Public Service Commission Asks Co-Operation Of Motor Registration Bureau.

The cooperation of the automobile egistration department of the secreary of state's office is asked by the state public service commission in an educational campaign which it is about to launch among automobile owners throughout the state looking toward the elimination of accidents at railroad

"Briefly, it is our intention to have Priority, it is our intention to have printed a circular or folder illustrat-ing and explaining the nature and in-tent of the various kinds of warning signs, also to offer suggestions as to the best method of negotiating uneven, the best method of negotiating uneven, rough and unusually hazardous cross-ings, and further to request and urge, all owners and drivers to notify the commission of physical conditions sur-rounding any particular crossing which may tend to increase the hazard," reads a letter addressed by Chairman Buchtel of the commission to Govern-or Olcott as secretary of state. "Under the latter thought we have in mind that the view of a crossing may be, and often is, obscured by brush, trees and other natural obstruc-tions, advertising signs are frequently so placed as to add to the risk assumed in negotiating grade crossings; worn out planking, excessive grades, sand and gravel, all have a tendency to add to the dangerous condition. These mat-ters we shall urge in our circular should be brought to our attention as ters we shall arge in our circular should be brought to our attention as well as such other information as is pertinent in an attempt to guard the safety of the travelling public, thus enabling us to direct the attention of responsible parties to the circumstanc-es surrounding any particular grade crossing." rossing."

The cooperation of the secretary of state's office is asked to the extent of including one of these circulars in the letters in which the automobile department will soon be mailing out ap-dication blanks for renewals of autoobile licenses.
