

SUPREME COURT NOT CONVINCED HOGS DELIVERED

W. W. Cardwell, Douglas county treasurer, delivered to George Kohlhaugen, Roseburg butcher, 36 head of hogs in payment of a promissory note as he claims to have done, the supreme court of the state of Oregon is unable to find sufficient evidence to that effect to sustain the claim. In an opinion by Justice Bennett the court this morning affirmed the decision of Judge J. W. Hamilton, of the Douglas county circuit court, who had held against Cardwell in his alleged delivery of the hogs.

Kohlhaugen had sued Cardwell to recover on a promissory note. Cardwell claimed to have delivered 36 head of hogs weighing an aggregate of 777 3/4 pounds and valued at $1165.87 in payment of the note. This Kohlhaugen denied. Both sides had produced witnesses to uphold their contentions but the decision of the jury in the lower court, based upon experiments to determine the practicability of Cardwell's claims was to the effect that the hogs had never been received at Kohlhaugen's shop. Cardwell's appeal was based on alleged errors in the admission of certain testimony and in permitting the evidence of certain witnesses for the plaintiff in regard to experiments made by them in loading hogs in a wagon. These allegations of error were both overruled by the court in affirming the decision of Judge Hamilton.

Other opinions were handed down as follows: Francis P. Garvin, alien property custodian, substituted for Marja Rjaicich, vs. Western Co-operative company, appellant; appeal from Multnomah county; action to recover damages for death of Mjo Rjaicich of whom plaintiff claims to be mother. Opinion by Justice Bennett. Judge Robert G. Morrow reversed.

Yose Ljubich, appellant, vs. Western Co-operative company; appeal from Multnomah county. Action originally instituted under Oregon employers liability act for death of Yure Ljubich through alleged negligence of defendant. Opinion by Chief Justice McBride. Case remanded for further action by lower court in Multnomah county, Judge C. U. Gantenbein.

A. Welch vs. John R. Johnson, appellant; appeal from Multnomah county; petition for rehearing denied in opinion by Justice Burnett.

John E. Kaufman vs. Herman S. Hastings, appellant; appeal from Multnomah county; alleged breach of contract relative to transfer of property. Opinion by Justice Johns. Judge Robert Tucker affirmed.

W. C. Krueger vs. Carl O. Brooks, appellant; appeal from Multnomah county; suit to quiet title. Opinion by Justice Harris. Judge C. U. Gantenbein affirmed.

Emma Jane Stull vs. T. E. Porter and Roscoe Bunch, appellants; appeal from Coos county; motion to dismiss, appeal allowed in opinion by Justice Burnett.

W. S. Hurst and company, appellants, vs. W. A. Larson et al; appeal from Clatsop county; allegation that defendants refused to deliver promissory note to contract. Opinion by Justice Burnett. Judge J. U. Campbell affirmed.

TREATY EFFECTIVE WHEN RATIFIED BY ITALIAN KING NOW

Rome, Oct. 7.—King Emmanuel has ratified the German and Austrian peace treaties by the issuance of a royal decree, it was announced officially today.

By J. W. T. Mason
(Written for the United States)
New York, Oct. 7.—Ratification of the peace treaty by the king of Italy will formally put the treaty into effect without participation of the United States as soon as final formalities have been taken by Great Britain and France, the other two ratifying powers. The king of England has yet to affix his signature to the treaty, which has already been passed by parliament and the French senate has still to follow the lead of the chamber of deputies in accepting the pact.

King George's signature and the endorsement of the French senate are no more than routine proceedings, wholly under the control of Lloyd George and Clemenceau. By postponing these official acts, Great Britain and France can hold up complete ratification until the United States has signified its final intentions toward the treaty. It is not probable that an indefinite postponement will be risked, however.

Women Are Careless

This has been proved over and over again during the war. They over estimate their physical strength and over tax it. Their ambition is commendable, but does not compensate for the hours and days of misery which they suffer from symptoms caused by female ills brought on by overwork. Women who are weak, nervous, despondent, with headaches, backache and dragging down pains should remember there is one tried and true remedy, that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, now recognized everywhere as the standard remedy for such ailments. (Adv)
