Referring to England's voting power in the league and similar matters, Borah declared "they are trying to give back to George V in thirty days what it took George Washington seven years to wrench from George III!" As Borah referred to the league covenant as a "treacherous cowardly,

GOVERNOR ASSUMES CONTROL OF BOSTON

common caused a traffic tie up of hundreds of automobiles, which were jammed from curb to curb. Fashionably dressed women in lousiness screamed and made desperate attempts to escape from their cars when the troops fired.

Many of the downtown streets were practically barred areas, through which pedestrians were allowed to pass but in one direction and then only after they had convinced the guards they would not loiter.

As the day progressed it became evident the trouble makers were beginning to realize the troops are in deadly earnest and that they will shoot to kill when necessary.

The first striking policeman to figure in the demonstration was Richard Reents, who was shot and seriously wounded today when, according to the police, he and several other men attacked two volunteer policemen.

Governor Cochrane despatched the following telegram to the secretaries of war and navy today:

"The entire guard of Massachusetts has been called out. At present the city of Boston is orderly. There are rumors of a very general strike. I wish you to hold yourself in readiness to render assistance from forces under your command immediately on appeal which I may be forced to make to the president."

A "vigilance committee" composed of ex-service men has been formed in the West Roxbury district. All have been sworn in as special policemen.

About fifty members of the Boston Automobile Dealers association, went on duty today to handle traffic throughout the downtown districts.

The cooks and waiters union with a membership of 2,500, voted to strike in sympathy with the police. The strike will not be put into effect until the central labor council voices on the question of a general sympathetic strike. Fifty-three metropolitan police, members of the force in charge of the park system of Greater Boston, refused to do police duty in the place of the striking policemen.

They were suspended.
