Beede of Drewsey was a caller Will Wright, former state superintendent of banks and now president of the Bank of Oregon City, looked in on the banking department, Wednesday, while in Salem to attend the state fair. Mr. Wright who is a livestock enthusiast as well as a banker admits that he puts in most of his time while at fairs around the barns wherein are kept the blooded horses and cattle.

Onek once in a while follows Salem folks who move elsewhere. For instance there is Mrs. Mae Prettijohn Carter, a former resident of Salem but now living in Portland. In a recent letter to a friend, she says that on an investment of 50 cents, she is now the owner of a $125 Grafanoia. She invested half a dollar taking a chance on a Veis car along with ten other prizes offered at the Multnomah county fair held at Gresham. She didn't get the car but was fortunate enough to hold a ticket of number that entitled her to the Grafanoia.

W. A. Taylor of Macleay, the veteran in putting on Marion county exhibits, says this year, the Marion county display of grains and fruits has attracted more attention than in any former years. Mr. Taylor has had charge of the Marion county exhibit since 1905. He also says that a majority of the people taking note of the exhibit expressed the greatest surprise that the county could raise such wonderful apples and peaches, as well as grapes, pears, pumpkins and melons.

Once in every six years there is a complete change in text books and this is the year for the change.

Salem is no Gretna Green or Vancouver for Portland parties in a hurry to get married. Two attempts were made yesterday and both failed. The first young man with his intended bride appeared at the county clerk's office early. The man said he was about to take the fatal plunge but it turned out that he didn't take it, as in the first place he had left his medical certificate in Portland and again, the bride's home happened to be in Multnomah county. Both defects were fatal to the fatal plunge in Marion county. The second couple appeared late in the day and had just run down from Portland to get married and see the state fair. They were informed that the state fair was open to all comers, but as the prospective bride lived in Portland, no permit to get married could be issued in Marion county.

L. P. Aldrich is now taking a rest from his duties as banker and is wearing the official star of a deputy sheriff. He left for Los Angeles several days ago to incidentally take a look over his Dodge car that had been stolen here and found there, and to serve as deputy sheriff in bringing back the two young men who confessed to the theft. It was thought at one time that Mr. Aldrich and another officer would return with the two young thieves in the stolen car. But word was received yesterday that one of the young men who had been taken to a hospital, had escaped. This may necessitate other arrangements.

A man who rushed to the post office not long ago to send in some orders for canned goods and groceries and left his money to show his good faith in his effort to reduce the cost of living, expressed himself of opinion that while the mills of the gods might grind slow but sure, they had nothing on the war

GOAT GROWERS ORGANIZE NEW ASSOCIATION

Seeking closer unity of action among the Angora goat growers and an increase in the number of goats on the Oregon ranges, leaders in the industry in the state at a meeting at the state fair yesterday organized the Oregon Mohair Goat Growers association.

The association is not to be in any way a selling organization, but all of its efforts are to be directed toward the development of the goat industry in the western states, especially Oregon. Membership is open to goat growers in any state. One of its principal purposes will be advertising of the industry and its great possibilities. Qualification judges for goat shows will be supplied by the association and, along this line, an effort will be made to secure recognition of the organization by the various state and county fairs.

Pointing out what development is possible, J. L. Peterson of the United States forest service, told the growers at their meeting yesterday that there are 15,000,000 acres of grazing land in Oregon forests which the government is not only willing but anxious that the goat growers should utilize. Professor O. M. Nelson of the animal husbandry department of Oregon Agricultural college, also addressed the meeting.

The officers of the new association are: President, U. S. Grant of Dallas, who is also president of the National Mohair Growers association; secretary, Wm. Riddell of Monmouth; treasurer, O. M. Nelson, Corvallis. On the board of directors are John B. Stump, Monmouth; A. C. Gage, editor of the Angora Journal of Portland; E. W. Hoag, Salem; W. D. Gilliam, Dallas; S. S. Zysset, Seio.

The meetings of the association are to be held semi-annually.

Thirty Injured In Street Car Accident In Frisco

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—Three persons with fractured skulls taken to St. Francis hospital following a street car accident last night, were still alive today. Twenty seven others were injured. A hot box on a Fillmore street car burst into flames, driving the motorman from his post. The car raced three blocks and plowed into another street car. Both cars belonged to the United Railways.

KEEP YOUR MONEY IN THE CIRCLE

This is the emblem of the Affiliated Commercial Clubs of Marion county. Every town in the circle is a power within itself, and collectively they mean a mighty force that will develop the wonderful possibilities of the greatest county in the greatest state in the union.

It means community building. It means every man, woman and child being a committee of one to work and best for the upbuilding of their own Home Town.

No more will the residents of Marion county play the fool and build up other towns and cities by sending away their hard earned cash and starve themselves on needed improvements.

For years we have needed good roads but could not find the money to pay for them, until we got into a mudhole and had to be hauled out by bonding.

When we started to vote bonds to get out of the mud hole some people kicked, they did not want a debt, but they did not realize they were only paying for their past follies of sending their money away and fattening the coffers of merchants and communities away from home.

Marion county has sent away enough money to outside merchants for purchases that could and should have been spent at home, to pave every road and cross road in the county and have money enough left to build a hospital, library and stadium in every town in the county.

This is a fact, your Aditorial writer has the figures. Get next—don't again be guilty of such folly and head the sucker list.

If your merchant does not carry the merchandise he should, make him or get a new merchant—but keep your money in the Circle.
