Salem who are interested in what is going on in the city, there is now the opportunity of seeing on its way, the largest and heaviest building ever moved in the city, the old elevator building of the flouring mill at Trade and South Commercial. And there is also the chance to see the building of a trestle work heavy enough to carry the 100,000 pounds or more. For the old elevator, to be used as a storage pulp warehouse by the Oregon Pulp and Paper Mill Co. must be moved over a temporary trestle and flooring to its new home at the foot of Trade street, on the ground recently given to the paper mill by the city council.

Brooks has received a letter from her son, Russell Brooks, mailed from Plymouth, England, stating that he had arrived that far on his way to Holland where he now has the official appointment as vice consul at Rotterdam. He sailed on the steamer Rotterdam from New York Aug. 2 and arrived at Plymouth on Aug. 11.

There is a suspicion among a number of business men in the city that all the cry from the manufacturers and jobbers that goods are scarce, especially in the dry goods line, is just a lot of propaganda festered by the manufacturers and trade magazines. One dry goods man said that he had had no difficulty in keeping up his stocks in all lines and that even now, his goods are coming in on recent re-orders.

again this evening. This includes a specialty act entitled "I Love That Girl" and another specialty entitled "Girls of '6-." Alf Ripon appears with his special dummy friend and gives an interesting act. The movie at the Bligh this evening is entitled "Beating Odds."

The month of August just passed registered the warmest day of the year so far with a maximum of 96 above on the 16th. On the day following this record for warmth, it was 81 as the maximum. The coolest night of the month was on the 9th when the mercury dropped to 50. The warmest night was when the minimum temperature was 60. The greatest range of temperature between night and day was 34 degrees, on the night of the 20th, when the day maximum was 90 and the night minimum 56. The river is now 1.8 feet below the low water mark, just where it was this time last year.

Although other counties may be suffering from a lack of rural school teachers, there is no shortage in Marion county. Superintendent Smith said this morning. There are 127 districts in the county and all have contracted excepting about 25 and there has already been applications for all of these 25 schools. Male teachers are pretty scarce in the rural schools. Even before the war the one room schools had no attractions for male teachers. According to the present records, H. C. Todd who has been re-engaged to teach the Pruitland school, is the only man in the county in charge of a one room school. D. K. Luthy will superintend the three room school at Keizer. Superintendent Smith said that the majority of schools will begin early in October. The state fair and the fruit season are accepted as good reasons by school directors for not opening schools until October. In the prairie sections of the county, schools will not open until about the middle of October.

C. B. Webb who has just returned from an auto trip through southern California, says the whole state doesn't look as good as the Willamette valley, even if it has fine roads from top to bottom. While at San Diego, he could not resist the temptation to cross over to Tia Juana where things are as they were in the days of old. He says the only Americans who stay over night do so because they are not in condition to come home and are in custody of the Mexican authorities. Also that very few Americans travel beyond the own, as the authorities require a deposit of 20 per cent of the car value as a guarantee that it will return to the U. S., and there is always a chance of a revolution and the deposit never returned. On the border, the custom house authorities take the traveler's name and gather other useful information, in case something happens.

BATHING BEAUTIES IN PERSON AT BLIGH THEATRE TODAY

Today will bring to the Bligh theater an attraction that Salemites have been waiting months to see, an opportunity to see the real live bathing beauties in person. There are nine people in the company including six bathing beauties, Bob Finley, the famous comedian, who comes direct from the Sennett studios in California, to give Salemites an insight into how movies are made, consequently he will give us some of the famous Sennett laughs, that have become so popular. The bathing beauties are of the highest type possible, maintaining strict training rules, living at only the highest class hotels, and live a life that puts them in a class far removed from that of the chorus girls. The girls will be seen in an act that will be pleasing to the eyes of Salemites, an act that will show the latest styles in bathing suits, some

Steamer Seized With Cargo Of Arms For Sea Finners

Cork, Ireland, Sept. 1—(United Press)—Suspected of carrying munitions to the Sea Fin forces, the steamship Hampshire Coast was seized by a British destroyer yesterday and has been brought to Cork today. The steamer left for Ireland Wednesday. The British authorities have not indicated what action they will take in connection with the ship's seizure.

Lausanne Hall, Historic Landmark, To Make Room For Up-To-Date Building

Lausanne Hall of Willamette university, which is soon to be succeeded by a modern structure, is really one of the historical buildings of the city. It was originally the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Willson, who secured a patent for the 640 acres on which Salem is located, away back in the '40's of the last century. In granting patents, it was then the custom of the United States land office to give the wife the northern half of a section and the husband the other half. Thus, the half section north of State street in Salem was originally decided to Mrs. Willson under the name of Chloe Willson.

Later in its history, the home became the home of the famous Col. E. D. Baker and he lived there when elected United States senator for Oregon in 1860. Shortly after his election he went into the army and was killed at the battle of Balls Bluff. Later in its history, the home became a woman's college and was moved to its present location on Willamette campus in about 1880. It was originally a well built two story house but shortly after its removal to the campus, the building was raised and made into a three story structure. The name was changed to the name of the famous ship Lausanne, about a dozen years ago. The Lausanne sailed from New York in 1839 and arrived on the coast in 1840. Among those on board were J. L. Parrish and Joseph Holman.

The costs of bringing tea from the tea-plant to your kitchen are almost as much for poor tea as for fine tea; and, in both cases, these costs are more than twice the tea-garden cost of the teas themselves.

So why pay all that good money to bring over tea that isn't half so good? Schilling Tea is your fine economical practical tea, full of the real tea-flavor.

There are four flavors of Schilling Tea—Japan, Ceylon-India, Oolong, English Breakfast. All one quality. In parchment-lined moisture-proof packages at grocers everywhere.
