

CINCINNATI TO SEE FIRST TWO PENNANT GAMES

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 22.—The first two games of the world series will be played in Cincinnati; the next three in Chicago if the White Sox win the American league flag; the next two in Cincinnati, the eight in Chicago, if necessary to determine the championship, the national commission announced here today.

If a ninth game is necessary, the city in which it will be played will be determined by the flip of a coin, previous to the eighth game. The first game will be played October 1, weather permitting. No off days are provided in the schedule.

Cincinnati won the right to stage the first two games on the toss of a coin. Louis Comiskey, son of the owner of the Chicago White Sox, tossed a half dollar, while President August Hermann of the Reds called the toss.

President Heydler of the National league named Charles Bigler and Ernest Quigley as National league umpires for the series, while Ban Johnson named Billy Evans and Dick Nallin as the American league umpires.

Leslie Constans of Pittsburgh and William Harridge, Johnson's secretaries, were named as the commission's business representative.

Official scorer for the world series will be Joe McCreadie of Philadelphia, secretary of the Baseball Writers' association, J. E. T. Spink, of St. Louis, who is named by the national commission and two representatives of the Chicago and Cincinnati chapters of the Baseball Writers' association.

The local official scorer will be Jack Ryder. The Chicago official scorer has not yet been selected.

President Hedler of the National league drew from a basket containing ten thousand letters, one containing the application of Wilbur Bagau, Clarksville, Ohio, for four seats for the world's series. Ban Johnson drew the second letter. The two presidents drew one hundred applications from the basket.

At Redland field either Tuesday or Wednesday other letters will be drawn from the basket until applications equal the seating capacity of Redland field. The remainder will be held for future drawing for the later games.

"Queen Mother" Of Oregon Pioneers Dies In Portland

Portland, Or., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Rebecca J. Barger, "queen mother of the pioneers of Oregon," died here today at the age of 93.

She is survived by a son, C. W. Barger of San Francisco; a daughter, Mrs. R. W. Helm of Salem, Or., and a sister, Mrs. Mary A. Davis of San Francisco.

Steeplechase To Be Held On Thursday Afternoon

The steeplechase to be staged by the Portland Hunt club at the state fair will be put on Thursday afternoon, it was announced for the first time by A. H. Lea, secretary of the fair association this afternoon.

"Considerable interest has been shown in this event," Mr. Lea further explained. "Many have inquired as to the day on which it was to be pulled off."

The steeplechase, in which several well known blue bloods from Portland have been entered, will be run immediately in front of the grandstand.

Ticket Sale For First Day Of Fair Sets Record

"Although I am unable to give you statistics at the present time, I can conservatively say that today's ticket sale far surpasses that of the initial day of last year's fair."

Such was the statement this afternoon of J. E. Chintock, who has charge of the auditing and disposition of tickets at the state fair. Season tickets are also being sold much more quickly this year than last, Mr. Chintock explained.

The prize-winning display of farm products from the Wilkenzie grange at the Lane county fair will be taken to the state fair at Salem next week and the non-perishable portion of it will be sent on to Portland to form a permanent Lane county exhibit in the Oregon building on the exposition grounds, according to action of the county court yesterday.

This exhibit was pronounced by the judges at the fair and by Mrs. Winnie Braden, of Portland, who was here in the interests of the Portland exhibit, to be the best of its kind ever seen in the valley.

Lane County Stock Men Organize Association

A county pure bred stock breeders association was organized at the county fair yesterday forenoon with 25 members to begin with, and prospects for a much larger membership in the future.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: C. M. Young, president; John Bogart, vice-president; W. A. Ayres, secretary; O. L. Dunlap, treasurer. Directors, L. D. Griggs, J. R. Mabon, Frank Needham, D. C. Evans and W. L. Parker.—Register.

Switzerland believes in advertising, even in Salem. A sheet in colors has been received at the Salem Commercial club, calling special attention to the docking facilities at Basle, Switzerland, and to the fact that the city has direct communication with the sea by way of the Rhine river as well as railroads, and that the city has special means for quick communication with Antwerp, Rotterdam and Amsterdam.

JOINT ELECTIONS NOT PROHIBITED, OPINION

The sections of the general election laws providing for the holding of city and town elections in connection with state and county elections and the use of the same election machinery for all elections in which the boundaries of the precincts are identical, were not repealed by the amended act relating to the acceptance of nominations by candidates defeated on their own party ticket. This is the gist of an opinion prepared by Assistant Attorney General Van Winkle, Saturday, for the guidance of Sam A. Koser, deputy secretary of state. The opinion instructs Koser to publish both acts, the one specifying the use of the election machinery and the other prohibiting a candidate defeated by one political party in the primaries from accepting the nomination of another party.

THOMAS OPPOSED TO UNAMENDED TREATY

Washington, Sept. 22.—Senator Thomas, Colorado, democrat, today came out definitely against ratification of the peace treaty in its present form.

Thomas was known to dislike some features of the treaty but he was expected to stand by the president.

In a letter to the Colorado state executive committee which Thomas put into the record today, he said:

"I cannot under my oath of office, cast my vote for the ratification of this treaty in its present form.

"I cannot perceive the wisdom of ratifying a treaty so pregnant with strife and conflict."

ENGLISH AND FRENCH TONGUES IN QUEBEC UNITE TO ACCLAIM THE PRINCE OF WALES

One hundred years ago, in 1769, French and British armies joined in epic combat on the Plains of Abraham, before Quebec. The heroic General Wolfe and the equally heroic Montcalm both lost their lives and did not see the ancient stronghold of the French in Canada pass under English rule. The old order passed, and in this year of 1919 the descendants of the gallant French defenders, although still French in language, united with the English speaking part of Quebec's population to pay homage to the young man who, will one day rule the British Empire. The mingled cries of "Hurray for Wales!" and "Vive le Prince!" expressed in an unmistakable way that Canada has been welded into a nation. His Royal Highness visited the historic Chateau Frontenac and other points of interest in Quebec and was received everywhere with an enthusiasm which was as much a tribute to his own attractive personality as to the fact that he is a living symbol of the Empire's union. He was the guest of the Duke of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, at the citadel and from there started out on his tour of the Dominion on a special train provided by the Canadian Pacific. Arthur B. Calder, Assistant General Passenger Agent of the road, acted as host for President E. V. Beatty. Altogether he will spend seventy days on the train and will cover the breadth of Canada's Vancouver and return and then come to the United States on a flyer, before returning to England.
