

What has made it famous?

ADVERTISING?

NO—The Sonora is extensively and well advertised, but the advertising has been kept within rational limits.

APPEARANCE?

NC—A phonograph is bought because it sounds right—not merely because it looks right. The Sonora is extremely handsome as an article of furniture, but this would never account for its success.

EXAGGERATED CLAIMS?

NO—The Sonora is sold for what it is—not for what it pretends to be. The belief that a real sale is made on any other basis than by satisfying the customer, is dead as far as Sonora is concerned.

TONE? BEAUTY? SATISFACTION?

YES—Most emphatically, yes. The Sonora claims the supremacy for tonal beauty. This claim was substantiated at the Panama-Pacific Exposition where the highest score for tone was given the Sonora.

So far, there has been only two people who have been unwilling to cooperate with the gas company in its efforts to hold down production for a few days. W. M. Hamilton said this morning. While many people have been greatly inconvenienced by having the gas shut off, with the exception of the two, all have taken it good naturedly and are making the best of it. Monday morning there was in the reserve gas tank 44,000 feet. As not much was used labor day, by Tuesday morning the reserve was 45,000 feet. But the housekeepers were busy canning all day Tuesday and making up for lost time and by evening the reserve had dropped to 18,000 feet. Over night the reserve went up to 44,000 feet but by Wednesday evening it was down to 12,000 feet. Thursday morning the records showed 28,000 feet of gas on hand but Thursday evening the reserve had fallen to 4,500 feet and this is regarded as pretty close to the danger line.

S. B. Elliott, vice president of the Salem Bank of Commerce left this afternoon for a visit of two weeks with his parents at Moberly, Missouri. On his way west, he will stop a day or so to visit with his sister at Havre, Montana, and will be accompanied by her to their former home in Missouri. On his return, he will stop for short visits at Kansas City and Denver.

The drought really is broken. For the 24 hours previous to 8 o'clock this morning there was a rainfall of .82 of an inch. This is the heaviest rainfall in Salem since March 18 when the precipitation was 1.002 inches. The total so far this month is 1.13 inches.

In regard to the food situation, the close of the week brings the market down on all hog products, varying from two to seven cents a pound. And while hogs are down, eggs are going up and the wholesale price in Salem this morning was 30 and 51 cents, while Portland was offering 52 and 53 cents, candel. One year ago eggs were bringing 45 cents a dozen and two years ago 35 cents a dozen. Butter two years ago was quoted wholesale at 48 cents, while today the wholesale figure is 65 cents a pound. One year ago butter wholesale was 56 cents.

For those who had their gas supply shut off, W. M. Hamilton gives the encouragement that he hopes by next Tuesday to have a sufficient supply on hand to resume the service everywhere.

Rep. O. W. Hoeford of Multnomah, nitely requesting the governor to call a special session of the legislature, and agreeing to abide strictly by the governor's stipulations in the matter.

fleet, headed by Rear Admiral R. A.
Wiley, are guests of Portland.
They compose the complements of the cruiser Birmingham and six destroyers, part of the Pacific fleet, which arrived in the local harbor Friday afternoon.
The war vessels will be here until Wednesday. Secretary Daniels and his party are due to arrive in Portland Monday night.

Post-Saloon Realty Value
Slump Fails To Materialize

Washington, Sept. 6.—The slump in realty values forecast as an aftermath of prohibition has not materialized here, according to leading real estate operators today.

In districts where a number of saloons were closed they have found, they said, that in nearly every instance the saloons have been replaced by either a restaurant, men's furnishing stores, drug store or cigar shop.

In many cases, according to the realty men, the rentals from the new establishments are higher than those paid by the saloons.

He Has Had His Day

LEAGUE FULFILLS
AMERICAN IDEAL

Herbert Hoover Says Democracies Replaced Autocracies at Our Bidding.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION CHIEF

Urges Ratification on Ground That Peace Treaty Will Collapse Without League of Nations.

Herbert Hoover is so deeply concerned over the opposition to the League of Nations in the United States that he has let himself be interviewed at length on the League situation. In a talk with the New York Times correspondent in Paris, the Food Administration Chief asserts that having caused the League idea to prevail America cannot abandon it. We cannot withdraw, he says, and leave Europe to chaos. "To abandon the League Covenant now means that the treaty itself will collapse."

Mr. Hoover's wide acquaintance with conditions both here and abroad, his reputation as an administrator, a man of great affairs who deals with facts, not theories, make his statement one of the most important contributions to the recent League discussions.

