TOMORROW evening has been set aside on the week's calendar as the date of the Elks dance at their club house on Liberty street. It is, as usual, exclusively for Elks and their ladies and the enjoyment that invariably accompanies the informal social affairs of the lodge is promised all the members who attend.

High noon today was chosen by Miss Marie Byers of Hubbard, as the most appropriate time for her wedding to Edwin Viesko. The ceremony took place at the parsonage of the Leslie Methodist church, Reverend H. N. Aldrich officiating. The impressive ring ceremony was used. Only the witnesses were present and the young couple left immediately on a short wedding trip. Upon their return to Salem they will be at home to their many friends at their beautiful new residence, 1960 South High street.

The bride, one of Hubbard's most popular young women, is possessed of a charming personality. The groom is a man at the parsonage and well known in business circles in the city.

Mrs. W. E. Kirk is among the Salem delegates at the women's convention in Corvallis.

Tuesday evening the Baptist Brotherhood held its first monthly meeting for the present season. This was one of the series of rally services being held by that church. Sixty-five men sat at the tables that had been arranged and decorated by a committee of women of whom Miss Nina McNary was chairman. An appetizing and bountiful meal was served by a committee of whom Mrs. G. F. Holt and Mrs. Arthur Smith were leaders. H. S. Gile, president of the brotherhood for the past year, presided. A number of new names were added to the roll of members. The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: President, G. Ed Ross; vice president, H. E. Hewitt; secretary-treasurer, Arthur Smith.

A number of returned soldiers were guests of the Brotherhood. The men listened with interest to the experiences of some of them. J. L. McAllister, company P, 18th engineers, spoke of preparing for an army in France. Vernon Elwell, company G, 11th regiment, marine corps, talked of the life of a marine. Allan Kafoury, motor truck company 412, gave experiences as a truck driver. The evening address was given by Rev. James Elvin on the American Doughboy in war and at home. He set forth as the three prominent traits of the American soldier, cheerfulness and good humor, courage, and devotion to his task with high religious ideals.

This opening meeting points to a very successful year work by the brotherhood.

Friday afternoon witnessed a pleasant gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hunt in West Salem in honor of Mrs. Hunt's seventieth birthday. She was the recipient of numerous pretty remembrances from her guests. A bowl of vari-colored dahlias graced the living room table and Carolyn Testout roses lent color to the dining room. Bountiful refreshments were served and a very sociable time was enjoyed by the following: Mrs. L. J. Hunt, Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Kiser, Mrs. Swartz, Mrs. Hille, Mrs. Worm, Mrs. More, Mrs. Billings, Mrs. Brock, Mrs. Bedford, Mrs. Durham, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Bales, Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Brannan.

Delegates at the convention of the Oregon federation of women's clubs, among whom are a number of prominent Salem women, were guests at an elaborate reception Monday night in the Corvallis club house. The reception committee was headed by Mrs. J. O. Wilson. The club rooms were decorated in zinnias and the table was presided over by attractively gowned young matrons. Mrs. Mary Fawcett, dean of women at O. A. C., presided at the coffee urn. Mrs. Arthur Clark and Mrs. A. R. Bouquet were stationed at the head of the table. In the receiving line were Mrs. W. J. Kerr, wife of President Kerr; Mrs. B. V. Skelton, Mrs. Charles H. Castner of Hood River, Miss Mattie Beatty of Salem, Mrs. Collins Elkins of Prineville, Mrs. P. H. Buchanan of McMinnville, Mrs. William Bell of Pendleton, M. Ida Callahan of Corvallis, Mrs. W. P. Johnson, Mrs. M. Lee, Mrs. L. E. Wilson and Mrs. W. Malone. The music and all the details were most attractively arranged and the evening was a brilliant social success, reflecting credit on the hostesses.

Reverend E. G. Kanton, who has been pastor of the West Salem circuit of the M. E. church for two years, has gone with his family to Liversley for the current conference year. Before leaving for their new home a number of friends surprised them by gathering at their residence for a final get-together meeting. A delightful evening was spent in social converse, games and music. Mr. Kanton rendered a few choice selections on his violin during the course of the evening. At a late hour delicious refreshments, which had been brought by the ladies, were served.

The series of rally week services being held by the First Baptist church this week have been well attended and shown much interest. They close with the third annual reunion and roll call Thursday. This is a rally for inspiration, fellowship and devotion. A large attendance is anticipated. The schedule will be: 3 to 5 p. m. devotional service and roll call; 5 to 5:15 p. m. social period during which a picnic lunch will be served; 7:15 to 7:30 praise service; 7:30 p. m. roll call continued. The aim of the church is the presence of or a message from every member.

The program for the final day of the Corvallis conference is: 9 o'clock, call to order; invocation; Rev. J. P. Clyde, community song, Dr. D. V. Poling, leader; 9:15, minutes; 9:20, unfinished business; 10, amendments; 10:30, resolutions; 11:30, announcements, adjournment; 12, luncheon and club presidents' reports, Presbyterian church. 2 o'clock, call to order; election of officers; invitations for next convention; installation of officers; "Blest Be the Tie That Binds;" adjournment.

Miss Alice McClellan, one of the most popular members of the very young social set, left today for Chicago for an extended visit with relatives.

Mrs. E. Shaw has gone to Long Beach, California, to spend the winter.

The Woman's auxiliary of St. Paul's church will meet at the home of Mrs. D. E. Kuhn, 834 Center street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

COAST SECRETARY OF STUDENT Y. M. C. A. IS SPEAKER HERE

Gale Seaman, students' secretary for the Y. M. C. A. on the Pacific coast, addressed thirty students of the local university at a fellowship banquet at the Royale Cafe Wednesday noon on the students' conference to be held at McMinnville this week end and the student volunteers' national conference to be held at Des Moines, Iowa, in January, 1920. The McMinnville conference, which is a boys' convention, will be a miniature Swebek conference, according to Seaman.

