

Good Health and Good Teeth Go Together

By DR. PARKER

Founder and Executive Head of the E. R. Parker System

THE Government, States, counties, cities, towns, schools, churches and welfare workers everywhere are beginning to tell people how necessary it is to keep the teeth clean, for if the teeth be bad, good health is impossible.

DR. PARKER

The medical profession itself is learning that many diseases begin in the mouth, and that obscure troubles which defy all medicine are often due to tooth decay that a competent dentist only can overcome.

Theodore Roosevelt's death, it is reported, was hastened because of bad teeth. A little more attention to his teeth and a little less to public matters, and the great American might be with us yet.

Registered Dentists using the E. R. Parker System are working in close harmony with this move for better health through better teeth.

Every reader of this paper is invited to visit the office using this System and have thorough tooth examinations made, there being no charge of any nature for counsel and advice.

You can thus learn if your teeth are decaying, or if your system is being poisoned by unseen ulcers or abscesses at the tooth roots.

303 State St. Salem, Ore.

Forest Grove, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special)—Reverend J. R. Buck of Salem was honor guest at the wedding of Miss Helen C. Hollovet and Peter A. Leipzig which took place Thursday in this city. The ceremony was performed by Reverend Father Murphy of Forest Grove. Father John Costello of Hillsboro acted as deacon and Father Joseph Hoesacker of Beaverton, as sub-deacon at the solemn high mass. Reverend John Cuminsky was master of ceremonies. The music was rendered by the choir of the Catholic church of Forest Grove.

Miss Mary Hollovet, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Frank F. Leipzig, brother of the groom, was best man. Mr. Leipzig has recently returned from the service, and both he and his bride are well known in Forest Grove and Portland. Friday morning the young couple left on a short honeymoon.

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Ohler of Jefferson, on Saturday afternoon, when their only son, William Orris Ohler and Miss Lucy May Vist of Woodhaven, Long Island, were united in marriage. Only the relatives and intimate friends of the young couple were present.

Previous to her marriage the bride was assistant director of the Red Cross in the New York county chapter 125 for over eighteen months, and received one of the highest awards for Red Cross work. After a short honeymoon the young couple will make their home on the farm of the groom's father for the present.

For the pleasure of Mrs. J. T. Pen of Tacoma, who is visiting Salem friends, the Mothers class of the First M. E. church will have a picnic supper Tuesday night at 6:30 in Epworth hall. All members with their families are invited and a most enjoyable time is anticipated.

Miss Catherine Derandieu left last week for Astoria where she will take a three years course in nursing in the hospital in that city. Miss Derandieu is a graduate of Sacred Heart academy with the class of last June.

Among the Salem folk who spent the week end in Portland was a party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coe, Mrs. A. V. Case, Mrs. Jean Coe, Mrs. W. H. K. Prank and A. T. Woolpert. The trip was made by auto and included a visit over the Columbia highway.

Mrs. A. C. Steingrube and small children have just returned from a trip to Marshfield where they visited the beach and were guests of Mrs. Steingrube's brother.

Carl Gabrielson was a Portland visitor yesterday.

HOSPITAL NURSE PRAISES TANLAC

Gains Eleven Pounds—"I Am Feeling Fine These Days," He Says.

"Tanlac did so much for me that I feel it is a duty I owe to others to let the people know about this medicine," said C. M. Rhamsey, who lives at the hotel George, on Sixth street, San Francisco, Cal., to a Tanlac representative, recently. Mr. Rhamsey, who is a nurse by profession, has been nursing in the hospitals for the past eight years.

"Last February, while nursing for the Red Cross society, I broke my leg in two places," continued Mr. Rhamsey. "I was in bed for five weeks. While there, waiting for the bones in my leg to knit together again, I lost my appetite and got so thin I could hardly eat a thing and, naturally I lost weight. I took several different kinds of tonic in the hope they would build me up, but none of them seemed to do me a bit of good."

"One morning I happened to be reading the paper and saw a statement by a lady in Los Angeles who claimed she had gotten such wonderful benefit by taking Tanlac that I made up my mind to try the medicine myself to see if it would do anything for me. So I bought a bottle and by the time I had finished about half of it I was feeling so much better than one morning when I looked at my watch and saw it was 11 o'clock, I remarked to one of the attendants, 'Say, I'm hungry,' and it was the first time in months that I had actually felt like eating. From then on I started right in to pick up my appetite and gained in weight right along until now I have already put on eleven pounds in weight. I am feeling just fine these days and even my doctor has remarked how much better I am looking. I have never used my name used in connection with a medicine of any kind, but I have had such excellent results from Tanlac, after all the other things failed, that I take great pleasure in recommending Tanlac to anyone needing a medicine to build them up."

Tanlac is sold in Salem by Dr. S. C. Stone, in Hubbard by Hubbard Drug Co., in Mt. Angel by Ben Goch, in Gervais by John Kelly, in Turner by E. P. Cornelius, in Woodburn by Geo. Stueland, in Stayton by Mrs. J. F. McCurdy, in Aurora by Aurora Drug Store, in St. Paul by Groeteria Stores Co., in Donald by M. W. Johnson, in Jefferson by Foshay & Mason and in Mill City by Maraketeria Gro. Co.

Mrs. W. W. Moore has had as her guests during the past week, Mrs. A. G. Deadall of Hutchinson, Kansas, and her daughter, Miss Lucille Deadall of Seattle.

Miss Verana Young left last Thursday for San Francisco for a three weeks vacation. Miss Young is train dispatcher at the Oregon Electric depot, her home is at 461 North High street.

A charming visitor in Salem over the week end was Miss Inez Stege of Eugene. She was house guest at the beautiful E. Ekerlie home on South Liberty street.

Miss Marie Campbell, who has been visiting with friends in Salem for the past few days returned to her home in Portland this morning.

