Begin with the September term, the public schools of Salem are introducing for the first time in the state of Oregon, part time school. The part time school is to provide for the education of all children, between the ages of fourteen and eighteen, who are employed, but have not completed the first eight grades of school. The law provides that all such children employed must attend the part time school at least five hours per week, and the hours of attendance at school, are to be counted as a part of the hours of their employment. A thorough canvass of all factories, business houses, etc., is being made at the present time, and all employers are pledging their cooperation so the part time school is destined to become a great success. The most wonderful feature of the part time school, is that courses are open to these students, that will aid in making them more efficient in their present employment, so that each student may take a special line of work, and will not be compelled to take regular grade work. The work is being heartily endorsed by all those who have been asked to cooperate, and as this is the first school of its kind that has been opened in this state it is hoped that the part time school will open in September with a record breaking attendance. All eyes in clubdom are turned towards the conventions to be held in southern Oregon in October. From October 8 to 10, inclusive, the Oregon Congress of Mothers will convene in Medford. Mrs. Frederick Schilke, president, will work in cooperation with Mrs. E. Y. Maddox, of Medford in preparing a program. Mrs. George W. McMath will act as transportation chairman. Mrs. John Waldron will be song leader and accompanist. Mrs. J. P. Risley will sing. Mrs. D. C. Thomas of Seio is chairman of the credential committee. The Oregon Federation of Women's clubs will meet at Corvallis, October 13 to 16 inclusive. Large delegations from all over the state are expected to attend. Aside from other state business, the need of completing the reconstruction program for Oregon makes this gathering of Oregon women the most important held in years. At both conventions child welfare work will occupy an important place on the programs, as will Americanization subjects. Mrs. A. Bayley of the parents' educational bureau will be an ardent worker for the Congress of Mothers convention. Other women who will assist are Mrs. A. F. Fliegel of Multnomah county and Mrs. W. D. McNary of Pendleton. The women of southern Oregon are entering into the work whole heartedly. With the opening of the school year, activities of more than 3,000,000 young members in the United States of the modern health crusade are looking to their laurels. This movement was organized by the Junior Red Cross and national tuberculosis association. Each member enrolled in the movement has to conform to certain simple health rules. Three of the most important rules call for clean hands and face, ten hours a day in bed, and slow eating. These hit three of the most hurtful irregularities of children. Those who try to make the ten hour mark by sleeping over breakfast time get a black mark in the school attendance record. Friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Thielson will be interested in learning that shortly after the 15th of October they will be domiciled in the attractive residence of Miss Lillian Boot, south of town. Miss Boot left recently for California where she will spend the winter with relatives and friends in San Jose and other cities. Miss Boot is well and favorably known in Salem and her absence during the winter will be regretted by a host of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Leahy Lee are being showered with congratulations upon the arrival of a daughter, born yesterday at their country home east of Salem.

The little girl is the only granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Tarpley of this city. Mrs. Edward Weller will be hostess to the women's auxiliary of St. Paul's parish, at her lovely home, 163 North 17th street, Friday September 19 at 2:30 p. m. All ladies of the church are most cordially invited to be present at the informal gathering. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Clark of 1100 South Commercial street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Bernice Mae, to William H. East of Portland. The wedding will take place in October. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Buchner, Miss Dorothy Buchner and Miss Ruth Buchner spent the day in Portland yesterday as the guests of friends. The trip was made by auto. Mr. and Mrs. Alec Thompson are entertaining as their guest Mr. Thompson's mother, who is here on a visit of indefinite length from Canada. Miss Marie Briggs and Miss Emma Snook are spending an enjoyable vacation in Portland as the guests of friends. Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Kafoury were Portland visitors yesterday. Mrs. George Pearce is in Albany as the guest of her sister, Mrs. T. G. Hopkins.