The conference will open the night of the 19th and continue until Sunday evening, October 21. The delegates will be addressed by a number of prominent school men and Y. M. C. A. workers. The meeting will open Friday evening with a big banquet, the main address of the evening being given by Prof. Dubach, of Oregon Agricultural college, on "The American college obligation in the present world situation." Among the speakers of the conference will be Ivan Rhodes, state secretary of the "Y," Gale Seaman, John Budd, boys' secretary for the state, and Professor Coleman, head of the English department, Reed college. Professor Coleman will speak on "Unrest; Christianity's mission; part college student must play."

The University of Oregon, O. A. C. and Willamette are sending strong delegations to the conference. "Speaking of the student volunteers' convention, Seaman said this would be the greatest Christian assemblage of college students ever held. There will be 7000 college delegates, representing practically every college in the union, in attendance at the convention, and 2000 non-official delegates. The sessions, which will last from December 31 to January 4, inclusive, will be addressed by the foremost missionaries in Christendom. These student volunteer conferences are held quadrennially, but there has not been one for the last six years on account of the war. The last one was held at Kansas City, Mo., at which 7000 delegates, regular and non-official were registered. Professor J. T. Matthews, head of the mathematics department at Willamette was sent as the faculty delegate to the Kansas City convention.

Willamette will send 6 regular delegates to the Des Moines session. The students must be chosen in time for their names to be submitted before December 1st. Seaman announced the California colleges had pledged their full quota of delegates in remarkably short time. The University of California is sending 97 delegates. The University of Oregon is entitled to 18 and is sending the same number. Two of the big eastern schools, Yale and Pennsylvania State college, had wired in their full quota less than a week after the convention was announced.

"TEA FOR THREE" IS BRILLIANT OPENER OF THEATER SEASON

Patrons of the "legitimate" in the capital city saw in "Tea for Three" at the Grand, last night, a novel and intensely entertaining solution of the eternal triangle—something new, clever, wholesome clean and more than well presented.

To Norman Hackett, the friend, and star—if there was such a thing in the cast—must be given the credit for a brilliant impersonation of the man hopelessly in love with another's wife, but who realizes that the happiness of all three can only be assured by his own sacrifice. His work in keeping away from the melodramatic, which only too often spoils a production of this type, was highly creditable.

The situations arising out of the plan of the wife, Mildred Evans, and The Friend to save the husband, Hayden Stevenson, of his insane jealousy, including the suicide pact of the husband and friend, were seasoned with a refreshing touch of careless abandon and delicately witty lines. Throughout the play was a rapid fire succession of philosophical witticisms which brought repeated laughs from the audience—whole-hearted, appreciative laughs. Marred only by an unfortunate anti-climax, "Tea for Three" goes to the Heiler, of Portland, with the unqualified endorsement of those who saw it last night, and invitingly introduces a long list of productions of like quality which are booked to play the Grand during the fall and winter months.

Home Druggists and Doctors Take and Recommend Number 40 for the Blood. Mr. Theodore Gerge of the Gerke Drug Co., states: "A year or so ago my wife came into the drug store and said she was going to take a blood medicine. She looked over the kinds we had on the shelf and decided to try Number 40. After taking it a while she gave it to our son and one day I was complaining of that tired feeling and she said, 'I will dose you on 40,' and she did, and it helped me so much that I have been recommending it to my customers and buy in gross lots." With scarcely an exception, druggists in Evansville and this vicinity unambiguously endorse and recommend Number 40. NEARLY 50 PER CENT OF OREGON STUDENTS FROM OTHER SCHOOLS

University of Oregon, Eugene, Oct. 15.—Nearly one-half of the student body of the University of Oregon, including the big Freshman class of more than 600, are new to the Eugene campus this year, according to statistics compiled today by Registrar Carlton E. Spencer. Of the three upper classes, Senior, Junior and Sophomore, one student out of every five started his higher education in some other university and decided later to come to Oregon. One result is an increase in total enrollment. This year, running nearly 70 per cent over that of the corresponding days last year.

Changing from one campus to another is characteristic this year all over the country, according to Mr. Spencer, who attributes it in part to the taste for change and travel formed under war time conditions. It is possible it marks the beginning of a habit such as has existed for years in continental Europe where students regard it as quite the natural thing to attend several universities in succession. Both the Oregon institutions, the University and Agricultural College, appear to be gaining considerably by the process of exchange. In an attempt to trace the volume and direction of this movement, so far as it can be traced from the statistics in hand the following figures have been brought together: Since early in September the University of Oregon has granted 53 transcripts to enable former students to enter other institutions, and has accepted 193 students of other institutions in return. Other transcripts were granted earlier in the summer, but many of these students have since returned to the University here and the net total of transfers to other institutions has not yet been compiled. Oregon Agricultural College reports enrolling 22 former University of Oregon students this year, and the University of Oregon has enrolled 22 from the Oregon Agricultural College. Of the total of 193 transfers received by the University and the 114 reported as received by the Agricultural College, the sources are as follows:

Deportation Warrants Are Sworn Out For Gary Aliens

Gary, Ind., Oct. 15.—Deportation warrants were sworn out today for ten of the aliens arrested in raids by troops on red centers here. The men were Russians and Austrians.

All of those held, according to Colonel W. S. Mapes are aliens. Although red and German flags and other symbols of revolutionary and alien governments were found in the raids, few evidences of Americanism were discovered.