MODELS OF UNCLE SAM'S GREATEST BATTLE CRAFT WILL BE SHOWN AT FAIR

Models of some of the biggest fighting ships in Uncle Sam's navy have been taken from the halls of the state, war and navy buildings in Washington, and they will be featured displays when the combined government exhibits are shown at the state fair.

These models were never shown generally throughout the country until last year. The navy's bureau of construction and repair has placed them in the exhibits so that hundreds of thousands of Americans can gain accurate ideas of the appearance of the big sea warriors that helped to hold the German fleets harmless at their bases, and that guarded our coasts and convoys of merchant ships and troop ships on the Atlantic lanes. In addition to the large models of the fighting ships, the navy will display several models of vessels showing the application of camouflage. Even these models, like the big sea fighters with their war paint on, are difficult to distinguish from their surroundings by the observer a short distance away.

The navy exhibit is to represent comprehensively every department of the service. The ordnance department will show the types of shells, depth charges and other explosives used against the enemy. Part of the navy exhibit will be furnished by the marine corps, the "Devil Dogs," who won new fame in the great war. The marines will display complete uniforms of various kinds on life size models, and a large number of other articles of equipment.

JACK PICKFORD IN A DRAMA OF KENTUCKY HILLS

One of the most remarkable collections of mountain "types" ever seen on the screen appear in "Bill Apperson's Boy," to be shown at Ye Liberty theater today and tomorrow. The bearded and armed with the inevitable gun and the woman, slatternly and followed by crowds of children who roam the hills like small, wild creatures, forms a background before which the leading actors appear, Jack Pickford is the star. He is supported by Gloria Hope, Russell Simpson and others.

"The task entrusted to you required all the imagination, all the energy and all the genius of a great commander. From the first you had the complete confidence of the president and secretary of war. This confidence remained unshaken to the end. From the beginning you had all the support the people of the United States could give. You and your great army embodied for them their country and their country's cause. They worked with devotion and self-sacrifice to sustain and supply you with troops and equipment. Our hearts were overseas with you and your praise for their welfare were constant. Doubtless the confidence and affection of your fellow citizens were an inspiration to you in the hours of preparation and in the hours of battle, as the superb exploits of the army under your command were in turn an inspiration to your national effort.

"You have just come from the sea and from the care of the men of the navy who made the achievement of our arms on land possible and who so gallantly assisted to clear the seas of their lurking peril. Our hearts go out to them too. It is delightful to see you home again, well and fit for the fatigues you must endure before we are done with our welcome. I speak now only of our personal joy that you are at home again and that we have the opportunity to make you feel the warmth of our affectionate welcome."

Pershing obviously was under the strain of a great emotion when Baker ceased speaking.

Senator Wadsworth and Congressman Mendell then spoke briefly.

William G. McArdoo said: "We sent you over to do a job and you did it ahead of time. We had part of it is the fact you came back with your hat band the same size as when you went away."

The general grinned at this.

Mrs. F. H. Swanek, representing the governor of Missouri, then presented

Pershing with a bouquet and a small American flag. Responding to these greetings, Pershing said:

"If this is to be continued I believe before many days I shall wish, perhaps, that the war continued.

"To say I am happy is wasting words. I am overwhelmed and overcome with emotion when I think of what it really means to all of us. As regards your extremely complimentary words which the part it was my fortune to pay, I can only say that what we accomplished and the victory we won was possible only through the united efforts of the nation. The men at the front felt the spirit of the nation behind them and their morale was never shaken. All credit is due to those brave fellows who faced a well-trained, seasoned army with unbounded enthusiasm. I trust those we left behind may receive the respectful attention of a grateful nation and their graves may be fittingly decorated and consecrated so they may ever be a future lesson to all Americans."

Sioux City, Iowa, but the president will not speak unless the demand is very insistent. His voice needs to be rested as much as possible.

There was a good sized crowd at the depot to see the president off. He went to lunch shortly after leaving Omaha. The time his train would pass seemed generally known and at many way stations there were scores assembled, men holding up children in their arms, hoping for a glimpse of Wilson. Whenever the train stopped people came running beside it, shouting: "Where's Wilson?"

The president came out on the rear platform at Omaha and shook hands with many of those who had come to see him off. They pressed forward eagerly, and Wilson had a busy time gripping all the hands extended to him. He gave each a hard squeeze and a double shake.

SOCIETY By GERTRUDE ROBISON A pretty home wedding Sunday afternoon at one o'clock, Miss Ethel McDonald of Silverton and Richard I. Kinney of Shaniko, plighted their troth in the presence of their immediate relatives. The ceremony took place at the country home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed McDonald, near Silverton. Reverend Nichol of the Congregational church at Howell Center officiated, using the impressive ring service. The bride's gown was a pretty combination of ivory messaline and georgette, and she carried a shower bouquet of white rosebuds and sweet peas. She was unattended. A reception was held after the wedding and a sumptuous wedding dinner served to the guests. The bride is one of Silverton's most popular young women. After a honeymoon at Waldport the young couple will make their home in Shaniko where Mr. Kinney has business interests. Many Salemites will be interested to learn that among the Oregon soldiers who will be decorated with a French war cross, during President Wilson's visit in Portland, is Holmuth Dewitz, of Salem. Mr. Dewitz enlisted in Company L of Dallas, at the time of our entry into the war with Germany. He went overseas with the Dallas boys but after his arrival in France was transferred to a fighting unit and took part in a number of important engagements during the months that preceded the signing of the armistice. He was decorated with the American Distinguished Service Cross. Miss Alma Haver is spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Stuart T. Viggers, in Tacoma, Washington. She will also visit in Seattle and other Sound cities. On her return she will go to Salem for a few days.—Portland Oregonian.
