The barometer today noon was rising, indicating fair and pleasant weather for this evening and tonight.

Go 4 miles south tomorrow night and you will be at the big hop yard dance at Livesley.

Make a hit with your sweetheart by dancing with her Friday night, armory.

N. D. Elliott, former alderman from the seventh ward, is home after spending six weeks in Indiana visiting relatives. He notes that the Indiana towns are booming and those that he had not seen for 27 years had taken on a general new industrial appearance. Marion and Fairmount, Indiana, had almost doubled in population during the quarter of a century, he said, and this was largely due to manufacturing interests.

Big hop yard dance at Livesley station, 4 miles south, Friday night.

Salem always ahead, help her raise funds Friday night, armory, U. of O.

Dr. P. W. Byrd, of the hospital staff and J. W. Irwin, supervisor at the hospital left Salem this morning for the Roundup city where they will pass a few days.

Dance at Livesley Friday night, 4 miles south. Talmadge jazz band will play.

Dance and be happy helping a worthy cause, armory Friday night.

Dr. F. L. Griffith, who is in charge of the state hospital here, departed for Pendleton last night where he will attend the Roundup. While in Pendleton Dr. Griffith will be a guest of Dr. McNary, the latter of whom is at the head of the eastern Oregon asylum.

Help the ladies and the community by enjoying a wonderful dance armory Friday night.

Fred A. Erixon is laying down a short stretch of paving at Independence and even in that community can find but few who are willing to work for $4.50 a day. For the past week or two Mr. Erixon has been advertising that he will pay unskilled labor at this rate, but so far has found but few willing to accept the offer.

The funeral services for Samuel Frank Walters who died Wednesday afternoon will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon from the chapel of Webb & Clough. Burial will be in the City View cemetery.

J. W. Devers, attorney in charge of the legal work for the state highway commission, left Salem last night for Pendleton where he is attending the annual Roundup and visiting with friends.

R. B. Goodin, secretary of the state board of control, was among the officials who left the capitol Tuesday night for Pendleton to attend the Roundup. While at Pendleton Mr. Goodin will inspect the eastern Oregon state hospital.

Banish dull care and help the ladies too, dance, armory Friday.

W. T. Jenks spent Wednesday in Newberg visiting the packing plant of the Willamette Prune association at that point. With regard to the prune crop in that section, he reports the rain damage very spotted, some of the orchards showing very little loss while others will suffer very heavily.

Probably a number of high school students have been doing work during the vacation for which they can obtain credit in the regular school course. These students should report for examination at the office of Supt. Todd at the high school building before the opening of school September 29.

B. J. Miles has sold his 50 acre prune tract four miles south of the city in the Liberty neighborhood to James G. H. Wolfe, a farmer who recently moved to Oregon from Illinois. The consideration was $15,000 cash. The tract includes 20 acres in prunes, five acres in pears and a desirable home and farm buildings. Mr. Miles has owned this tract for the past 20 years. The sale was handled by W. H. Grabenhorst & Co.

The family of Frank S. Ward, who have been living in Corvallis during the summer months, have arrived in Salem and will make their home in the city this winter. It is understood that Mr. Ward has accepted a position in the city for the winter.

After the present Commercial club drive is all over and the list of memberships has been made out, it is the intention of the directors to publish monthly in the Salem papers, a list of members. This list will be arranged alphabetically and again arranged according to the occupation of the members. It is thought that by this means all who are members will know who are supporting the club. They will also be well informed as to who have refused to support the organization. This list will be published first of October and then monthly.

A canvass of the little army of students registering at the university this week shows that out of the several hundred there are 66 coming from the Salem high school. About 50 of the number so far registered come from Washington, California and Idaho, with a small group from the Philippine Islands.

C. B. Glancy, who returned recently from attending a session of the Portland Floral society, states that they are taking much interest in the floral exhibit at the state fair, and will bring to Salem a monster display of flowers for both professional and amateur entries. The dahlias and chrysanthemums will make an especially beautiful display.

