Fourteen Reasons Why Turkey Needs America

Paris. (By mail)--Dr. Mary Mills Patrick, president of Constantinople girls' college, and one of the best known American authorities on Turkey and the near east, where she has resided for years, has prepared for the United Press the following statement of fourteen reasons why the United States should accept a mandatory over Turkey:

1--Peace in the near east cannot be brought about by force, but must come from within. All the people of the near east would welcome an American mandatory.

2--The Moslems predominate in the Turkish empire, numbering from fourteen to fifteen millions, according to varying estimates. Should the allied powers desire to send a mandatory to Turkey, the Turks would prefer an American mandatory to one from any other nation, for two reasons. They think that other nations would never resign a mandatory once undertaken, out that America, having taught the people how to govern themselves, would retire and leave them their independence. They also prefer Americans to deal with, because they are more democratic.

3--The Greeks reside in the Turkish empire number about two millions. They are citizens of the Turkish empire and are called Ottoman Greeks, unless they as individuals possess Greek citizenship. The Ottoman Greeks would prefer to live under a Greek government, but if that is impossible they would warmly welcome an American mandatory.

4--The Armenians in the Turkish empire number approximately one and a half millions. Whatever arrangements may be made in regard to an independent Armenia, there will always be many Armenians in all parts of Turkey. They regard America as their friend, and would naturally desire an American mandatory.

5--American methods of government separate politics and religion. The union of church and state is one of the greatest causes of discord and hatred in the near east. The removal of political control from all religious organizations would tend to promote peaceful relations between the different nationalities, while at the same time both Mohammedans and Christians would be protected in the free exercise of their religion.

6--An American mandatory over Turkey would introduce American methods of education, which teach people the self respect and conduce to peaceful relations.

7--The people of Turkey are divided on by the use of different languages. An American mandatory would emphasize the English language, and introduce a common means of communication.

8--An American mandatory over all of the Turkish empire, (with the sole exception of Mesopotamia and southern Palestine, where Arabs and Jews predominate), would insure the same coinage, the same railway system and the same custom house regulations for the whole empire.

9--Under an American mandatory all the nationalities in Turkey would enjoy security of life and an unobstructed opportunity of autonomous development. There would be a free open minded and impartial adjustment of the claims for all, and justice for the individual citizens would be possible.

10--Modern methods of agriculture would make a veritable paradise of Asia Minor, where the rich soil has seldom been more than scratched and the fields and forests have not received their appearance since Xenophon's descriptions in his Anabasis.

11--Asia minor is rich in mines and exports. American methods of commerce would make it a great commercial center.

12--Under an American mandatory the Dardanelles would be permanently opened as a free passage to the ships and commerce of all nations.

13--Close commercial relations between America and Turkey would enable Turkey to develop her own wealth and profit from American exports, while the valuable imports from Turkey would be a source of profit in America.

14--President Wilson says that America must bear her share of the burden in the new order of things.

Prohibition And War Sends San Francisco Tax Rate Up

San Francisco, Sept. 6.--Prohibition and a desire to complete public works held up by the war will cost San Francisco 67 cents additional on every $100 of taxable property. The supervisors voted to fix a tax rate of $3.08, which is 67 cents higher than the existing rate.

This city formerly received an annual revenue of $800,000 from saloon licenses. The higher tax rate will raise about $3,500,000 additional of a property valuation of $565,000,000.

Champlain, Jacques Cartier and Montcalm, three of the heroic figures in the early history of the settlement of North America along the St. Lawrence River have been happily united in a suite of rooms which have been named after them at the famous Chateau Frontenac, in Quebec. This suite is in the baronial tower which was one of the most noticeable landmarks in the ancient city and commands a wonderful panorama of the great river and the blue Laurentian Mountains. The central room named after Montcalm and used as the sitting room has among other curious furniture of two hundred years ago, a table and

Gompers Treats Contents Of President's Message As Strictly Confidential

Washington, Sept. 6.--Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor today received a reply from President Wilson to the telegram asking that the president use his efforts to arrange an immediate conference between steel workers and Chairman Gary of the United States Steel corporation.

Gompers declined to make known the contents, saying he felt it would be discourteous for him to do so, since the president had not.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 6.--Babe Ruth, the slugging Boston pitcher-outfielder equaled Buck Freeman's major league home run record yesterday when he poked his 25th full circuit clout.

Prohibition Enforcement Bill, Passed By Senate, Goes To Conference Body

Washington, Sept. 6.--The prohibition enforcement bill passed by the senate late yesterday was headed today for conference committee, which will try to compose the differences between the house and senate and send the measure to the president for his signature.

Since the senate in adopting the measure made only one minor amendment to the house bill, a speedy agreement over the measure, which covers both war time and constitutional prohibition, is looked for.

This means that unless the bill is vetoed by the president, 275 percent beer and other so called light beverages now on sale in some parts of the country, will be under a ban and those who sell them will face a fine and jail sentence.

The most important amendment adopted by the senate was one making the Panama canal zone dry. An attempt by Senator Shields, Tennessee, to knock out the war time enforcement section failed.
