an aspirant to the select circle of "those who know." The Braves of '14 proved that.
Pat Moran and Kid Gleason have teams filled with the winning spirit. But it is of vastly different brands. The Reds are keyed up through the championship drive with a frenzied desire to run up the first flag that has graced a Cincinnati pole in fifty years. They were after the honor.
The White Sox on the other hand were spurred on by the dollar sign. They admit that they are money players. The glory of a championship is not new to them.

On the attack the Sox outweigh the Reds by a comfortable margin. Headed by Jackson, Collins, Gandil and Weaver, has a wrecking crew that has been hitting for .283. The Reds have only two real hitters, Roush and Groh, while the team averages around .263. The White Sox have six above the .290 mark.

In fielding, the Reds have a slight edge on the Chicago team.
On the bases the Reds have the advantage. They get more out of their hits and have fewer men stranded.
In pitching the Reds have quantity and quality. The White Sox have to be content with quality. Moran's hurlers have contributed 72 victories to the Red cause, while the noted trio, bearing the brunt of the burden for Gleason, have turned in 63 winning games.

Both teams have the leading south-paws in their respective leagues in Salie and Williams. Both teams have the king right handers in Luke and Cioetto. Five of the Red pitchers, Salie, Lagne, Reuther, Fisher and Eller occupy the first six rungs of the National league ladder. Cioetto and Williams are second and third in the American league, while Dick Kerr, the next best bet, is in twelfth hole.

HIRING OF BOOZE SLEUTHS IS NOT PROVIDED BY LAW

The Oregon statute does not authorize district attorneys as the agent of the county to enter into specific contracts with "detectives" for the purpose of gathering evidence against violators of the prohibition law, according to an opinion written by Justice Johns and handed down by the supreme court this morning. The opinion is based on the case of John Irwin vs. Klamath county. Irwin, as district attorney, had entered into specific contracts with "detectives" aggregating approximately $900. The county refused to allow the claims when presented for payment and the circuit court of Klamath county upheld the county in this action. Justice John's opinion, which is concurred in by Chief Justice McBride and Justice Bennett upholds the action of the lower court.

"If the county is liable for the alleged services it is liable only for the reasonable value thereof. The plaintiff seeks to recover upon a specific contract and does not allege or prove the reasonable value thereof," the opinion concludes.

Other opinions were handed down as follows:
W. M. Killingsworth et al, appellants, vs. City of Portland, et al, appeal from Multnomah county. Proceeding to set aside writ of review certain proceedings by the city of Portland whereby the city authorized and entered upon the improvement of Union avenue and assessed the cost to property in the vicinity. Opinion by Justice Bennett. Judge J. C. Kavanaugh affirmed.
Peter Anderson vs. Columbia Contract company, appellant, appeal from Multnomah county. A plea from judgment for $1050 which Anderson obtained against the contract company for damages done to his fish trap by the company two boat and barges. Opinion by Justice Harris. Judge C. U. Gantenbein reversed and case remanded.