"There are one or two points in connection with the present treaty," said Mr. Hoover, "that need careful consideration by the American public. We need to digest the fact that we have for a century and a half been advocating democracy not only as a remedy for the internal ills of all society, but also as the only real safeguard against war. We have believed and proclaimed in season and out, that a world in which there was a free expression and enforcement of the will of the majority was the real basis of government, was essential for the advancement of civilization, and that we have proved its enormous human benefits in our country."

American Ideas Have Prevailed.

"We went into the war to destroy autocracy as a menace to our own and all other democracies. If we had not come into the war every inch of European soil today would be under autocratic government. We have imposed our will on the world. Out of this victory has come the destruction of the four great autocracies in Germany, Russia, Turkey and Austria, and the little autocracy in Greece. New democracies have sprung into being in Poland, Finland, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Czechoslovakia, Greater Serbia, Greece, Siberia, and even Germany and Austria have established democratic governments. Beyond these a host of small republics, such as Armenia, Georgia, Azerbaijan and others, have sprung up, and again as a result of this great world movement the constitutions of Spain, Rumania, and even England, have made a final ascent to complete franchise and democracy, although they still maintain a symbol of royalty."

"We have been the living spring for this last century and half from which these ideas have sprung, and we have triumphed. The world today, except for a comparatively few reactionary and communistic autocracies, is democratic, and we did it."

"A man who takes a wife and blesses the world with several infants cannot go away and leave them on the claim that there was no legal marriage."

"These infant democracies all have political, social and economic problems involving their neighbors that are fraught with the most intense friction. There are no natural boundaries in Europe. Races are not compact; they blend at every border. They need railway communication and sea outlets through their neighbors' territory."

"Many of these states must for the next few years struggle almost for bare bones to maintain their very existence. Every one of them is going to do its best to protect its own interests, even to the prejudice of its neighbors."

Governments Lack Experience.

"We in America should realize that democracy, as a stable form of government as we know it, is possible only with highly educated populations and a large force of men who are capable of government. Few of the men who compose these governments have had any actual experience at governing and their populations are woefully illiterate.

"They will require a generation of actual national life in peace to develop free education and skill in government."

"Unless these countries have a guiding hand and referee in their quarrels, a court of appeals for their wrongs, if there is such an institution, representing the public opinion of the world, and able to exert its authority, they will grow into stability. We cannot turn back now."

"There is another point which also needs emphasis. World treaties hitherto have always been based on the theory of a balance of power. Stronger races have been set up to dominate the weaker, partly with a view to maintaining stability and to a greater degree with a view to maintaining occupations and positions for the reactionaries of the world."

"The balance of power is born of armies and navies, aristocracies, autocracies, and reactionaries generally, who can find employment and domination in these institutions, and treaties founded on this basis have established stability after each great war for a shorter or longer time, but never more than a generation."

"America came forward with a new plan, and we insisted upon its injection into this peace conference. We claimed that it was possible to set up such a piece of machinery with such authority that the balance of power could be abandoned as a relic of the middle ages. We compelled an entire construction of this treaty and every word and line in it to bend to this idea."

"Outside of the League of Nations the treaty itself has many deficiencies.
It represents compromises between many men and between many selfish interests, and these very compromises and deficiencies are multiplied by the many new nations that have entered upon its signature, and the very safety of the treaty itself lies in a court of appeal for the remedy of wrongs in the treaty."

Benefits of the League.

"One thing is certain. There is no body of human beings so wise that a treaty could be made that would not develop injustice and prove to have been wrong in some particulars. As the covenant stands today there is a place at which redress can be found and through which the good-will of the world can be enforced. The very machinery by which the treaty is to be executed, and scores of points yet to be solved, which have been referred to the League of Nations as a method of securing more mature judgment in a less heated atmosphere, justifies the creation of the League."

"To abandon the covenant now means that the treaty itself will collapse."

"It would take the exposure of but a few documents at my hand to prove that I had been the most reluctant of Americans to become involved in this situation in Europe. But having gone in with our eyes open and with a determination to free ourselves and the rest of the world from the dangers that surrounded us, we cannot now pull back from the job. It is no use to hold a great revival and then go away leaving a church for continued services half done."

"We have succeeded in a most extraordinary degree in imposing upon Europe the complete conviction that we are absolutely disinterested. The consequence is that there is scarcely a man, woman or child who can read in Europe that does not look to the United States as the ultimate source from which they must receive assurances and guardianship in the liberties which they have now secured after so many generations of struggle."

"This is not a problem of protecting the big nations, for the few that remain can well look after themselves.
What we have done is to set up a score of little democracies, and if the American people could visualize their handwork they would insist with the same determination that they did in 1917 that our government proceed."