NOTICE OF FINAL ACCOUNT

Notice is hereby given that the final account of George F. Guerne, administrator of the estate of Charles A. Guerne, has been filed in the county court of Marion county, Oregon, and that the said court has duly fixed the 20th day of October, 1919, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m. thereof, at the court room of said court in Salem, Oregon, as the time and place for the hearing of objections to said final account and the settlement thereof, at which time any person interested may appear and file objections thereto and contest the same.

Personals

J. D. Duncan and family of Chico, California, are among the guests at the Capital hotel today.

Arthur Dunno of Grants Pass, was in the city this morning on his way to Rickreall where he will visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bartlett.

R. D. Baskin and E. M. Parley were among the Mill City people stopping in Salem today.

Thomas Ives of Independence was one of the recent guests at the Bligh hotel.

A movement is on foot among the returned soldiers and sailors at Willamette university to organize an army and navy club similar to those organized in connection with some of the larger institutions of the east.

Real estate continues to move in Salem and the abstract firms as well as the office of the county recorder are kept busy caring for transfers and titles. Mrs. May Pontious has bought from E. M. McKee a home located in Richmond addition. The consideration was $2950. Mr. and Mrs. Pontious are recent residents of Salem, coming from Washington. J. R. Snyder, formerly of Corvallis, has bought a home at 1595 South Commercial street from H. G. Campbell for a consideration of $2500. He is associated with the jewelry firm of Gardner & Keene.

Those who took advantage of the government's sale of food and figured on saving a lot of money, are still waiting for the delivery of their orders. As no food station had been opened at Portland the postoffice here was obliged to send all orders to Fort Mason, Calif. All orders received were filed in the order of their receipt and so far, that part of the records which contain orders from Salem has not been reached. At least none of the food ordered has reached the Salem post office.

The pork market is down again with quotations today at 16 1/2 cents. It was thought a few days ago that the northwestern market quotations would justify a price of 17 1/2 cents for several weeks, but weak market conditions have brought the price a cent lower than it was the first of the week. However, prices in the northwest have not shown the same five cent a pound decline as quoted in the Chicago markets.

Many are called but few are chosen, when it comes to getting a job unloading brick from a flat car. A few days ago the Portland Railway Light and Power company advertised for labor at $4 a day. Eleven men responded to the ad, calling at the office of the light plant. After the nature of the work was explained, that of unloading brick from a freight car to be used in building a foundation for a new gas generator, only three of the ten showed up at the gas plant on Front street. After these three took a look at the brick and thought it over, they also vanished.

J. J. Doerfler of Silverton took occasion yesterday to drive his auto on High street between the Oregon Electric depot and a train with passengers going aboard. This is contrary to a city ordinance. Formerly such a thing cost $5 but this time Mr. Doerfler was given a lecture and told about the ordinance and no fine exacted.

"MEET ME AT MEYERS"

ADITORIALS

"Everyday is Bargain Day." Purely a catch penny phrase, without any connection to the real meaning of "BARGAIN DAY." The truth of "Bargain Day" is simply this: The merchants of Salem recognizing two fundamental principles in business—"team work" and "season clearance of stock"—collectively adopted a given day to offer the public the "Season's Clean Up," of stocks and by having one set day, make it worth the public's effort to shop on that given day. By combining on advertising it enabled the newspapers to thoroughly acquaint the public of this move, and also by each merchant paying his share of the advertising less the cost to each.

For that event all legitimate merchants carefully examined their stocks and put on special tables all odds and ends and broken lines, marked at a price that would quickly close them out, leaving the stock clean with full and complete lines.

Of course, we grant the accusation that some of our merchants took advantage of the public, or tried to,—and got long profits on "inferior merchandise," but on the whole the merchants played the game square.

The difference in legitimate profits and losses was charged against advertising, which all stores must do,—but such bargain can not be given every day,—no business can do it and exist. A bargain is understood to mean "something sold at a price without profit, or even less than cost."

Question—Can every day be Bargain Day, and a merchant even live, let alone make a reasonable profit on his turn over?
