Society

By Gertrude Robison

WITH the beautifully conducted breakfast at the Marion hotel this morning, the Salem Woman's club officially opened its social season. As most of the year's work has already been laid out, the affair was strictly social. A large number of women, including some of the cities most prominent leaders, attended, and the breakfast was as great a success as had been anticipated.

The following social item from the Oregon Journal will be of interest to a number of Salem folk and ex-University of Oregon students:

"Coming as a surprise to their many friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mildred Cooper of The Dalles to Francis G. Galloway, also of The Dalles. The young couple slipped away from their friends and came to Portland on Wednesday where they were married in the presence of a few relatives at Atkinson Memorial church at 4 o'clock, the Reverend Elbert E. Flint officiating.

"Mrs. Galloway was graduated from Portland Academy and attended Miss Capen's school in Northampton, Mass. She has been deputy county assessor in Wasco county for several years and has lived in The Dalles most of her life. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Cooper and a member of a pioneer family of Oregon.

"Mr. Galloway is the son of Judge William Galloway of Salem, former circuit judge of Marion county. He has been a resident of this city for some years and was graduated from the University of Oregon. During the war period he was commissioned in the officers reserve at Louisville, Kentucky. For a time he was instructor in Washington high school, Portland. Galloway is district attorney of Wasco county and grand exalted ruler of the Elks lodge.

"Following a brief honeymoon spent at Manzanita beach the young couple will return to The Dalles where they will make their home."

The Y. W. C. A. makes the following announcement, which will no doubt be of great interest to all the girls and young women in the city:

Physical culture classes in connection with swimming classes for women and girls are starting at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesdays. The morning class is held at ten o'clock and the evening class at seven thirty. After the physical culture classes the members can enter the swimming classes. All who do not wish to take physical culture are requested to enter the swimming classes at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., so that the tank will not be crowded.

Another class in swimming will be started in the afternoon for young girls. The hour will be arranged suitable for school girls and it is hoped a large class can be started. Instructors are present at all casses. For further information regarding physical examinations and membership fees see Mrs. Fake, club secretary at the Y. W. C. A.

Announcement is made of the dance to be given Friday, October 24, by the Junior Guild of St. Paul's church. For years, previous to the outbreak of the war, this was an annual event but upon our entrance into the struggle the representative class of women engaged in war work and the social activities of the Guild were given up entirely. As society gradually settles down to a peace time basis and affairs begin to assume a more normal appearance, the Guild, like other organizations of its kind in the city, is beginning to resume its social affairs.

The dance on October 24, will be essentially a Salem event. The musicians all are Salem people, and any money realized from the dance will be used for the consumption of expenses in Salem. Sponsored by a group of prominent and responsible women, and bearing all the characteristics of refinement and enjoyment for which the activities of the Guild are noted, a pleasurable treat is assured all those who attend.

The North Salem Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. Emil Roth, 1113 North Cottage street, Wednesday afternoon. The time was occupied exclusively with a business session, at which the club officially endorsed Miss Mattie Beatty as candidate for the presidency of the Oregon federation of women's clubs, and delegates were appointed to attend the annual convention in Corvallis. Mrs. Myra Shanks and Mrs. J. F. Hutchason were appointed to represent the club, with Mrs. C. Pollman and Mrs. Roy Shields as alternates.

Following the meeting the women repaired to the plant of the Salem Kings Products company where the officials escorted them through the various departments and explained the process of dehydration. The next meeting will be held on November 12 at the home of Mrs. Straufbauth.

Mrs. W. J. Hawkins, chairman of the Oregon ratification committee, has announced that Thanksgiving day has been selected for the opening of a woman's liberty drive in all states where ratification is already completed for raising funds for the final half of the ratification campaign. Ballot boxes labeled "ballot box of 1920. If you want to put in a vote in 1920, put a dollar in now," will be used for collecting funds.

Of the 23 states expected to ratify, only four will hold regular sessions before 1920, said Mrs. Hawkins. "It is, therefore, necessary to secure special sessions in 14 other states. Aproximately 17,000,000 women are already eligible to vote in the United States in 1920."

Republicans are still in the lead in calling extra sessions for the ratification, as the republican governors of Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Colorado and Kansas, and the democratic governors of Arkansas, Missouri, Utah, Montana and New York have so far called sessions.

Mrs. Parks Bible classes opened Tuesday at the Y. W. C. A. with a good attendance. These classes are very popular in the city among the women who are interested in Bible research, and promise to have a large attendance during the winter.

The first of a regular series of student recitals will be held at the Christian church next Friday evening. This series of programs will afford splendid practice in public appearance for deserving pupils and a general invitation is extended to the public. The members presented will be representative of the work done in the studios and listeners are promised a splendid variety in a short time. Sponsors for these programs are Mrs. Leland Porter, teacher of dramatic art; Frank Churchill, organist and piano teacher; Miss Lena Belle Tartar, instructor in singing. The program this week will include readings by Rebecca Samuels, Lola Schulz, Laura Purvine and Virginia Dorcas; vocal numbers by Frances Ward and Macyle Hunter; Miss Viola Ash will assist with a violin solo and Mr. Churchill will be heard in some beautiful organ solos. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

Following an established custom, the new students of Willamette university were entertained Wednesday evening by the members of two societies, with a view to increasing the personnel of both organizations. The "Philos" chose their building on the campus as a desirable scene for the festivities and a merry evening was spent. Their guests were those new comers whose surnames began with any initial between A and M.

The "Crestos," after a pleasant program at their club house took their guests to the Spa where a delicious luncheon was served in the Rose room. New students whose names begin with any letter between M and Z were included in the guest list.

The numerous friends of Mr. and Mrs. Burton A. Myers will be sorry to learn that they will leave for California next Wednesday to make their home. Mrs. Myers has held a responsible position with the Capital Journal since her arrival in Salem last winter and has made a large number of friends. Mr. Myers has recently returned from overseas where he saw service with a mobile hospital unit. Upon their arrival in California they will attend the wedding of Mr. Myers' brother, Ralph M. Myers, in Orange, and later will go to Los Angeles where Mr. Myers will complete his course in a medical school.

Mrs. Al Steiner entertained the members of the Sweet Briar club Wednesday afternoon, at her lovely home on the Wallace road. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows, Mrs. Glenn Adams, president; Mrs. Carrie Chaffee, vice president; Mrs. Al Steiner, secretary-treasurer. An additional guest of the club was Mrs. Clifford Chaffee of Alberta, Canada. After the business session a social hour ensued pleasurably spent in neighborly converse and needlework. The afternoon culminated with the serving of dainty refreshments.

The club will meet with Mrs. Chaffee in two weeks.
