Meet Me at "Meyers"

Fall Is Here. A New Season Begets New Things.

The problem today for those who care is Style, Serviceability, Price

Our showing this Fall fully sustains our past reputation. To those who noticed our show windows the last three days, realize we have the garments of STLYE, AND THOSE WHO PURCHASED KNOW WE ARE RIGHT ON PRICE!

Here are two models for this season giving you some idea of what prevails. Whether an intending purchaser or not don't fail to come in and inspect the full line.

$40 Cedar Chest for only $2.00

(And it's in a bottle.)

"NO-MOTH"—the most perfect means of repelling moths ever invented, or created, is in effect a CEDAR CHEST in a bottle—and even more. It offers greater security than a Cedar Chest, because it gives forth a much stronger aroma of Cedar. In reality it's the next best thing to cold storage in results. Besides, it saves labor of packing, and saves for what you usually pay for pressing your clothes when you unpack. "NO-MOTH" works automatically and requires no attention after being hung in your closet.

Protect your valuable woollens, fine apparel, and costly furs the MODERN WAY—the "NO-MOTH" WAY—it's the surest and safest way—and the cheapest way. Come in and let us explain the scientific operation of "No-Moth." Once you have seen how simple this little ingenious device works you'll immediately want one for each of your closets. On sale and demonstration every day.

Counterbalancing Makes Ford A "Super-Four"

A new counterbalancing weight for Ford cars and trucks which reduces engine vibration is the latest accessory to be added to the line by the Valley Motor company.

Most automobile fans know of the wonderful reputation for smoothness and flexibility gained by one very popular car in a short time after adopting the counter balanced crankshaft. Today more than fifteen manufacturers of fine cars consider counterbalancing a necessity.

Now comes the Ideal counterbalance for Ford cars, a set of weights, easily installed on the regular Ford crankshaft in a very short time by simply removing the bottom plate from the crankshaft.

These weights, by balancing the centrifugal forces in their plane of rotation reduce destructive vibration to such an extent that a great saving in operating and upkeep expense is effected besides adding to the flexibility, power and speed of the motor.

An interesting talk on counterbalancing will be given at the Valley Motor company's place of business on North High street this evening by a factory representative. Ford fans are invited to attend.

Paris Woman Has Intimate Connection With Old Days

Paris, Sept. 2.—A Paris newspaper man believes he has discovered the longest living connection with the history of the past. This writer has pointed out that there lives today a woman who can truthfully say, "When my friend's husband was present at the court of Louis XIV."

Louis XIV of France died early in the eighteenth century. A living link joining the present day with that long-ago period seems almost impossible, but—

Empress Eugenie, wife of Napoleon III, now living in retirement, met in her youth, the aged widow of a Duke of Richelieu. The Duke in his youth and long before his last marriage, was a member of the Grand Monarch's court during the latter part of Louis' reign.

The Duke of Richelieu married, in 1780, at the age of 84 years, a very young woman. This was his third marriage, he having been wedded under three kings, Louis XIV, Louis XV and then under Louis XVI.

It was the Duke's third wife, who, as a very aged Duchess of Richelieu, met the young girl who was later to become the Empress Eugenie, and through whom the present age is linked with the past. The Duchess related stories to the young Eugenie about the times "When my husband was present at the court of Louis XIV."

Hence through the lives of three individuals the chain is not only unbroken but formed entirely of people who played prominent parts in French life.