DISTURBERS IN FRISCO CROWD ANNOY PRESIDENT

Wilson made no attempt to speak for a considerable period. There was evidence that persons surrounding the shouting men were taking measures to silence them individually. Starting against this handicap of din that kept his voice from reaching more than a scant third of the crowd, Wilson gradually overcame the difficulty, and before his speech was half done had the close attention of the vast throng. He went deeper into the matter of self determination for subject peoples than in any previous speech. The crowd facing him was largely of Irish extraction and listened intently. In diplomatic language, Wilson uttered what many considered an intimation that the United States might intercede for Ireland's cause after the league of nations becomes a fact. Explaining it was not within the province of the peace conference to act upon the right of self determination of any peoples except those included in the territories of the defeated empires, Wilson asked: "What does the league of nations do for the right of self determination?" "The moment the covenant of the league of nations is adopted," he said "it becomes the business of the league to—the right of any member of the league—to call attention to the desire of self determination of any people, if such desire is likely to affect the peace of the world—or the good understanding between nations." The last clause—"or the good understanding between nations," was brought out slowly and with great significance. Wilson had just asked "Where before have some of my fellow countrymen, who want a forum upon which to conduct a hopeful agitation, been offered the opportunity to bring their case to the judgment of mankind?" Intercession by any nation now for a subject people of another friendly nation might be considered an unfriendly act, said Wilson. All this would be changed, he explained. "Whether rightly or not, a large portion of the crowd seemed to read special significance into the president's statement, and a volley of cheers resulted. The throng was swept by emotion at one point in the speech. The president was speaking of the terrors of war and how wars would not end without the league of nations. The trembling voice of a man rose above the president's: "God bless you Woodrow Wilson; God bless you," he cried. The president spoke for an hour.

the process by which Shantung will be presently returned to her in full sovereignty. In the past there has been no tribunal which could be resorted to for any of these purposes. 4—Is there anything in the league of nations covenant or the peace treaty which directly or indirectly in any manner imposes on the United States an obligation, moral or otherwise, of the slightest character, to support England in any way in case of revolt in Ireland? Answer—There is not. The only guarantee contained in the covenant is against external aggression and those who framed the covenant were scrupulously careful in no way to interfere with what they regarded as the sacred right of self determination. 5—What effect, if any, will the league of nations covenant have in either hindering or furthering the cause of Irish freedom? Answer—It was not possible for the peace conference to act with regard to the self-determination of any territories except those which had belonged to the defeated empires, but in the covenant of the league of nations it has set up for the first time in article 10 a forum to which all claims of self-determination which are likely to disturb the peace of the world or the good understanding between nations upon which the peace of the world depends, can be brought.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Surprise that the steel strike, set for September 22, had not been called off at the meeting of 24-union heads at Pittsburgh, was evident today among government and labor officials here. Previous to the meeting, officials of the American Federation of Labor had clearly indicated a belief that the walk-out would at least be postponed until after the "round table" industrial conference October 6. The main hope for postponement now remaining lies in the possibility that Samuel Gompers, head of the A. F. of L. may yet attend the Pittsburgh meeting. He has steadfastly denied that he would do this. Gompers again today emphatically declared he would not go to Pittsburgh and refused to discuss the threatened steel strike. No Room For St. George In Westminster Abbey London, Sept. 18.—Famous Britishers will have to hurry up and die if they want to be buried in the national Valhalla, Westminster abbey. There is absolutely only room for six more, and they will have to be cremated first, according to Rev. Canon R. H. Charles, who is in charge of abbey graves and interments. The suggestion cabled from Australia, that the abbey should be the last resting place of a basket of bones, alleged to be those of England's patron saint, St. George of Cappadocia, which were excavated by Australian troops in Palestine, finds little favor with Canon Charles. "I don't care 'tuppence' about his bones," he declared emphatically. "Just now I am more concerned about the remains of England, if the labor troubles don't cease. Anyway, there is only room for the remains of six more famous people in the abbey. I am trying to secure additional ground for interments; there are some old houses behind one of our Norman walls which have to come down some day. I want the space reserved for the interment of the famous men. There are so many great men, nowadays, and there will be so many in the years to come, that space for six seems inadequate. If we get this space we might have room for St. George."
